West May Map Berlin Strategy At Paris Huddle

Allied Ministers Expected To Meet In Mid-December

BERLIN (AP) — The West's campaign plan for the newest battle of Berlin may emerge from a Paris meeting in mid-December.

Diplomatic sources said Monday foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany will confer to coordinate policy in combatting the Soviet demand for neutralization of West Berlin.

The date was not set. But the expectation was that Secretary of State Dulles and his three colleagues will get together in the French capital either before or during the 15-nation North Atlantic Pact Council meeting opening there Dec. 16.

The Western Big Three and West Germany probably will propose to meet the Soviets two or three months later in a summit or foreign ministers conference on the whole German problem.

Moscow Sets Deadline

That might be one way of averting a clash between Western and Communist foces on the expiration of Moscow's six-month time limit for acceptance of the free city proposal and withdrawal of the Western Big Three garrisons.

Informed officials in Washington said Dulles is ready to make the trip to Paris. The others are Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, France's Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and West Germany's Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano.

The question of whether the West should deal with Communist East German border guards as agents of the Soviets when and if the Soviet Union actually withdraws was still unresolved.

Lloyd told the House of Commons in London that Britain can be said to accept some minor East Germans as agents of the Soviet government in executing four-power control of Berlin.

Bonn Expresses Dismay

Dulles last week indicated Western willingness to deal with the East Germans as Soviet agents in certain circumstances.

The West German government expressed dismay. Bonn officials said any such policy would be a step toward recognizing the Red East German government.

And responsible informants here said American officials feel such an arrangement would be impractical. They reasoned that any difficulties would have to be taken up with the East Germans and that this would imply recognition in fact.

Opinion is hardening among American officials, they said, for defying any attempt to impose East German controls and if necessary to launch an airlift for supply of West Berlin at the risk of clashes with Red fighter planes.

Adlai Says He Isn't, Won't Be 1960 Candidate

By RICHARD P. POWERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai Stevenson says "I am not and I will not" be a candidate for a third presidential nomination in 1960.

Some talk has persisted of Stevenson as a possible choice of the Democrats, despite the fact he was snowed under twice by President Eisenhower.

Stevenson' latest views were expressed in a letter to this newsman who had inquired as to his reaction to this talk.

Stevenson also was asked whether Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) had been his personal choice for the vice-presidential nomination in 1956.

The delegates to the 1956 Chicago convention, after receiving word from Stevenson that they should settle the vice-presidential nomination on the floor, named Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) to the No. 2 place by a narrow edge over Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass).

Stevenson in his letter said he had maintained complete neutrality as far as the nomination for the Democratic vice-presidential candidate was concerned in 1956.

"I expressed no preference and had none," Stevenson said. "My decision with respect to letting the delegates select the candidate for vice president was made prior to the time I met with my party leaders at the stadium.

"As for 1960, my position is what it has always been and that is that I am not and will not be a candidate."

He did not say, however, what he would do if the nomination was again offered to him.

On June 16, prior to his visit to the Soviet Union, Stevenson told newsmen in London who had asked his thinking about 1960 "I have not been, I am not, and I will not be nominated as Democratic presidential candidate."

Abducted At Gunpoint, Woman Freed By Hubby

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 25-year-old Catonsville woman who said she was abducted and taken on a three-hour forced ride was released unharmed today and immediately charged her estranged husband with assault with intent to murder.

Mrs. Bernice Thompson swore out a warrant for Joseph Thompson's arrest after telling police he forced her into his car at the point of a shotgun and threatened to kill her.

After being driven to Laurel and back to Baltimore, Mrs. Thompson said she was let out of the car in South Baltimore and given taxicab fare to get home.

"Don't go to the police or I'll come back and kill you," she said her husband warned her.

The woman has been the object of a widespread police search after her abduction was reported.

Mrs. Thompson said she took a cab to the home of her husband's aunt, Mrs. Charles Stevens, and then called police.

During the ride, Mrs. Thompson told police, her husband threw the shotgun which he had used to force her into the car out of the window. Police who recovered it said it contained a single cartridge.

Mrs. Thompson and her 9-year-old son, Johnny, have been living with Mrs. Stevens since coming here recently from New Jersey.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, Polar Explorer, Dies

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (AP) — Sir Hubert Wilkins, bearded, Australian-born scientist who won international fame by his polar exploits, was found dead Monday in his hotel room. He was 70.

Dr. Irving Weisenfeld said a coronary attack apparently caused death.

The explorer had a farm in Pennsylvania and an apartment in New York but lived here to be near his work as a geographer and arctic consultant for the Quartermaster Corps. His office was in adjacent Natick.

Coty Leaves Field Clear For De Gaulle

French President States He Will Not Seek Re-election

PARIS (UPI)—President Rene Coty Monday night cleared the way for Premier Charles de Gaulle to become the first "strongman" president of the Fifth French Republic in the wake of his three landslide election victories.

Coty gave De Gaulle an all-clear sign by announcing that he would not stand for re-election in the presidential balloting scheduled for Dec. 21.

The announcement, was issued jointly by the offices of Coty and De Gaulle after a meeting between the two leaders. It said the President "confirmed to the chief of government that he does not wish to seek renewal of his mandate."

De Gaulle has not yet stated publicly whether he plans to stand for the presidency.

Calls Cabinet Meeting

The general, however, has summoned his cabinet Tuesday to a meeting that will review results of Sunday's run-off elections that routed the once-mighty Communist Party and elected a parliament with a pro-government majority of proportions almost unparalleled in recent French history. De Gaulle had won previous thumping election victories in the first parliamentary elections Sunday a week ago and in the constitutional referendum.

It was generally expected that De Gaulle would inform the cabinet he had decided to climax his career by standing for the presidency.

The presidential voting will be limited to about 100,000 "grand electors"—an electoral college composed of members of parliament and civic leaders throughout the nation. They will choose France's chief executive for the next seven years.

Would Have Great Power

In the unlikely event that no candidate gets more than 50 per cent on the first ballot, there will be a run-off vote Dec. 28. It was not known, however, whether any other presidential candidates would even stand. If they did, they were certain to be swamped by another De Gaulle tidal wave.

As president under the Fifth Republic's constitution, De Gaulle would have sweeping powers to run the nation.

The president names the prime minister, presides over cabinet meetings, can compel parliament to re-open discussion of bills if he objects to them and can dissolve parliament if it becomes troublesome.

Traffic accidents killed at least 454 Americans during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend. The figure is about par any 102-hour period.

The toll hewed remarkably close to last year's rate of traffic deaths—about 105 deaths a day on the basis of the 38,500 such deaths in 1957. An average for 102 hours would be 448.

The nation's fatalities from all types of accidents was 626 for the Thanksgiving holiday—from 6 p. m. Wednesday, to midnight Sunday. Fifty-four of the deaths occurred in fires.

Atomic Powers Begin Drafting Test Ban Pact

GENEVA (AP) — The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union Monday began hammering out the opening article of a treaty defining the meaning of a conrolled suspension of the nuclear weapon tests.

After a month of procedural wrangling, the world's atomic powers came to grips for the first time with the difficult task of drafting a treaty defining obligations.

East and West agreed that no quick and easy agreement is in sight, but both sides emphasized that the delegations have moved into the substance of the problem.

Up for discussion was a revised opening article of a Soviet draft treaty and a separate first article submitted by U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth.

Exchanges to follow are aimed at getting agreement on the language of the opening article.

The opening article of a treaty usually defines the scope of the obligations undertaken by the signing powers. In the case of these negotiations the United States and Britain insist that the opening article must link the suspension of tests with a promise to cooperate with an international control organization.

Still to be defined are the answers to these major questions:

Will the Soviet Union accept an international control system which will meet the West's demands for a tight policing?

Will the United States and Britain continue to insist that a controlled suspension of tests must be organized on a year-by-year basis with its continuation depending on progress in the related field of disarmament?

The Soviet delegate, Semyon Tsarapkin, strode from the conference room and told waiting newsmen that both sides had gotten down to talking about the treaty.

Sputnik III Rocket Death Plunge Near

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The rocket that thrust Sputnik III into orbit is expected to plunge to a flaming death around 7 a. m. EST Wednesday, the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said Monday.

Sputnik III, the 1½-ton wedge-shaped Soviet satellite launched from the rocket last May 15, is expected to stay aloft another year. Scientists say its more compact shape presents less atmosspheric drag than the rocket casing with its empty fuel tanks.

Dr. John White, Smithsonian information officer, said it was quite impossible to say where the Soviet moonlet might start to plunge. It is expected to burn up in the atmosphere while still 50 to 70 miles aloft.

Fire In N.Y. School

NEW YORK (UPI) — A fire broke out in the basement of a Manhattan high school Monday and 75 teachers led the 1,000 students quietly to safety.

Court Ban On Pilots' Strike Is Continued

Eastern, TWA Planes Remain Grounded

CHICAGO (UPI) — A federal judge Monday continued in effect an order prohibiting a strike by the Air Line Pilots Assn against American Airlines. The planes of Eastern and Trans World Airlines remained grounded by strikes of other unions.

Judge Frederick Van Pelt Bryan, in New York, rejected the contention of the AFL-CIO pilots' union that his temporary restraining order against a walkout by 1,491 American pilots was invalid.

Union attorneys then challenged the court's jurisdiction under the provisions of the Norris-LaGuardia Act. Bryan recessed the hearing until Tuesday without ruling on that point. His restraining order will remain in effect until he rules on the request by the airlines for a temporary injunction against the union.

Strikes continued against two others of the "big four" airlines, Eastern and Trans World, representing one third of the nation's domestic airliners.

Negotiations between Eastern and the striking flight engineers' union remained deadlocked as the engineers rejected an arbitration proposal. In Kansas City, however, federal mediators were hopeful of settling the 10-day strike of the International Association of Machinists aginst TWA.

The IAM was also on strike against Eastern and stewardesses continued their walkout against Lake Central Airlines, a Midwest feeder airline operating out of Indianapolis.

Airlines unaffected by strikes had taken up most of the slack left by the Eastern and TWA walkouts, but a strike against American might seriously hobble the nation's air transportation system.

The pilots have been set to walk out for a week to back up their demands that the third man in the cockpit of jet airliners be a qualified pilot and not merely an engineer.

Judge Bryan's restraining order has staved off the strike. But the ALPA's lawyers argued in New York that the order was invalid because no complaint was attached to it and it was not served on the union's headquarters in Chicago.

$1,500,000 Gem Theft Reported

CHICAGO (UPI) — Diamonds valued at $1,500,000 were reported stolen Monday from the vault of a prominent Chicago hotel, and the FBI promptly moved into the case.

The theft was discovered by Charles Stager, a salesman for the New York diamond brokerage firm of Henry Winston & Co., when he went to place another half-million dollars worth of gems into the vault.

Richard D. Auerbach, agent in charge of the Chicago FBI office, said the federal agency was "up to its neck" in the investigation of the theft from the Congress Hotel.

Police were puzzled how the mounted diamonds disappeared from the vault, because it is inaccessible to the public.

Lt. Charles Pierson of the burglary squad said it looked like a "good gang of jewel thieves" learned about the gems and pulled the theft. Stager also possessed the only key to the jewel case, Pierson said.

The jewels disappeared, Stager told police, apparently sometime between Sunday afternoon and noon Monday.

Cold And Snowy December Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau foresees weather colder than normal for the season in the northern half of the nation east of the continental divide in the next 30 days.

The 30-day forecast, issued Monday, says:

"The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for December calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals over the northern half of the nation from the continental divide eastward to the Atlantic seaboard.

"Over the northern half of the nation much of the precipitation will be in the form of snow.

"Subnormal amounts are expected in the southern plateau, the southern Rocky Mountain states and the central plains. Otherwise near normal precipitation is indicated."

Anxious Living, Waiting And Hoping, Jam Morgue

CHICAGO (AP) — Outside the yellow-brick Cook County Morgue and in its small walled courtyard, ambulances still brought their deliveries of dead children.

Inside, crowding the low-ceilinged office foyer and corridor, were the anxious living.

In the basement catacombs — the marble-floored receiving and work rooms—lay sheeted forms everywhere.

Father Joseph Ogniebene, a priest at Our Lady of the Angels parish for 10 years, went from one body to another, stopping over each one. He was trying to identify them. He succeeded in naming a handful.

Identification was obviously a problem in many cases — young faces were blackened and scarred. Some were charred. Occasionally, there was an unmarred face, with the short hair of a boy, or longer girl's hair.

Upstairs, relatives—fathers and mothers waited.

Like Stanley Drzymala, some of them had been searching a long time. First at the fire-charred parochial elementary school of Our Lady of the Angels. Then at hospitals, before coming to the morgue where most of the dead were being assembled.

"I went to four different hospitals and couldn't find my daughter," he said. "And then the police sent me to the morgue.

"And here I am, and they won't let me look at any bodies.

"I pray she isn't here."

His daughter, Patricia, 12, a seventh grader, was in the school when the fire started.

Ike To Confer With Defense, Space Officials

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower will preside at high-level Washington conferences Wednesday on defense spending and the future of the Army's space scientists.

Plans for White House meetings of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency and of the National Security Council were announced as Eisenhower neared the end of a 13-day working vacation at the Augusta National Golf Club.

He will start back to the capital by plane late Tuesday afternoon for a busy next few weeks in preparation for convening of the new Congress early in January.

The President faces the job of getting along with much heavier Democratic majorities in both the House and Senate as a result of the November elections. He will call in leaders of both the Democrats and the Republicans for conferences later this month.

But the first order of business is a Wednesday meeting with the new space agency he heads. At the top of the council's agenda is the question of what to do about a proposal by the civilian space group to take over the Army ballistic missile agency.

Such a shift would transfer about 2,000 Army space scientists to the civilian agency set up by Congress at the last session. The Army Redstone Arsenal team at Huntsville, Ala., is headed by German-born Wernher von Braun

When the proposal was first made a few weeks ago it touched off an angry storm of Army protest. Eisenhower said at the time he personally would make the decision after the space council has completed a study.

Reports in Augusta were that the controversy has been resolved and that a solution leaving the Army less ruffled may be announced after the meeting Wednesday.

Eisenhower will go from the meeting to an afternoon session of the National Council, the government's top policy unit on defense planning.

Arson Squad Probes Blaze At Chicago

Flames Mushroom Through Older Wing Of Parochial School

CHICAGO (AP) — Eighty-nine children and teachers burned to death Monday, some trapped at their desks, in a fire that flashed through a parochial grade school 18 minutes before dismissal.

At least 85 children were reported injured and in hospitals on the Northeast Side.

The possibility that an arsonist had touched off one of Chicago's worst disasters was being investigated by a picked team of police detectives and firemen.

Seventy-one of the dead were laid out at the county morgue, many of them awaiting identification. Another 18 were distributed among seven hospitals.

The sudden spread of the flames through the older wing of the three-story brick building prompted Chicago's fire commissioner to express a belief an arsonist was behind the disaster.

Bodies Removed To Morgue

"Where are our children? Where are our children?" pleaded weeping parents as bodies wrapped in blankets were laid on the concrete playcourt awaiting removal to the morgue.

The tragedy stunned the entire neighborhood about Our Lady of the Angels Roman Catholic Church and School at 3808 Iowa St.

Kinfolk and neighbors pushed against tight police lines for a glimpse of the little corpses, fearful that they might recognize one as that of a loved one.

Priests who at first helped evacuate as many of the children as possible later stood at the doors of the doomed structure, administering Extreme Unction, last rite of the Catholic Church, as grim-faced firemen carried out bodies.

Arson Squad Investigates

The bodies were removed to the morgue and to hospitals. There again was the cry, "where are our children? Where are our children?"

"This could have been a touch-off," Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn said in anger. "Touch-off" is the fireman's word for the legal term of arson.

The police arson squad was sent to the scene to help fire investigators.

In the courtyard where the bodies lay were piles of smouldering clothing and shoes torn off by children who jumped from the windows to escape death. Many were hurt in the jumps.

The fire virtually wiped out the eighth grade class housed in the northeast corner of the old wing of the building.

The school is U-shaped with a paved court between arms of the U. The Rev. Joseph F. Cussen, pastor of the parish, said the building is 40 years old and that fifth, sixth and eighth grade children occupied the wing attacked by fire.

Most classrooms were on the upper two floors of the building; only a few were on the ground level.

Quinn doubted there was an ex-

Third Worst School Fire

By The Associated Press

Only two school fires in the last 100 years of American history have cost more lives than the tragedy in Chicago Monday.

The greatest school disaster was March 18, 1937, when 294 died in a school explosion and fire in New London, Tex.

The other major school fire was March 4, 1908, when 176 perished in the Collinwood School fire in Cleveland.

In the last century, there have been 26 fires in this country in which as many as 50 persons died, including two school fires.

Only eight fires with such loss of life have occurred in the last 20 years, none of them in schools.

Worst of these was the Cocoanut Grove Night Club fire in Boston Nov. 28, 1942, in which 498 died.

Other fires with major losses of life in the last two decades are:

Feb. 17, 1957—72 dead in Katie Jane Nursing Home fire in Warrenton, Mo.

April 5, 1949 — 74 dead in St. Anthony's Hospital fire in Effingham, Ill.

Dec. 7, 1946—119 dead in Winecoff Hotel fire, Atlanta, Ga.

June 5, 1946—61 dead in La Salle Hotel fire, Chicago.

Oct. 20, 1944—135 killed in Cleveland liquid gas explosion and fire.

July 6, 1944—168 dead in Ringling Bros. Barnum and Bailey Circus fire at Hartford, Conn.

April 23, 1940—198 killed in Negro dance hall fire at Natchez, Miss.

The opening article of a treaty usually defines the scope of the obligations undertaken by the signing powers. In the case of these negotiations the United States and Britain insist that the opening article must link the suspension of tests with a promise to cooperate with an international control organization.

Still to be defined are the answers to these major questions:

Will the Soviet Union accept an international control system which will meet the West's demands for a tight policing?

Will the United States and Britain continue to insist that a controlled suspension of tests must be organized on a year-by-year basis with its continuation depending on progress in the related field of disarmament?

The Soviet delegate, Semyon Tsarapkin, strode from the conference room and told waiting newsmen that both sides had gotten down to talking about the treaty.

Sputnik III Rocket Death Plunge Near

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The rocket that thrust Sputnik III into orbit is expected to plunge to a flaming death around 7 a. m. EST Wednesday, the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said Monday.

Sputnik III, the 1½-ton wedge-shaped Soviet satellite launched from the rocket last May 15, is expected to stay aloft another year. Scientists say its more compact shape presents less atmosspheric drag than the rocket casing with its empty fuel tanks.

Dr. John White, Smithsonian information officer, said it was quite impossible to say where the Soviet moonlet might start to plunge. It is expected to burn up in the atmosphere while still 50 to 70 miles aloft.

Fire In N.Y. School

NEW YORK (UPI) — A fire broke out in the basement of a Manhattan high school Monday and 75 teachers led the 1,000 students quietly to safety.

Court Ban On Pilots' Strike Is Continued

Eastern, TWA Planes Remain Grounded

CHICAGO (UPI) — A federal judge Monday continued in effect an order prohibiting a strike by the Air Line Pilots Assn against American Airlines. The planes of Eastern and Trans World Airlines remained grounded by strikes of other unions.

Judge Frederick Van Pelt Bryan, in New York, rejected the contention of the AFL-CIO pilots' union that his temporary restraining order against a walkout by 1,491 American pilots was invalid.

Union attorneys then challenged the court's jurisdiction under the provisions of the Norris-LaGuardia Act. Bryan recessed the hearing until Tuesday without ruling on that point. His restraining order will remain in effect until he rules on the request by the airlines for a temporary injunction against the union.

Strikes continued against two others of the "big four" airlines, Eastern and Trans World, representing one third of the nation's domestic airliners.

Negotiations between Eastern and the striking flight engineers' union remained deadlocked as the engineers rejected an arbitration proposal. In Kansas City, however, federal mediators were hopeful of settling the 10-day strike of the International Association of Machinists aginst TWA.

The IAM was also on strike against Eastern and stewardesses continued their walkout against Lake Central Airlines, a Midwest feeder airline operating out of Indianapolis.

Airlines unaffected by strikes had taken up most of the slack left by the Eastern and TWA walkouts, but a strike against American might seriously hobble the nation's air transportation system.

The pilots have been set to walk out for a week to back up their demands that the third man in the cockpit of jet airliners be a qualified pilot and not merely an engineer.

Judge Bryan's restraining order has staved off the strike. But the ALPA's lawyers argued in New York that the order was invalid because no complaint was attached to it and it was not served on the union's headquarters in Chicago.

$1,500,000 Gem Theft Reported

CHICAGO (UPI) — Diamonds valued at $1,500,000 were reported stolen Monday from the vault of a prominent Chicago hotel, and the FBI promptly moved into the case.

The theft was discovered by Charles Stager, a salesman for the New York diamond brokerage firm of Henry Winston & Co., when he went to place another half-million dollars worth of gems into the vault.

Richard D. Auerbach, agent in charge of the Chicago FBI office, said the federal agency was "up to its neck" in the investigation of the theft from the Congress Hotel.

Police were puzzled how the mounted diamonds disappeared from the vault, because it is inaccessible to the public.

Lt. Charles Pierson of the burglary squad said it looked like a "good gang of jewel thieves" learned about the gems and pulled the theft. Stager also possessed the only key to the jewel case, Pierson said.

The jewels disappeared, Stager told police, apparently sometime between Sunday afternoon and noon Monday.

Cold And Snowy December Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau foresees weather colder than normal for the season in the northern half of the nation east of the continental divide in the next 30 days.

The 30-day forecast, issued Monday, says:

"The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for December calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals over the northern half of the nation from the continental divide eastward to the Atlantic seaboard.

"Over the northern half of the nation much of the precipitation will be in the form of snow.

"Subnormal amounts are expected in the southern plateau, the southern Rocky Mountain states and the central plains. Otherwise near normal precipitation is indicated."

Anxious Living, Waiting And Hoping, Jam Morgue

CHICAGO (AP) — Outside the yellow-brick Cook County Morgue and in its small walled courtyard, ambulances still brought their deliveries of dead children.

Inside, crowding the low-ceilinged office foyer and corridor, were the anxious living.

In the basement catacombs — the marble-floored receiving and work rooms—lay sheeted forms everywhere.

Father Joseph Ogniebene, a priest at Our Lady of the Angels parish for 10 years, went from one body to another, stopping over each one. He was trying to identify them. He succeeded in naming a handful.

Identification was obviously a problem in many cases — young faces were blackened and scarred. Some were charred. Occasionally, there was an unmarred face, with the short hair of a boy, or longer girl's hair.

Upstairs, relatives—fathers and mothers waited.

Like Stanley Drzymala, some of them had been searching a long time. First at the fire-charred parochial elementary school of Our Lady of the Angels. Then at hospitals, before coming to the morgue where most of the dead were being assembled.

"I went to four different hospitals and couldn't find my daughter," he said. "And then the police sent me to the morgue.

"And here I am, and they won't let me look at any bodies.

"I pray she isn't here."

His daughter, Patricia, 12, a seventh grader, was in the school when the fire started.

Ike To Confer With Defense, Space Officials

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower will preside at high-level Washington conferences Wednesday on defense spending and the future of the Army's space scientists.

Plans for White House meetings of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency and of the National Security Council were announced as Eisenhower neared the end of a 13-day working vacation at the Augusta National Golf Club.

He will start back to the capital by plane late Tuesday afternoon for a busy next few weeks in preparation for convening of the new Congress early in January.

The President faces the job of getting along with much heavier Democratic majorities in both the House and Senate as a result of the November elections. He will call in leaders of both the Democrats and the Republicans for conferences later this month.

But the first order of business is a Wednesday meeting with the new space agency he heads. At the top of the council's agenda is the question of what to do about a proposal by the civilian space group to take over the Army ballistic missile agency.

Such a shift would transfer about 2,000 Army space scientists to the civilian agency set up by Congress at the last session. The Army Redstone Arsenal team at Huntsville, Ala., is headed by German-born Wernher von Braun

When the proposal was first made a few weeks ago it touched off an angry storm of Army protest. Eisenhower said at the time he personally would make the decision after the space council has completed a study.

Reports in Augusta were that the controversy has been resolved and that a solution leaving the Army less ruffled may be announced after the meeting Wednesday.

Eisenhower will go from the meeting to an afternoon session of the National Council, the government's top policy unit on defense planning.

Arson Squad Probes Blaze At Chicago

Flames Mushroom Through Older Wing Of Parochial School

CHICAGO (AP) — Eighty-nine children and teachers burned to death Monday, some trapped at their desks, in a fire that flashed through a parochial grade school 18 minutes before dismissal.

At least 85 children were reported injured and in hospitals on the Northeast Side.

The possibility that an arsonist had touched off one of Chicago's worst disasters was being investigated by a picked team of police detectives and firemen.

Seventy-one of the dead were laid out at the county morgue, many of them awaiting identification. Another 18 were distributed among seven hospitals.

The sudden spread of the flames through the older wing of the three-story brick building prompted Chicago's fire commissioner to express a belief an arsonist was behind the disaster.

Bodies Removed To Morgue

"Where are our children? Where are our children?" pleaded weeping parents as bodies wrapped in blankets were laid on the concrete playcourt awaiting removal to the morgue.

The tragedy stunned the entire neighborhood about Our Lady of the Angels Roman Catholic Church and School at 3808 Iowa St.

Kinfolk and neighbors pushed against tight police lines for a glimpse of the little corpses, fearful that they might recognize one as that of a loved one.

Priests who at first helped evacuate as many of the children as possible later stood at the doors of the doomed structure, administering Extreme Unction, last rite of the Catholic Church, as grim-faced firemen carried out bodies.

Arson Squad Investigates

The bodies were removed to the morgue and to hospitals. There again was the cry, "where are our children? Where are our children?"

"This could have been a touch-off," Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn said in anger. "Touch-off" is the fireman's word for the legal term of arson.

The police arson squad was sent to the scene to help fire investigators.

In the courtyard where the bodies lay were piles of smouldering clothing and shoes torn off by children who jumped from the windows to escape death. Many were hurt in the jumps.

The fire virtually wiped out the eighth grade class housed in the northeast corner of the old wing of the building.

The school is U-shaped with a paved court between arms of the U. The Rev. Joseph F. Cussen, pastor of the parish, said the building is 40 years old and that fifth, sixth and eighth grade children occupied the wing attacked by fire.

Most classrooms were on the upper two floors of the building; only a few were on the ground level.

Quinn doubted there was an ex-

Third Worst School Fire

By The Associated Press

Only two school fires in the last 100 years of American history have cost more lives than the tragedy in Chicago Monday.

The greatest school disaster was March 18, 1937, when 294 died in a school explosion and fire in New London, Tex.

The other major school fire was March 4, 1908, when 176 perished in the Collinwood School fire in Cleveland.

In the last century, there have been 26 fires in this country in which as many as 50 persons died, including two school fires.

Only eight fires with such loss of life have occurred in the last 20 years, none of them in schools.

Worst of these was the Cocoanut Grove Night Club fire in Boston Nov. 28, 1942, in which 498 died.

Other fires with major losses of life in the last two decades are:

Feb. 17, 1957—72 dead in Katie Jane Nursing Home fire in Warrenton, Mo.

April 5, 1949 — 74 dead in St. Anthony's Hospital fire in Effingham, Ill.

Dec. 7, 1946—119 dead in Winecoff Hotel fire, Atlanta, Ga.

June 5, 1946—61 dead in La Salle Hotel fire, Chicago.

Oct. 20, 1944—135 killed in Cleveland liquid gas explosion and fire.

July 6, 1944—168 dead in Ringling Bros. Barnum and Bailey Circus fire at Hartford, Conn.

April 23, 1940—198 killed in Negro dance hall fire at Natchez, Miss.

W. Va. Legislature Leaders Re-elected

Pauley And Bean Renamed By Demos

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Harry R. Pauley, 51, starting his seventh term in the West Virginia House of Delegates, was re-elected Monday as speaker on the second ballot of a caucus of Democratic members.

The 51-year-old banker and real estate executive from Iaeger, McDowell County, repeated his victory of last June over attorney T. E. Myles of Fayetteville.

Sen. Ralph J. Bean of Moorefield was elected to a record fourth term as president of the State Senate in a separate caucus.

Pauley missed re-election on the first ballot by only one vote. There were three nominees at first, and after the inconclusive initial result Del. W. T. Brotherton Jr., Charleston, threw his support to Myles. However, it wasn't enough to head off Pauley.

In the final tally, Pauley received 45 votes to 36 for Myles. Five Brotherton supporters switched to Pauley instead of Myles on the second ballot. The vote in the first ballot was Pauley 40, Myles 23 and Brotherton 18.

A majority of those present is needed to elect and had Pauley got one more first-ballot vote, it would have been 'all over. There were 81 present out of the Democratic House membership of 85.

Brotherton, a coalition candidate from among four earlier aspirants, had reached agreement with Myles in the wee hours of Monday morning whereby the one getting the smallest number of votes on the first ballot would drop out in favor of the other in event there was more than one ballot.

Republicans — who have only 24 members in both the House and Senate compared to 108 by the Democrats — re-elected without opposition their incumbent minority floor leaders. They are John E. Carrigan of Sherrard, Marshall County, in the Senate and George H. Seibert Jr., Wheeling, in the House.

Bean, who will be 46 on Dec. 15, is in the middle of his fourth four-year term in the Senate and has served as its presiding officer—and West Virginia's second-ranking elective official — since 1953. He was elected to the Senate for the first time in 1944 and has served since then.

Pauley was first elected to the House 22 years ago, in 1936. He was re-elected in 1938, but did not return until 1948. He was re-elected in 1938, but did not return until 1948. He was re-elected in 1950 and 1952, was upset in the 1954 primary, and was elected again in 1956.

In a move toward harmony, Pauley said after the caucus that he would choose the majority floor leader and the chairmen of the key judiciary and finance committees from the six other delegates who originally sought the speakership.

Defense Chief Doubts Russia Has Atom Plane

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy said Monday he was "highly skeptical" of a report that Russia is test-flying the world's first nuclear-powered aircraft.

He said the Soviets "may have a slight lead over the United States in this area." But he added that "it would be a surprise to us" if they actually have flown an experimental atom-powered bomber.

"If it is true," McElroy said, "it would be a tremendous jolt to us in this country."

The defense secretary commented to United Press International on a report by Aviation Week magazine that the Russians are testing a huge A-plane and may be planning to fly it around the world several times non-stop.

The Pentagon later issued a formal statement saying that the secretary "does not know if the report . . . is true or not, but he is highly skeptical of it."

"We do not contemplate any change in our program at this time," the statement added.

However, Sen. Gordon Allott (R-Colo.) said the report might hasten construction of a proposed laboratory at Denver to push work on nuclear plane propulsion. He said he understood this was being studied before the Aviation Week article appeared.

At Augusta, Ga., White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he did not know whether President Eisenhower would re-examine proposals to launch a "crash" program to complete a nuclear - powered U.S. plane.

The President called a meeting of the National Aeronautic Space Council for Wednesday. But Hagerty said he did not know whether the Aviation Week report would be taken up by that policy-making group.

Convicted Slayer's Petition Rejected

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A State Supreme Court decision Monday left Elmer David Bruner's only chance of escaping death by electrocution Dec. 12 at Moundsville Penitentiary in the hands of Gov. Cecil H. Underwood.

The high court rejected Bruner's own petition asking for a writ of habeas corpus to release him from the penitentiary. Earlier this year, the court had turned down an appeal of Bruner's conviction June, 29, 1957, by a Cabell County Common Pleas Court jury, for the slaying a month earlier of Mrs. Ruby Miller of Huntington.

Last week, court-appointed attorneys for Bruner presented a clemency plea to Underwood. The convicted man is now in death row at the penitentiary.

Rabies Infection From Bat Confirmed

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The nation's first clearly established case of rabies infection from a bat's bite was reported Monday by the California State Health Department.

Mrs. Flora Menzelaar, of Magalia, Butte County community, died Nov. 4 at Paradise, Calif.

Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, state health director, said laboratory tests conclusively proved her death was caused by rabies.

Mrs. Menzelaar was bitten Aug. 30 when she picked the bat from the ground in her yard.

Three Ordered Held In Robbery

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Three of four men accused of the $162,000 robbery of George O. Powley's store at Wingate Nov. 8 were ordered held Monday for the Dorchester County Grand Jury.

The fourth man, 30-year-old Rufus William Ruark of Cambridge, was released by Magistrate J. Otis McCallister at the close of the preliminary hearing.

The three held for the grand jury are Stephano Glaros, 32, of Harundale, and Eugene Benjamin Hurley, 32, and Donald Wersten, 37, both of Baltimore. They remained under $100,000 bail each.

At the close of testimony, State's Atty. C. Burnam Mace said, "At this time the state will not produce any testimony in the Rufus Ruark case." Ruark was then released.

During the hearing, Powley said he found the door of a safe in his general store open and $159,000 and three $1,000 bonds missing on the morning after the robbery. None of the loot has been recovered.

Roy Jevens, FBI minerologist, testified that material taken from the safe and from Glaros' car were found to be identical.

The car was removed to the FBI laboratory in Washington after Glaros was arrested by State Police at Harundale Nov. 11.

Missile Destroys Supersonic Target

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army said Monday its Nike-Hercules antiaircraft missile destroyed a supersonic target flying faster than 1,500 miles an hour and more than 12 miles high.

"This marks the first time that any air defense missile has destroyed a target moving at this speed and range," the Army announced.

It also was the first claim that the missile, which has been protecting some American cities since last June, had destroyed a supersonic target at any level.

The altitude of more than 12 miles is higher than present-day bombers normally operate.

4 Carry Out Suicide Pact

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Four elderly persons in despair over illness, carried out a suicide pact with such precision that rehearsal was indicated, a reconstruction of their act by police suggested Monday.

The dead were Arthur Forrester 62; his wife, Lucille, 64; her mother, Mrs. Mary Conkling, 86; and Mrs. Conkling's daughter, Blanche Conkling, 66.

Their bodies were found in an apartment Sunday. At first it was believed that Forrester, suffering from lung cancer, had killed the others and then shot himself.

But police said Monday that each had committed suicide by placing the muzzle of a 22-caliber rifle in the mouth, using a handkerchief sling on the arm to brace the weapon.

plosion and Father Cussen said the boiler room was undamaged but 11-year-old Joseph Brocato averred "there was a boom in the furnace room."

"We heard it," he said. "Another boy and I were emptying the waste basket in the basement.

"It was a boom in the furnace room and the janitor ran out. He shouted to us to get upstairs."

He and his companion obeyed. They were herded out of school to safety. But Joseph shook constantly and violently in fear of what might have happened to him as he saw it happen to others.

"Our class was singing when we heard yells of 'fire!' from the eighth grade room," Tommy Raymond, a 12-year-old seventh grader, related.

"Sister had us march into the hall but the smoke was so thick I ran back into the room. Firemen stopped me from jumping when I reached the window ledge."

Firemen led him and some girls who had gone to the room to safety through a window.

"I kept thinking how I'd look dead," Tommy said.

Patrick Chambers, 12, said he believed his whole sixth grade class escaped.

"We held on to each other's belts and found our way downstairs," he said.

One nun who declined to identify herself related she experienced "untold strength" as she made three tips up and downstairs leading dozens to safety.

Some she made crawl to escape smoke suffocation. Others she rolled downstairs like logs.

One father, Sam Tortorice, told of swinging several children from the window of the school to other men at a window in a safe spot. His daughter was the sixth child he helped rescue.

"She was screaming for me to help her, but I couldn't get to her," Tortorice said. "I had to get some of the others out of the way first."

Election Loser Files For 1960

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Post-election note:

Robert E. Ennis, unsuccessful candidate for Congress in the Nov. 4th election, has tossed his hat into the ring for 1960.

Ennis posted a $100 fee with the Secretary of State for Republican nomination in Southern Maryland's 5th District while certificates of election were still being filed for successful candidates in the general election.

The 58-year-old Capitol Heights attorney was defeated by Rep. Richard E. Lankford (D-Md), who polled 96,158 votes to 31,857 for Ennis.

Ennis said Monday he was filing some 16 months before the 1960 primary deadline so that he could speak out "as a congressional candidate" on issues he believes important.

He listed them as opposition to "foreign giveaways," advocacy of reciprocity in traffic laws for the metropolitan Washington area and a ban on garnishment of Marylanders' pay by District of Columbia creditors.

McKeldin Orders Police Head To Probe Charges

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. McKeldin Monday ordered the State Police superintendent to investigate charges made against his department by the Criminal Justice Commission. But the governor, who had balked before at launching a full-dress probe of his own, declined to do so again and chided the commission for vagueness.

"Surely, you do not expect me to rush into a full-dress investigation on the strength of that which you have placed before me," McKeldin said in a letter to Gordon M. Allen, president of the commission, a non - governmental, Community - Chest - supported agency.

The watchdog group of prominent citizens had submitted a full report to McKeldin of its investigation last summer of State Police handling of three traffic warrants which went unserved for 14 months.

The commission first brought the warrants to public attention. A State Police Board of Inquiry, composed of three captains, looked into the matter and one warrant charging Baltimore contractor Sidney Sappington with disorderly conduct eventually was served. Two others charging reckless driving and drunken driving were dropped.

The State Police board commended Maj. William H. Weber, executive officer of the force, for using prudent judgment in holding up service of the warrants for 14 months. It reprimanded the corporal who had served them in the first place for not going through channels.

Unsatisfied, the Criminal Justice Commission then conducted its own probe and in a lengthy report highly critical of Maj. Weber and department procedures, called on the governor to make a full scale probe.

McKeldin, out of the country at the time, declined to do so upon his return. The Legislative Council also declined prior to the election but later reversed its stand and said it would investigate.

He said the Soviets "may have a slight lead over the United States in this area." But he added that "it would be a surprise to us" if they actually have flown an experimental atom-powered bomber.

"If it is true," McElroy said, "it would be a tremendous jolt to us in this country."

The defense secretary commented to United Press International on a report by Aviation Week magazine that the Russians are testing a huge A-plane and may be planning to fly it around the world several times non-stop.

The Pentagon later issued a formal statement saying that the secretary "does not know if the report . . . is true or not, but he is highly skeptical of it."

"We do not contemplate any change in our program at this time," the statement added.

However, Sen. Gordon Allott (R-Colo.) said the report might hasten construction of a proposed laboratory at Denver to push work on nuclear plane propulsion. He said he understood this was being studied before the Aviation Week article appeared.

At Augusta, Ga., White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he did not know whether President Eisenhower would re-examine proposals to launch a "crash" program to complete a nuclear - powered U.S. plane.

The President called a meeting of the National Aeronautic Space Council for Wednesday. But Hagerty said he did not know whether the Aviation Week report would be taken up by that policy-making group.

Convicted Slayer's Petition Rejected

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A State Supreme Court decision Monday left Elmer David Bruner's only chance of escaping death by electrocution Dec. 12 at Moundsville Penitentiary in the hands of Gov. Cecil H. Underwood.

The high court rejected Bruner's own petition asking for a writ of habeas corpus to release him from the penitentiary. Earlier this year, the court had turned down an appeal of Bruner's conviction June, 29, 1957, by a Cabell County Common Pleas Court jury, for the slaying a month earlier of Mrs. Ruby Miller of Huntington.

Last week, court-appointed attorneys for Bruner presented a clemency plea to Underwood. The convicted man is now in death row at the penitentiary.

Rabies Infection From Bat Confirmed

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—The nation's first clearly established case of rabies infection from a bat's bite was reported Monday by the California State Health Department.

Mrs. Flora Menzelaar, of Magalia, Butte County community, died Nov. 4 at Paradise, Calif.

Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, state health director, said laboratory tests conclusively proved her death was caused by rabies.

Mrs. Menzelaar was bitten Aug. 30 when she picked the bat from the ground in her yard.

Three Ordered Held In Robbery

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Three of four men accused of the $162,000 robbery of George O. Powley's store at Wingate Nov. 8 were ordered held Monday for the Dorchester County Grand Jury.

The fourth man, 30-year-old Rufus William Ruark of Cambridge, was released by Magistrate J. Otis McCallister at the close of the preliminary hearing.

The three held for the grand jury are Stephano Glaros, 32, of Harundale, and Eugene Benjamin Hurley, 32, and Donald Wersten, 37, both of Baltimore. They remained under $100,000 bail each.

At the close of testimony, State's Atty. C. Burnam Mace said, "At this time the state will not produce any testimony in the Rufus Ruark case." Ruark was then released.

During the hearing, Powley said he found the door of a safe in his general store open and $159,000 and three $1,000 bonds missing on the morning after the robbery. None of the loot has been recovered.

Roy Jevens, FBI minerologist, testified that material taken from the safe and from Glaros' car were found to be identical.

The car was removed to the FBI laboratory in Washington after Glaros was arrested by State Police at Harundale Nov. 11.

Missile Destroys Supersonic Target

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army said Monday its Nike-Hercules antiaircraft missile destroyed a supersonic target flying faster than 1,500 miles an hour and more than 12 miles high.

"This marks the first time that any air defense missile has destroyed a target moving at this speed and range," the Army announced.

It also was the first claim that the missile, which has been protecting some American cities since last June, had destroyed a supersonic target at any level.

The altitude of more than 12 miles is higher than present-day bombers normally operate.

4 Carry Out Suicide Pact

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Four elderly persons in despair over illness, carried out a suicide pact with such precision that rehearsal was indicated, a reconstruction of their act by police suggested Monday.

The dead were Arthur Forrester 62; his wife, Lucille, 64; her mother, Mrs. Mary Conkling, 86; and Mrs. Conkling's daughter, Blanche Conkling, 66.

Their bodies were found in an apartment Sunday. At first it was believed that Forrester, suffering from lung cancer, had killed the others and then shot himself.

But police said Monday that each had committed suicide by placing the muzzle of a 22-caliber rifle in the mouth, using a handkerchief sling on the arm to brace the weapon.

plosion and Father Cussen said the boiler room was undamaged but 11-year-old Joseph Brocato averred "there was a boom in the furnace room."

"We heard it," he said. "Another boy and I were emptying the waste basket in the basement.

"It was a boom in the furnace room and the janitor ran out. He shouted to us to get upstairs."

He and his companion obeyed. They were herded out of school to safety. But Joseph shook constantly and violently in fear of what might have happened to him as he saw it happen to others.

"Our class was singing when we heard yells of 'fire!' from the eighth grade room," Tommy Raymond, a 12-year-old seventh grader, related.

"Sister had us march into the hall but the smoke was so thick I ran back into the room. Firemen stopped me from jumping when I reached the window ledge."

Firemen led him and some girls who had gone to the room to safety through a window.

"I kept thinking how I'd look dead," Tommy said.

Patrick Chambers, 12, said he believed his whole sixth grade class escaped.

"We held on to each other's belts and found our way downstairs," he said.

One nun who declined to identify herself related she experienced "untold strength" as she made three tips up and downstairs leading dozens to safety.

Some she made crawl to escape smoke suffocation. Others she rolled downstairs like logs.

One father, Sam Tortorice, told of swinging several children from the window of the school to other men at a window in a safe spot. His daughter was the sixth child he helped rescue.

"She was screaming for me to help her, but I couldn't get to her," Tortorice said. "I had to get some of the others out of the way first."

Election Loser Files For 1960

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Post-election note:

Robert E. Ennis, unsuccessful candidate for Congress in the Nov. 4th election, has tossed his hat into the ring for 1960.

Ennis posted a $100 fee with the Secretary of State for Republican nomination in Southern Maryland's 5th District while certificates of election were still being filed for successful candidates in the general election.

The 58-year-old Capitol Heights attorney was defeated by Rep. Richard E. Lankford (D-Md), who polled 96,158 votes to 31,857 for Ennis.

Ennis said Monday he was filing some 16 months before the 1960 primary deadline so that he could speak out "as a congressional candidate" on issues he believes important.

He listed them as opposition to "foreign giveaways," advocacy of reciprocity in traffic laws for the metropolitan Washington area and a ban on garnishment of Marylanders' pay by District of Columbia creditors.

Moscow Conference

MOSCOW (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) had a long meeting Monday with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. No details of the conversation were announced.

McKeldin Orders Police Head To Probe Charges

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gov. McKeldin Monday ordered the State Police superintendent to investigate charges made against his department by the Criminal Justice Commission. But the governor, who had balked before at launching a full-dress probe of his own, declined to do so again and chided the commission for vagueness.

"Surely, you do not expect me to rush into a full-dress investigation on the strength of that which you have placed before me," McKeldin said in a letter to Gordon M. Allen, president of the commission, a non - governmental, Community - Chest - supported agency.

The watchdog group of prominent citizens had submitted a full report to McKeldin of its investigation last summer of State Police handling of three traffic warrants which went unserved for 14 months.

The commission first brought the warrants to public attention. A State Police Board of Inquiry, composed of three captains, looked into the matter and one warrant charging Baltimore contractor Sidney Sappington with disorderly conduct eventually was served. Two others charging reckless driving and drunken driving were dropped.

The State Police board commended Maj. William H. Weber, executive officer of the force, for using prudent judgment in holding up service of the warrants for 14 months. It reprimanded the corporal who had served them in the first place for not going through channels.

Unsatisfied, the Criminal Justice Commission then conducted its own probe and in a lengthy report highly critical of Maj. Weber and department procedures, called on the governor to make a full scale probe.

McKeldin, out of the country at the time, declined to do so upon his return. The Legislative Council also declined prior to the election but later reversed its stand and said it would investigate.

Delay In Polish Aid Talks Will Be Asked By Butler

Maryland Senator Blasts 'Puppet Gomulka'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John M. Butler (R-Md) said today he will ask the administration to postpone scheduled talks on further economic aid to Poland.

Butler said Congress should have a chance "to consider the desirability of pouring more of our taxpayers' money into another Communist rathole" before the talks proceed.

The senator, in a prepared statement, said the Polish government has received nearly 200 million dollars of financial assistance from this country during the past two years.

"What thanks do we get?" Butler said. "Recently Poland's puppet, Gomulka, falsely accused the United States of stirring up trouble all over the world; of not ending the arms race, and of having 'imperialistic circles.' He joined Soviet Premier Khrushchev in charging us with aggression in the Far East."

"These anti-American blasts should convince even the most misguided optimists that it is impossible to wean communist satellites away from Russia through the large expenditure of American dollars," he said.

Elaborating on his prepared statement Butler said he planned to discuss the problem with Secretary of State Dulles, but he did not say when he would meet the secretary.

Baltimore Youth, 16, Held In Theater Fire

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 16-year-old theater employe charged with arson in a fire which burned out the Patterson Theater said "I didn't think it would cause as much damage as it did."

Magistrate John Jenetzke held young Charles Braunschweiger in $5,000 bail Monday. He pleaded guilty.

The fire was discovered about midnight Sunday about a half hour after the theater closed.

Sixteen fire companies fought the four-alarm blaze.

Md.-Del. Apple Crop Shows Gain Over '57

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — The 1958 apple harvest for Maryland and Delaware totaled 1,570,000 bushels for the season and was 9 per cent over that of 1957, the Department of Agriculture said Monday.

The high total was reached despite a decline of 70,000 bushels in Delaware production. The Maryland yield increased 200,000 bushels over last year to account for the overall gain.

Commercial production of Delicious apples in the two states totaled 325,000 bushels; — 5 per cent under last year's high but still the leading variety.

Romes held second place, totaling 254,000 bushels. Yorks were third at 224,000 bushels and Staymans fourth with 198,000 bushels.

Jail "Tenant" Lucky At That

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Wallace R. Smith, 47, who sought $87 dollars from the Washington County commissioners for 87 days spent in jail, isn't going to be paid — and the commissioners figure he's getting a bargain.

Smith was held 87 days awaiting trial on a drunk charge. When he finally came to trial, Judge D. K. McLaughlin released him, saying he'd already spent enough time in jail. The judge also suggested he seek payment from the commissioners.

Chester Delphey, president of the commissioners, said he looked into Smith's record, found that he had been convicted on drunk charges five times this year and one more conviction could have brought 90 days in the House of Correction.

Since the judge released him without conviction after the 87-day stint, the commissioners figure they owe him nothing.

Judge McLaughlin agreed and withdrew his recommendation for payment.

Four Of 10 Jail Escapees Nabbed

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (UPI)—Four of 10 prisoners who sawed their way to freedom late Sunday from the Harrison County jail were back in custody Monday.

They were identified as Ralph Stonebreaker, under a 1-10 year sentence for auto theft; Joe Anderson, charged with assault and robbery; Robert Arbogast, under 1-10 year sentence on robbery charges, and David A. Niland, under 1-10 year sentence for breaking and entering.

Stonebreaker was captured in Wetzel County early Monday and the other three shortly after the break was discovered around midnight Sunday.

Still at large were Hayward and William Chipps, cousins, charged with forgery; Carman L. Davis, under 12-months jail sentence for contributing to the delinquency of a minor; Blaine Wine, charged with breaking and entering; James Hopkins, under 2-10 year sentence for forgery, and Charles M. Henderson, charged with auto theft.

W.Va. Democrats Begin Drafting New Social Legislation

Ten-Member Steering Group To Be Named In House, Senate

By CARLO J. SALZANO
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Legislation to improve West Virginia's public school program and tighten controls on road commission spending will be developed by the Democratic majority of the Legislature during the next few weeks, it was learned Monday.

Majority party leaders said they also expect to draft legislation to increase both unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation benefits.

Senate President Ralph J. Bean and House Speaker Harry R. Pauley agreed to develop a 10-member steering committee to work out details of the program. The first meeting will be held later this month, probably within two weeks. State Chairman Hulett C. Smith will join in part of the discussions.

The major legislation will deal with schools and roads.

Smith said he hoped legislation could be drawn up whereby each county would be guaranteed 180 days of instruction annually and 10 months' salary would be provided for school teachers, instead of the current nine.

Specific Road Budgets

Smith said some thought would also be given to encouraging counties to use new tax levying powers extended through a constitutional amendment ratified last Nov. 4.

He said the road program probably would be developed so as to call for specific budgets for primary and secondary road construction and maintenance and equipment with a clause preventing the transfer of funds from one account to another.

Pauley said it was impossible for all of the problems of the state to be solved in a 60-day session, "but we can take long strides in this direction and develop long-range programs."

Pauley said he had favored increasing jobless and compensation benefits in past sessions and "I see no reason to change that position now."

Bean said the Senate leadership favored legislation to brighten the state's employment pictures and also a study of the State Police.

Study Revenue Sources

Bean said he believed the number of job opportunities in the state could be increased with additional recreational facilities and a program of industrial development.

On the subject of education, Bean said the Senate majority would study the need for additional money for school improvement and consider revenue potentials under the new assessment equalization program and the "Better Schools" amendment.

The Senate majority also will consider the need for more money not only for interstate and primary highways but for secondary roads "which the Republicans have grossly neglected," Bean said.

"The State Police department is in a very bad plight and should be studied very, very thoroughly," Bean said.

Bean also said he would introduce a resolution that would lead to "a reasonable study of the weaknesses" of the state's "patchwork" tax structure.

Hospital Bids Due Tuesday

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Board of Health will receive bids Tuesday on addition to the Wetzel County Hospital at New Martinsville.

PIEDMONT — Mrs. Gladys Boucher, Baltimore, visited her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maybury, East Hampshire Street, and her father, Lloyd D. Atkins, Ashfield Street.

W.Va. Democrats Begin Drafting New Social Legislation

Ten-Member Steering Group To Be Named In House, Senate

By CARLO J. SALZANO
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Legislation to improve West Virginia's public school program and tighten controls on road commission spending will be developed by the Democratic majority of the Legislature during the next few weeks, it was learned Monday.

Majority party leaders said they also expect to draft legislation to increase both unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation benefits.

Senate President Ralph J. Bean and House Speaker Harry R. Pauley agreed to develop a 10-member steering committee to work out details of the program. The first meeting will be held later this month, probably within two weeks. State Chairman Hulett C. Smith will join in part of the discussions.

The major legislation will deal with schools and roads.

Smith said he hoped legislation could be drawn up whereby each county would be guaranteed 180 days of instruction annually and 10 months' salary would be provided for school teachers, instead of the current nine.

Specific Road Budgets

Smith said some thought would also be given to encouraging counties to use new tax levying powers extended through a constitutional amendment ratified last Nov. 4.

He said the road program probably would be developed so as to call for specific budgets for primary and secondary road construction and maintenance and equipment with a clause preventing the transfer of funds from one account to another.

Pauley said it was impossible for all of the problems of the state to be solved in a 60-day session, "but we can take long strides in this direction and develop long-range programs."

Pauley said he had favored increasing jobless and compensation benefits in past sessions and "I see no reason to change that position now."

Bean said the Senate leadership favored legislation to brighten the state's employment pictures and also a study of the State Police.

Study Revenue Sources

Bean said he believed the number of job opportunities in the state could be increased with additional recreational facilities and a program of industrial development.

On the subject of education, Bean said the Senate majority would study the need for additional money for school improvement and consider revenue potentials under the new assessment equalization program and the "Better Schools" amendment.

The Senate majority also will consider the need for more money not only for interstate and primary highways but for secondary roads "which the Republicans have grossly neglected," Bean said.

"The State Police department is in a very bad plight and should be studied very, very thoroughly," Bean said.

Bean also said he would introduce a resolution that would lead to "a reasonable study of the weaknesses" of the state's "patchwork" tax structure.

Hospital Bids Due Tuesday

Fort Hill Grid Team Is Honored At School

When Fort Hill High's football team whipped Allegany, 21-6, last Thursday, on Thanksgiving Day, it gave the Sentinels their fourth unbeaten season, fifth straight city title and a tie with North Hagerstown for the Cumberland Valley Athletic League honors.

Yesterday, at a special assembly, the school celebrated its winning season and honored the team at a victory celebration in the auditorium.

The cheerleaders led off the program with several cheers following the playing of the school victory song. Douglas Holler, student council president, served as master of ceremonies.

Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education for Allegany County, was introduced along with Clifford Spiker, president of the Fort Hill Booster Club; Delbert Proudfoot, president of the Penn Avenue-Fort Hill Alumni Association, and George Hollar, president of the South Cumberland Businessmen's Association.

John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, baseball coach, spoke on behalf of the school faculty in congratulating the team and coaching staff.

William Hahn, coach, and assistants Wayne Boor and John Frank also gave short talks with Hahn introducing the co-captains, Bob Rowley and Tom Davis, and the other members of the team.

The co-captains, after short speeches, rang the large victory bell 21 times, once for each point scored in the holiday contest.

Heisey, on behalf of the school, then accepted the large trophy which the Sentinels were awarded for sharing the championship of the CVAL. The presentation was made by co-captains Davis and Rowley.

Also attending the assembly was Miss Football X, Joyce Holshey, and her attendants. The program ended with the band playing several selections.

Parking Fine Total Increases

New fees for parking violations began to show their effect in a report by Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming to the Mayor and Council yesterday.

In his report for November, Fleming noted fines totaled $2,224 and arrests 1,130.

The fines, for parking violations, represented an increase over last month when $1,532 was reported and November a year ago when the total was $1,751. In November of 1956, fines amounted to $1,576; in 1955, $1,238; and in 1954, $864.

The new parking violation fees did not go into effect until November 15.

In another phase of his report, Fleming said the Fire Department was called 52 times during November with fire doing "considerable" damage.

B&O Recalls 50 Workers To Bolt & Forge

The B&O Railroad has recalled 50 furloughed workers to the Bolt and Forge Shops here, according to Nelson W. Kaylor, shop superintendent.

Kaylor said the employment at the shops has increased to 300 employes in recent weeks due to better business and also the need for material produced at the local facility.

The recalled workers will have been back at work long enough to receive a Christmas pay check prior to December 25. Some of the men had been out of work for some months.

Jury Returns Awards In Land Suits

A jury in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday returned awards in two land condemnation cases involving property needed by the Cumberland Housing Authority for the third housing project on Oldtown Road near Thomas Street.

Joseph C. Butler and a group of unknown heirs were awarded $10,500 while Cora Snyder and others were awarded $500 for property taken.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presided during the hearings. The jury visited the site to look over the property which had been condemned.

Status Of Kime Questioned By His Attorneys

Attorneys for a veteran city police officer whose leave of absence to be on active duty with the Marine Corps was cancelled, yesterday questioned the action by the Mayor and Council and said it was his right to be reinstated upon his return from duty.

The law firm of Gunter and Geppert in a letter signed by Attorney William H. Geppert, took up the case of S/Sgt. Curtis M. Kime before council yesterday.

It was pointed out that Kime had been on leave of absence since February 25, 1952 while on active duty with the Marine Corps. But council on November 6, 1958, cancelled the leave.

Geppert said Kime is still on active duty and on indefinite extension of enlistment which began in 1952. He said since Kime is a veteran of World War II, he is entitled to reinstatement if he is able to perform his duties. And he added, the city had no basis for its action if it is in conflict with any state statute.

The matter was referred to Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming and City Attorney William R. Carscaden.

On another police matter, council approved the application of Sgt. C. C. Roby, who is 63, to continue in his job for another year. Fleming said Roby works from 5 p. m. to 1 a. m., and does a good job "and we need him."

A janitor and assistant janitor for City Hall were also named. Robert Lee Rosser was named probationary janitor at $229 a month effective November 24. Street Commissioner John J. Long said Rosser has been an employe for some time and this action was taken to straighten out his classification. Kenneth W. Grimes was named extra janitor at City Hall for $229 a month effective November 18. Long said this was necessary to fill in at vacation times.

Boden Again Sworn In As Circuit Court Clerk

Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, was sworn into office for the start of his third four-year term yesterday by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Boden, who is probably the oldest person in point of service in the county government, began his career in 1919 as a clerk under the late Lloyd Shaffer, clerk of court.

For 11 years Boden was chief clerk under Shaffer and held the same post for about the same length of time under Robert Jackson.

In 1948 Boden became clerk of court upon the death of Jackson by virtue of appointment by the judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit.

In 1950 Boden was elected to the first of his four-year terms. He was unopposed in the last general election and primary.

After being sworn in by Judge Harris, the clerk of court then swore into office Edgar M. Lewis, chief deputy sheriff, and deputy sheriffs George Staup and George Harris. Two other deputies will be sworn in later. They are Louis Helman and Paul Haberlein. The sheriff, Edward R. Muir, will also be sworn in for a four-year term of office.

Today the three judges of the Orphans Court, William Abbott, Hugh Stevenson and J. French Van Meter will be sworn in along with A. Charles Stewart, register of wills. Boden will officiate in the ceremony.

Chief Deputy Lewis will be starting his 30th year with the county. He first started as a constable and later was a deputy sheriff under the late George Kemp in 1934.

In the ensuing years he was employed as chief clerk in Trial Magistrates Court and for at least ten years has been chief deputy.

Stewart will be starting another term of office to add to his long career in county service. He has served as county commissioner and as register of wills for a number of terms in years past.

Council Asked For Support By UHF Officials

Officials of the Peoples Community Television Association (UHF) yesterday explained plans for the local system and solicited support of the Mayor and Council.

But council took no stand with Mayor J. Edwin Keech requesting time to "talk it over" among the commissioners before giving an answer.

Lee Marple, president, and William Jenkins appeared to explain the UHF-TV setup which has also been undertaken by other communities and is already in operation in Frostburg.

Marple said permits for a countywide system have been granted and the total cost will be $60,000. He said other communities have already formed associations and have plans underway.

The local drive for donations to install equipment will be "kicked off" Thursday night at a meeting in City Hall auditorium, Marple said, adding that the system is a non-profit, free TV setup.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light made the only other official statement when he said he was reluctant, as a member of council, to take an active part in support of the program, not because he is against it, but because he knows very little about UHF.

If something should happen to the system, which it well might, Light said, he did not want to be on record as endorsing it.

Rather, Light asserted, he felt a decision on UHF to be one for the individual rather than of council.

Light said he did not think it advisable as a member of council to go "out on a limb and say 'Look, here's a good deal, jump on the bandwagon.' The people should make up their own minds and we, as a council, should stay neutral," he continued.

Street Commissioner John J. Long told Marple he was not familiar with the UHF proposal, but would study it and give a report on it.

The agency said Mozdzierz was personally ambitious and his attitude "caused a conflict between the party and society."

WARSAW, Poland (UPI)—Leaders of the International Atomic Energy Agency have arrived for a tour of Polish atomic energy centers. Included in the group was W. Sterling Cole, of the United States, director general of the agency.

New Fire Code Study Offered Local Firms

The city moved yesterday to adopt a fire prevention code but delayed final action until business places affected have a chance to study its provisions.

The code, prepared by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, is a 192-page booklet presentation which council would adopt 'totidem verbis' (word for word).

But when it was read in ordinance form yesterday, Street Commissioner John J. Long suggested certain provisions affecting business establishments should receive further study.

He said owners of these establishments, and he mentioned bowling alleys in particular, might want to familiarize themselves with terms of the new code so they would understand what is required.

The second reading is scheduled next Monday.

The ordinance points out the Underwriters' code has been adopted by a number of large cities. It would also repeal present ordinances and orders of the Mayor and Council which are in conflict. Penalties would be provided for violations, continued violations and the code also would allow enforced removal of prohibited conditions.

Council had mostly a routine session including the reading of several month-end reports from departments.

On financial matters, council ordered the following refunds for overpayment of water and sewage charges: $20.95 to Harry Stegmaier for M. C. Trainor, 400 North Centre Street; $18.90 to Mary W. Sloan, 20 South Centre Street, for property at 609 Sedgwick Street. It also reimbursed J. A. Shipe, 425 Cumberland Street, $52.10 for plumbing cost incurred in tapping a city sewer.

Parking Receipts Up

Inspector Harry Whisner reported today that parking meter receipts the week of November 23 were $804.90 compared to $758.40 the week of November 16 an increase of $46.50.

Cairo, the Arab world's largest city, has succeeded Baghdad as the center of Arabic culture.

205 Marriage Licenses Sold In November

Some 205 marriage licenses were sold during the month of November in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, but that was 14 fewer than were distributed in the corresponding month of 1957.

The 205 new licenses brought the 11-month total this year to 2,455, which is 66 fewer than the 2,521 sold in the first 11 months of last year. That means that 274 will have to be issued in December if 1958 is to end up with 2,729 licenses, the number sold in 1957.

Following are the monthly totals, with the 1957 figure listed first in each case:

January—192 and 180; February—181 and 127; March—215 and 198; April—231 and 237; May—232 and 203; June—298 and 330; July—267 and 250; August—281 and 274; September—220 and 228; October—185 and 233; November—219 and 205.

Amended Suit Is Filed Here

An amended bill of complaint has been filed in Circuit Court by Matthew J. Mullaney, attorney for Joseph H. Reinhart, in which a declaratory judgment is sought against the closing of Canal Street by the City of Cumberland.

The amended bill was required as a result of a ruling by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris made recently after a hearing on a demurrer to the bill by the city.

Judge Harris ruled that the Western Maryland Railway and the Times and Alleganian Company were not listed as parties to the suit in the original complaint.

New fees for parking violations began to show their effect in a report by Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming to the Mayor and Council yesterday.

In his report for November, Fleming noted fines totaled $2,224 and arrests 1,130.

The fines, for parking violations, represented an increase over last month when $1,532 was reported and November a year ago when the total was $1,751. In November of 1956, fines amounted to $1,576; in 1955, $1,238; and in 1954, $864.

The new parking violation fees did not go into effect until November 15.

In another phase of his report, Fleming said the Fire Department was called 52 times during November with fire doing "considerable" damage.

B&O Recalls 50 Workers To Bolt & Forge

The B&O Railroad has recalled 50 furloughed workers to the Bolt and Forge Shops here, according to Nelson W. Kaylor, shop superintendent.

Kaylor said the employment at the shops has increased to 300 employes in recent weeks due to better business and also the need for material produced at the local facility.

The recalled workers will have been back at work long enough to receive a Christmas pay check prior to December 25. Some of the men had been out of work for some months.

Jury Returns Awards In Land Suits

A jury in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday returned awards in two land condemnation cases involving property needed by the Cumberland Housing Authority for the third housing project on Oldtown Road near Thomas Street.

Joseph C. Butler and a group of unknown heirs were awarded $10,500 while Cora Snyder and others were awarded $500 for property taken.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presided during the hearings. The jury visited the site to look over the property which had been condemned.

Matthew J. Mullaney was attorney for the housing authority while Harold E. Naughton represented the two defendants.

Among Indians from Oregon to Alaska, says the National Geographic Magazine, the potlatch was once the winter's main social event. Dancing, singing, and feasting led up to extravagant giving in which the host impoverished himself and his clan in a frenzied bid for prestige.

Status Of Kime Questioned By His Attorneys

Attorneys for a veteran city police officer whose leave of absence to be on active duty with the Marine Corps was cancelled, yesterday questioned the action by the Mayor and Council and said it was his right to be reinstated upon his return from duty.

The law firm of Gunter and Geppert in a letter signed by Attorney William H. Geppert, took up the case of S/Sgt. Curtis M. Kime before council yesterday.

It was pointed out that Kime had been on leave of absence since February 25, 1952 while on active duty with the Marine Corps. But council on November 6, 1958, cancelled the leave.

Geppert said Kime is still on active duty and on indefinite extension of enlistment which began in 1952. He said since Kime is a veteran of World War II, he is entitled to reinstatement if he is able to perform his duties. And he added, the city had no basis for its action if it is in conflict with any state statute.

The matter was referred to Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming and City Attorney William R. Carscaden.

On another police matter, council approved the application of Sgt. C. C. Roby, who is 63, to continue in his job for another year. Fleming said Roby works from 5 p. m. to 1 a. m., and does a good job "and we need him."

A janitor and assistant janitor for City Hall were also named. Robert Lee Rosser was named probationary janitor at $229 a month effective November 24. Street Commissioner John J. Long said Rosser has been an employe for some time and this action was taken to straighten out his classification. Kenneth W. Grimes was named extra janitor at City Hall for $229 a month effective November 18. Long said this was necessary to fill in at vacation times.

Boden Again Sworn In As Circuit Court Clerk

Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, was sworn into office for the start of his third four-year term yesterday by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Boden, who is probably the oldest person in point of service in the county government, began his career in 1919 as a clerk under the late Lloyd Shaffer, clerk of court.

For 11 years Boden was chief clerk under Shaffer and held the same post for about the same length of time under Robert Jackson.

In 1948 Boden became clerk of court upon the death of Jackson by virtue of appointment by the judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit.

In 1950 Boden was elected to the first of his four-year terms. He was unopposed in the last general election and primary.

After being sworn in by Judge Harris, the clerk of court then swore into office Edgar M. Lewis chief deputy sheriff, and deputy sheriffs George Staup and George Harris. Two other deputies will be sworn in later. They are Louis Helman and Paul Haberlein. The sheriff, Edward R. Muir, will also be sworn in for a four-year term of office.

Today the three judges of the Orphans Court, William Abbott, Hugh Stevenson and J. French Van Meter will be sworn in along with A. Charles Stewart, register of wills. Boden will officiate in the ceremony.

Chief Deputy Lewis will be starting his 30th year with the county. He first started as a constable and later was a deputy sheriff under the late George Kemp in 1934.

In the ensuing years he was employed as chief clerk in Trial Magistrates Court and for at least ten years has been chief deputy.

Stewart will be starting another term of office to add to his long career in county service. He has served as county commissioner and as register of wills for a number of terms in years past.

Council Asked For Support By UHF Officials

Officials of the Peoples Community Television Association (UHF) yesterday explained plans for the local system and solicited support of the Mayor and Council.

But council took no stand with Mayor J. Edwin Keech requesting time to "talk it over" among the commissioners before giving an answer.

Lee Marple, president, and William Jenkins appeared to explain the UHF-TV setup which has also been undertaken by other communities and is already in operation in Frostburg.

Marple said permits for a countywide system have been granted and the total cost will be $60,000. He said other communities have already formed associations and have plans underway.

The local drive for donations to install equipment will be "kicked off" Thursday night at a meeting in City Hall auditorium, Marple said, adding that the system is a non-profit, free TV setup.

Water Commissioner G. Ray Light made the only other official statement when he said he was reluctant, as a member of council, to take an active part in support of the program, not because he is against it, but because he knows very little about UHF.

If something should happen to the system, which it well might, Light said, he did not want to be on record as endorsing it.

Rather, Light asserted, he felt a decision on UHF to be one for the individual rather than of council.

Light said he did not think it advisable as a member of council to go "out on a limb and say 'Look, here's a good deal, jump on the bandwagon.' The people should make up their own minds and we, as a council, should stay neutral," he continued.

Street Commissioner John J. Long told Marple he was not familiar with the UHF proposal, but would study it and give a report on it.

WARSAW, Poland (UPI)—Leaders of the International Atomic Energy Agency have arrived for a tour of Polish atomic energy centers. Included in the group was W. Sterling Cole, of the United States, director general of the agency.

New Fire Code Study Offered Local Firms

The city moved yesterday to adopt a fire prevention code but delayed final action until business places affected have a chance to study its provisions.

The code, prepared by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, is a 192-page booklet presentation which council would adopt 'totidem verbis' (word for word).

But when it was read in ordinance form yesterday, Street Commissioner John J. Long suggested certain provisions affecting business establishments should receive further study.

He said owners of these establishments, and he mentioned bowling alleys in particular, might want to familiarize themselves with terms of the new code so they would understand what is required.

The second reading is scheduled next Monday.

The ordinance points out the Underwriters' code has been adopted by a number of large cities. It would also repeal present ordinances and orders of the Mayor and Council which are in conflict. Penalties would be provided for violations, continued violations and the code also would allow enforced removal of prohibited conditions.

Council had mostly a routine session including the reading of several month-end reports from departments.

On financial matters, council ordered the following refunds for overpayment of water and sewage charges: $20.95 to Harry Stegmaier for M. C. Trainor, 400 North Centre Street; $18.90 to Mary W. Sloan, 20 South Centre Street, for property at 609 Sedgwick Street. It also reimbursed J. A. Shipe, 425 Cumberland Street, $52.10 for plumbing cost incurred in tapping a city sewer.

Parking Receipts Up

Inspector Harry Whisner reported today that parking meter receipts the week of November 23 were $804.90 compared to $758.40 the week of November 16 an increase of $46.50.

Cairo, the Arab world's largest city, has succeeded Baghdad as the center of Arabic culture.

205 Marriage Licenses Sold In November

Some 205 marriage licenses were sold during the month of November in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, but that was 14 fewer than were distributed in the corresponding month of 1957.

The 205 new licenses brought the 11-month total this year to 2,455, which is 66 fewer than the 2,521 sold in the first 11 months of last year. That means that 274 will have to be issued in December if 1958 is to end up with 2,729 licenses, the number sold in 1957.

Following are the monthly totals, with the 1957 figure listed first in each case:

January—192 and 180; February—181 and 127; March—215 and 198; April—231 and 237; May—232 and 203; June—298 and 330; July—267 and 250; August—281 and 274; September—220 and 228; October—185 and 233; November—219 and 205.

Amended Suit Is Filed Here

An amended bill of complaint has been filed in Circuit Court by Matthew J. Mullaney, attorney for Joseph H. Reinhart, in which a declaratory judgment is sought against the closing of Canal Street by the City of Cumberland.

The amended bill was required as a result of a ruling by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris made recently after a hearing on a demurrer to the bill by the city.

Judge Harris ruled that the Western Maryland Railway and the Times and Alleganian Company were not listed as parties to the suit in the original complaint.

Each school Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a homemaking pin manufactured by Josten's which represents the slogan, "Home is Where The Heart Is." The school of each state winner will receive a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

employes and company vehicles is also included.

The structure was built by the local contracting firm of John I. Vandegrift and Company. Construction work was started earlier this year.

Employes are now using the center although there are finishing touches to be completed. Landscaping the grounds, planting of shrubbery and laying of blacktop driveways and parking areas is essentially completed.

The new two-building unit will permit consolidation of a number of the company's operations which have been operating from quarters in various locations throughout the city, and will thus be able to offer better service with the least amount of inconvenience to the public, according to company officials.

Won't Affect Offices

Opening of the center will not affect the present company headquarters at Union Street, which will remain as offices for district administration. The merchandise sales store, bill-paying counter and the accounting offices will still be located on Liberty Street.

Student Halts Bus When Driver Dies Of Heart Attack

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—A 17-year-old high school student halted a school bus carrying 25 students near here Monday after the driver died at the wheel of an apparent heart attack.

Police said Edward Sowell of nearby Pursglove rushed to the front of the bus when driver Alpheus Tennant, 45, of Haig, slumped over the wheel.

The bus was headed toward a ravine off Monongahela Boulevard on U. S. 19-W. Va. 7 west of Morgantown. Young Sowell put on the foot brake on the bus, bringing it to a halt. He then got out and flagged traffic to obtain help.

The bus was carrying students from University High School in Morgantown to the nearby Star City area. Tennant was dead when authorities arrived at the scene.

Firemen List New Phone Number

MOOREFIELD — L. L. McConnell, president of the Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company, suggests to all subscribers on the lines of the Hardy Telephone Company that the number Lehigh 8-2500 be written in their phone books.

The number Lehigh 8-2500 is the fire alarm number which automatically sets off the fire siren when called. This number is to be called only in case of fire or emergency, McConnell warned, and to call on business matters the number is Lehigh 8-2928.

He pointed out that in calling the fire company from one of the county phones, valuable time is lost due to having to call long distance through the Lost City, Winchester, Va. and Cumberland, Md. exchanges.

Better Health Chart For U.S. Economy

A more accurate formula for charting economic currents may be coming into official use now that the dust raised by the recession is settling.

Attention currently is centered upon a method of computation used by the Committee for Economic Development, a private group whose studies have some acceptance. It is admitted that the U. S. Bureau of the Census formula that was employed through the recent economic downswing gave a distorted picture.

The committee's computations show that unemployment never was as bad as the official figures of the bureau had it, though the degree of difference was not great. The committee also recorded the unemployment peak four months earlier than the federal agency did and found that the decline since was greater. It found that the improvement in 1958 had matched the 1949-50 recovery rate and had been faster than that of 1954-55.

Both organizations found that unemployment reached a peak in April at 7.5 per cent. A period of decline followed. But the committee did not chart the later and higher peak which the Census Bureau placed at 7.6 per cent in August. By October the committee calculated that the rate had fallen to 6.4 per cent; the bureau showed a level of 7.1 per cent.

These variations can be traced to differences in applying seasonal adjustments to compensate for the misleading bulge caused by spring and summer increases in employment on farms and in the construction field—and similar distortions in the fall when students go back to high school and college.

It is important that federal agencies, in their efforts to make the official studies of the economy as accurate as possible, are open to suggestion. Changes should be made when their value has been demonstrated.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Republican Party

The problem which faces the Republican Party is not unity but what to unite about. In a word the party has to stand for something specific, understandable and sufficiently noble to move men and women to sacrifice their time and energy in what appears to them a great cause. If politics only means getting jobs, one party is as good as another, depending upon the locality.

The last election does not help one reach any conclusions about the Republican Party. Those who were defeated belonged to all points of view. Charles Potter of Michigan, an opportunist with modernist tendencies, was defeated as was John W. Bricker, a conservative with idealistic overtones. George W. Malone, a conservative, was defeated and Edward J. Thye, a liberal, was also defeated.

On the other hand, Barry Goldwater, the most consistent and philosophical conservative in the Senate was re-elected, as was William Langer, who tends to be socialistic.

There is no telling from any of this what the Republican voter believes or wants. There is no telling whether there actually is a Republican Party in terms of ideas. This weakness of the party neither President Eisenhower nor Vice President Nixon has met in a convincing manner as the votes in the last election proved. On the other hand, William Knowland in California, John W. Bricker of Ohio and Barry Goldwater of Arizona stood on practically the same platform. Knowland and Bricker were defeated; Goldwater was elected. While it is impossible to estimate the votes of the American people on the basis of ideas alone, it is possible to say that no such compulsive issue was raised as Cheap Money versus the Gold Standard, High versus Low Tariffs, or Prohibition to stir the people to excitement. Even in New York State, where the Republicans won an outstanding victory, the campaign was personal, like a bathing beauty contest, and had nothing to do with the principles before the American people.

The last theoretician of the Republican Party was Senator Robert A. Taft and the last attempt of the Republicans to discover what they meant was the Mackinac Conference (1943). Unfortunately, too little came of this and the party continued to split into factions which became smaller and smaller. The last great rallying post was over Senator Joe McCarthy. The McCarthyites were large in numbers and most of them have not voted Republican since he was practically read out of the party. The Senator who did most to defeat McCarthy was Arthur V. Watkins of Utah who was himself defeated in the last election.

These straws of sentiment and thought do not prove a point. In fact, nothing was established in the last election which can be used to indicate what the Republican Party will stand for in 1960. The Republicans, for instance, have to decide whether they will be the Conservative Party of the United States or whether they should attempt to run a race with the radical branch of the Democratic Party or try to coalesce with what is left of the Southern Conservative Democrats.

It is now well-established as the minority party, which can elect a President on personality but which has only gained control of Congress twice since the election of 1932. The 80th Congress will long be remembered as an effective body, but President Truman advertised it as the "do-nothing Congress," which was neither true nor sensible. However, since the 80th Congress, the Democrats have prevailed. They have prevailed during most of the Eisenhower regime.

Eisenhower's attempt to introduce something called Modern Republicanism has ended in a fiasco everywhere except in New York where it may be represented by Nelson Rockefeller, whose precise political orientation requires considerable clarification. Modern Republicanism has no particular meaning or character; it cannot be defined in understandable terms; it cannot be differentiated from the kind of Democratic Party that Senator Lyndon Johnson represents. Therefore, Republicans generally do not understand it and do not vote for it.

It is not likely that the Republicans will have, in 1960, such a personality as President Eisenhower to be their candidate. They will have to mean something in that year. They will need a philosophy of action. They will need a purpose. They will need a rallying cry. Without them, they will have no appeal to those who do not choose to vote for the Democrats.

A Plea For Morality In International Politics

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Morality is back in the news — the morality of nations and the importance of maintaining moral principles in the conduct of the foreign policy of the United States. Secretary of State Dulles gave morality a headline the other day when he spoke at Cleveland before the National Council of Churches of Christ at a meeting described as a "world order study conference."

Mr. Dulles is himself a prominent Christian layman whose basic fidelity to moral principles in world affairs has at times brought down on his head the criticism of those intellectuals of today who rationalize expediency as practical. By this is meant, of course, that the end justifies the means.

Mr. Dulles rather wistfully lamented the decline of morals in international society. He said:

"Today when despotism again rides high, our society is closely observed. Many find us lacking.

"In terms of faith, we seem unable to articulate a basic philosophy for our times which carries deep conviction and strong appeal.

"In terms of works, we seem to be treating freedom as an opportunity for moral license and our productive power often seems to be dedicated to frivolities rather than fulfilling vital human needs.

"In some respects, we seem to be as materialistic as the Communists, but without their supporting philosophy and efficiency.

"Surely, when we concern ourselves with 'change,' we must not ignore the need to change ourselves."

The word "we," as used here by Secretary Dulles, includes the many political leaders in Western countries and particularly those spokesmen of modernism who want peace at any price and therefore do not wish to articulate or accept any moral philosophy in international relations. They are willing to make any concession to the Communists — if it will only eliminate the annoying intrusions of armament expense into their otherwise profitable and pleasurable existence. The Communists are betting on this abandonment of moral principle.

Even the very meeting which Mr. Dulles addressed found some of the Protestant clergymen ready to take unto their bosoms the murderers in Red China and ready to forget the sins and crimes committed by the Communists in Korea.

How can there be morality in the world if aggressors are to be rewarded — as Vice President Nixon asked a London audience this week — and how can there be security if the aggressor knows that there will be no resistance to his acts as he continues to reach out into smaller countries and one by one conquers them by subversion?

There is no need to accuse Mr. Dulles or the President of surrounding their policies with an atmosphere of high morality or self-righteousness. These two dedicated men would in all humbleness be the first to concede their mistakes as they have tried to steer the ship of state through the waters made rough and often impassable by Communist schemes and plots.

But the President and the Secretary of State have tried to hold aloft the banner of decency and morality in the relations of states. The American republic has not sought a square foot of any other country's territory nor robbed any nation of its sovereignty. Mr. Dulles rightly deplores the philosophy of those who believe in "power politics" and in the counsel of those exponents of a foreign policy shifty in character that would yield to expediency. He said:

"Our collective security efforts would surely collapse if our free world associates felt they were tied to policies which shifted under the dictates of passing considerations as to what was expedient from the standpoint of the United States. They do not always like it when we adhere to principle. But they would be even more unhappy if we had no principles. . . .

"Nothing could be more dangerous than to operate on the theory that if hostile and evil forces do not readily change, it is always we who must change to accommodate them. Communism is stubborn for the wrong; let us be steadfast for the right.

"A capacity to change is indispensable. Equally indispensable is the capacity to hold fast that which is good. So it is that while we seek to adapt our policies to the inevitability of change, we resist aspects of change which counter the enduring principles of moral law."

Those passages are in themselves enduring. For they strike at the root of the attitudes of surrender that are so often obscured behind high-sounding words advocating "disengagement" or "adjustment." Such are the counsels that have given the Kremlin much encouragement in recent months in their drive to oust from the Department of State the man who has the courage to say:

"Our faith is that each individual has his origin and destiny in God and thus has a spiritual nature and personal dignity. Therefore we must oppose the treatment of the individual as merely an animated bit of matter to be used to promote the organization of the world in accordance with materialistic principles."

Morality among states is not any more difficult to understand than it is among individuals. Simple honesty and trustworthiness and fair treatment are still the basic principles which America seeks to establish in the relations of governments. This is the Dulles-Eisenhower policy. It is difficult to understand only where there is unwillingness to accept its stern morality.

Senator Gore's Sister Involved In Senate Post Office Shortage

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Sen. Albert Gore, the Tennessee Democrat, is red-faced over the fact that his sister is under investigation in the Senate Post Office for a $60 shortage. A postal inspector has been called in to probe the deficiency.

Mrs. Grace Keyes, the Senator's sister, told the inspector that she had placed $60 on the desk of Oscar Lollis, chief clerk, in payment for stamps, but Lollis says he can't remember her doing it, though he doesn't question her word. At any rate the money has vanished.

Despite the small amount, any tampering with postal funds is a federal offense, and the culprit can be sent to jail. While no one really thinks the Senator's sister was responsible, people are wondering why she has a job in the Senate Post Office in the first place. She is not a particularly efficient worker. Besides, her senatorial brother has one of the prize Black Angus herds in the nation and is not poverty stricken.

Man Behind The Trib

"Brownie" Reid, editor of the newspaper long owned by his family, is bowing out of the New York Herald Tribune this week. He has been offered three different jobs by the Eisenhower administration and will take one of them.

The man who found the salvaging angel for the "Trib," Tex McCrary, is also bowing out. McCrary, who got plenty of brickbats during the Sherman Adams-Goldfine battle, did a terrific job behind the scenes of finding two standby angels for the financially faltering Trib. One was a Democrat. Finally, McCrary's old wartime friend, Ambassador John Hay Whitney, moved in and put up the cash to carry one of the most historic Republican papers in the East.

If it hadn't been for McCrary the paper might have folded or gone Democratic. Paradoxically, some Republicans are now panning him.

Nixon's Disengagement

Vice President Nixon has been going through what the diplomats call "disengagement." Political observers, who are more blunt, call it "disenchantment," while some of the politicians, who are even blunter, call it "disfranchisement."

No matter what you call it, Nixon is moving away from Eisenhower. It's not a one-way operation, however. Ike is also moving away from Dick, and some of the boys at the White House are quite bitter toward the Vice President. They aren't saying much, but here is the evidence, some minor, some important:

Minor Evidence — When the President left for Augusta, he took on his plane George Champion, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, controlled by the Rockefeller family, with David Rockefeller as head of its finance committee. Champion was Ike's golfing companion in Augusta.

Major Evidence—There is no indication that Nixon called at the White House to say goodbye or for instructions for his important trip to London just before Ike left for Augusta. The White House, when queried, refused to confirm or deny this. Nixon was leaving for London where Eisenhower had lived during much of the war, where he delivered his famous Guild Hall speech. Nixon was also visiting a monarch, Queen Elizabeth, whom Ike knows well. Yet there was no last minute call before the two men departed, one for Augusta, one for London.

Major Evidence—Nixon did not attend the last meeting of the Cabinet and the National Security Council before he flew to London. Instead his office issued a statement that the Committee on Government Contracts was meeting and Nixon, who is head of this committee, would attend.

The Committee on Government Contracts is not a pressing or highly important operation. On the other hand, Nixon has made much of the fact that he attends regular Cabinet and security council meetings and presides over them in the President's absence. Furthermore, with the Berlin crisis increasing in gravity, Nixon needed to be posted to discuss the crisis with the Brtish when he arrived in London.

Major Evidence—Holding an off-the-record conference with British newsmen before leaving for London, Nixon dropped word that he was operating semi-independently of the State Department. His speeches, he said, would reflect his own views, though on important matters such as Berlin they would reflect the Administration's views.

Asked whether his speeches were being cleared with the State Department, he replied:

"No, I never have my speeches cleared by the State Department. Of course I take the best advice available, but I don't consult anyone regarding my speeches. They are my own. My position is unique."

The above evidence, wrapped together with Nixon's long-distance phone conversations in October forcing Dulles and Eisenhower to reverse their stand against criticizing Democrats on Foreign Policy, spells more and more "disengagement."

The disengagement is based chiefly on the fact Nixon cannot afford to be tied to an Administration which has taken the worst beating in an off-year election that anyone can remember. Nixon is a cool and calculating politician. He knows that although the President tried to stem this tide, he was only able to fill about half the halls on his speaking trips to San Francisco and Los Angeles. Nixon also knows that the only President in 25 years who was kept sitting in a hotel suite in New York City during an election campaign is the present incumbent. Roosevelt and Truman were kept busy touring all over Manhattan, waving to cheering crowds. Ike was kept in his hotel suite because the Rockefeller handlers were afraid of too much identification with Ike.

Nixon too is afraid of too much identification. Hence the policy of disengagement. As far as Ike is concerned, those around the White House say that it's mutual. The Stassen speech on the White House steps plus Ike's failure to phone Nixon at Colorado Springs from Denver appear to substantiate this.

Labor Monopoly

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — In barring the merger of Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube companies, U.S. Judge Edward Weinfeld said he did so because he saw a "reasonable probability" that it would "tend to create a monopoly."

There is a monopoly in the steel industry. In motor cars. In the air lines. In trucking. In fact, in almost every line. But not the kind of monopoly the judge is talking about.

This is the labor monopoly. There is no probability about this one.

This monopoly can and will shut down a part or a whole industry.

The favorite tactic is to pick off one company at a time in an industry, and thus force a more liberal settlement than might be obtained if the strike were general.

This settlement then sets the pattern for the industry, and in the case of the big unions, it will set the pattern for other industries. Walter Reuther cannot sit by while his union political rival —David MacDonald—of the steel workers gets a better deal, and vice versa.

Company managements, particularly where they have little or no stake other than their pensions in the company, will go along with unsound, inflationary wage contracts.

The public is the one that pays the bill. The wage increases are passed along to the public in higher prices.

Where the public is also a shareowner in the particular industry, it gets a double pinch. The shareowner's profits are reduced and the prices he pays for his consumer goods goes up.

The biggest threat—long term —to the economy is inflation. The major factor in this inflation is the wage-price spiral, over which the Federal Reserve has no control.

The higher wages and increased fringe benefits are running ahead of productivity. The resulting higher costs can only come out of profits—returns to the shareowners—the risk takers —or from higher prices.

In addition to the squeeze on the pocketbook, the public in the period of struggle is inconvenienced. The best example of the public be damned is the current wave of strikes against the air lines.

One major air line was out of business more than five weeks. Two other leading carriers were shut down for the Thanksgiving holiday—one of the peak travel periods. The strikes are as much against the public as against the companies.

In the anti-trust law cases, such as Bethlehem-Youngstown, one of the points of the court is that such deals "tend" to lessen competition. That this will result in higher prices to the consumer. The public.

When a labor monopoly does the same thing, that is a different story. Nothing is done.

Common And Uncommon Causes Of Headaches

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Clues on the cause of headache may be obtained by noting the severity, frequency, duration, and location of the pain. It is obvious, for example, that a person who has suffered from the same type of headache over a period of 20 years does not have a brain tumor. These lesions progress in severity and are fatal unless removed within a short time. A more serious origin is suspected whenever the individual complains of head pain that is unlike anything he had before.

Sinus headaches are more noticeable upon rising in the morning and may be aggravated by stooping. Pain varies in intensity but tends to disappear as the morning wears on. It subsides suddenly when the passageway opens and the drainage occurs.

There is no rhyme or reason in many of the headaches attributed to eyestrain or errors in refraction. Discomfort from this source is located behind and above the eyes and is precipitated or aggravated by use of the eyes. It is likely to develop in the latter part of the afternoon and diminishes after resting.

Tension headaches are the penalty many persons pay for being under too much stress and strain. They appear early in the evening and are most noticeable in the back of the neck. Pain often extends down into the shoulder or upward into the top of the head and the forehead.

The victim of migraine usually is an intense, ambitious person who gets upset when he does not reach his objective. Pain is of vascular (blood vessel) origin in contrast to tension headache, which affects muscles. Migraine runs in families and distress is confined to one side of the head. It is throbbing in nature and often is preceded by flashes of light or numbness and tingling in an extremity.

High blood pressure, arteriosclerosis, and Bright's disease may be associated with generalized headache or distress confined to the back of the head. It is more common at night or on awakening in the morning. Allergic headaches generally are brought on by eating certain foods or exposure to allergens.

TESTING FOR VIRUS

H. W. writes: How is a person tested for a virus in the body?

REPLY

The services of a laboratory equipped for these special studies are required. Sputum or nasal secretions are examined when a respiratory infection exists, whereas the spinal fluid is studied if meningitis or encephalitis is suspected. Other tests depend upon the location of the diseased organs.

HELP FOR THE NEUROTIC

F. R. writes: Is there a way to cure psychoneurosis without going to a psychiatrist?

REPLY

This depends upon the severity of the condition and how long it has existed. Most cases can be managed without the expert guidance of a psychiatrist, through common sense medicine. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on psychoneurosis.

TYPES AND STRAINS

R. W. writes: How many types of flu are there?

REPLY

Three: A, B, and C, so-named in the order in which they were discovered. Each type has different strains. Asian flu, for example, is a strain of type A.

FRUIT PEELS

C. T. writes: Do orange and lemon peelings have any food value?

REPLY

Very little. They contain citrin, a mixture of hesperidin and eriodictyol.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Two advertising tycoons, dining in an expensive restaurant that befitted their expense accounts, fell into a violent argument. One beckoned a waiter to ask, "Could you lend us a dime to settle a bet?"

The waiter produced the dime, the coin was flipped, the argument settled—and eventually the check was produced. One item thereon startled the tycoons — even though they were only signing the agency's name. It read, "Loan of a dime: 25c."

Cedric Adams tells of two dauntless fishermen who were trolling for muskellunge on a lake in northern Minnesota. The muskies were vicious that day, and snapping at everything—but they absolutely refused to be hooked.

"I say we quit," said one fisherman finally. "Okay by me," agreed the other. "I don't mind them having Sunday dinner off my bait, but what gets me is when they shove their heads up, lean back on their flippers, and use my line for dental floss!"

The new two-building unit will permit consolidation of a number of the company's operations which have been operating from quarters in various locations throughout the city, and will thus be able to offer better service with the least amount of inconvenience to the public, according to company officials.

Won't Affect Offices

Opening of the center will not affect the present company headquarters at Union Street, which will remain as offices for district administration. The merchandise sales store, bill-paying counter and the accounting offices will still be located on Liberty Street.

The service, meter and stores department, however, have left their Union Street location and the line and engineering departments have now vacated their Centre Street location.

Sen. See suggested that the plan be submitted and taken before the Board of Natural Resources Then it could be discussed by legislators from all Western Maryland counties' who could take it before Governor-elect Millard E. Tawes.

Wants In Mountains

Delegation Chairman Fred B. Driscoll urged that the facility be put in the mountain area of the state.

George D. Walters, vice chairman of the Department of Game and Inland Fish, said the plan will work in with the program of Frostburg State Teachers College, and urged, "Let's do something."

Del. Driscoll said the Allegany County Delegation will discuss the proposal with R. Bowen Hardesty, president of the Frostburg college.

Senator See told Dr. Cronin legislators here favor the proposal and urged him to "talk it up in other counties."

At present, the department operates the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory at Solomons Island, the Inland Resources division which studies game, mammals, fish and forests of the state and a Conservation Education division which tries to educate the public, chiefly through school teachers, about Maryland's natural resources and their conservation.

Mountaineers Trim Furman Quint, 76-67

Jerry West Scores 29 Points In First Game Of Campaign

GREENVILLE, S. C. (UPI)—All - American candidate Jerry West scored 29 points Monday night to lead defending national champion West Virginia to a come - from - behind 76-67 victory over Furman.

The Mountaineers' victory—the 37th in a row in the Southern Conference—came at the foul line. West Virginia dunked 22 - of - 32 charity tosses in its season opener while Furman dropped in only 13-of-23.

West Virginia moved ahead 24-12 in the early minutes but Furman rallied to take the lead at 29-28. The Paladins led 38-36 at the half.

With West and guard Bucky Bolyard, who scored 18 points, leading the way, the Mountaineers tied the score at 51-51 and then at 60 and 62 before finally taking the lead for keeps at 67-65 with 3:50 remaining.

Strong floor play by the Paladins enabled them to move out in front four times but they saw those leads diminish to a tight Mountaineer defense that kept them outside and dependent on long shots.

Dick Wright, all - conference guard last season, and Byron Pinson each scored 20 points for Furman in its debut at the new Greenville Memorial Auditorium.

West Virginia will tangle with another Southern Conference foe, VMI, Tuesday night in Bluefield.

Zernitz Wins Over LaStarza

New England Heavy Victor At St. Nick

NEW YORK (UPI)—Unheralded Larry Zernitz swarmed over Roland LaStarza Monday night and spoiled the former heavyweight challenger's comeback attempt by winning a split 10-round decision at St. Nicholas Arena.

LaStarza of New York was a pitiful imitation of the once capable performer who twice fought Rocky Marciano, once for the world title. Roland hadn't fought in 13 months and he looked it.

Zernitz of Springfield, Mass., weighing 199¾ pounds to La Starza's 196½, tore after the ex-challenger in every round and gave him practically no punching room.

On a rounds basis referee Teddy Martin favored Zernitz, 8-2, and judge Artie Aidala agreed, 6-3-1. But judge Paul Botwinik surprisingly favored LaStarza, 5-4-1. The United Press International had Zernitz in front, 7-2-1.

LaStarza, 31, was favored at 9 to 5, but Zernitz, 25, registered his sixth straight victory, all this year.

The non-televised bout was supposed to be the start of Roland's third attempt at a comeback since he was knocked out by Marciano in the 11th round of their title fight, Sept. 24, 1953. Roland hadn't fought since Oct. 8, 1957 when he won a 10-round decision over Al Anderson but then had to become inactive because of operations on both elbows for chips and spurs.

A crowd of 2,102 paid $4,534.

48 College Grid Players Are Drafted

Packers, Lions Land Duncan, Pietrosante

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Iowa quarterback Randy Duncan, selected by the Green Bay Packers, was the No. 1 choice in the annual National Football League draft Monday.

Duncan, 21, pinpoint passer and field brain of the Rose Bowl bound Big Ten champion, was one of 10 players chosen by the pros from the perennially powerful Western Conference.

48 Players Selected

Of the 48 players selected in four rounds of drafting, nine hailed from the wide open Southwest Conference, seven from the Southeastern Conference, five from the Big Eight and only four from the Eastern section of the country.

The Los Angeles Rams reaped the biggest harvest as the pros opened the 1958 college grab bag and dipped in for future stars. The Rams came up with nine players, their regular quota of four plus five secured in trades with other league teams in the past year. Detroit bagged seven and Cleveland and San Francisco five each during the four-hour session.

Duncan is a six-foot 180-pounder. Green Bay hopes he will solve its passing quarterback problem. The downtrodden Packers, 1-8-1 in the NFL this season, had first pick under the draft rules which calls for selections from last to first as of the standings the day prior to the draft meeting.

Duncan Led Big Ten

Duncan led the Big Ten in total offense in 1958, with 1,706 yards in nine games. He completed 101 of 172 passes for 1,346 yards, 11 touchdowns and an excellent 58.7 pass completion percentage. A former Des Moines high school star, Duncan has been the passing scourge of Big Ten opponents the past three years.

After Green Bay pried the lid off the draft, the Rams, wielding the choice acquired from the Philadelphia Eagles in a deal which landed quarterback Norman Van Brocklin in Philadelphia, picked Dick Bass, the nation's collegiate total offense leader.

The Rams took Bass even though the 190-pound native of Vallejo, Calif., has another year of eligibility at the College of the Pacific. Bass was one of a number of players selected who have another year in college. These choices, so-called "red shirts," are eligible for draft since their original class will have graduated by June.

Lions Get Pietrosante

The first round was completed this way:

The Chicago Cardinals taking Mississippi State's quarterback; Bill Stacy; Washington grabbed Don Allard, Boston College passer; San Francisco took Dave Baker, a fine defensive halfback of Oklahoma; Detroit latched on to Notre Dame's smashing fullback Nick Pietrosante.

The Chicago Bears named Don Clark, Ohio State halfback; San Francisco exercised a Pittsburgh choice and took Don James, 245-pound Ohio State center; Los Angeles collared Paul Dickson, Baylor tackle; New York picked Lee Grosscup, leading passer in the nation in 1957 at Utah; Cleveland selected Rich Kreitling, pass - catching Illinois end; and Baltimore iced Jackie Burkett, Auburn's junior center.

Coaches Vote Tigers 1958 Grid Champs

LSU Tops UPI Poll, Iowa Is Runner-Up

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Louisiana State Tigers, who used a 33-man "first team" to compile major college football's only perfect record this fall, Monday were voted 1958 national champions by United Press International's Board of Coaches.

Coach Paul Dietzel's Tigers, picked to finish ninth in their own 12-team Southeastern Conference, instead defeated their 10 opponents to win the league title and a Jan. 1 Sugar Bowl date with Clemson. This performance earned the Tigers 29 first-place votes in the final balloting by the 35 leading coaches who rate the nation's teams weekly for UPI.

Iowa Is Runner Up

Four coaches gave their first-place votes to Iowa's Rose Bowl-bound Hawkeyes, who finished second in the final ratings. Army, which finished third, received one first-place vote. The other first-place vote went to the Air Force Academy, which wound up eighth.

Auburn finished fourth, Oklahoma fifth, Wisconsin sixth and Ohio State, the 1957 champion, seventh. The Air Force Academy, bracketed with Louisiana State as the surprise teams of the campaign, was eighth. Its Cotton Bowl opponent, Texas Christian, was ninth. Syracuse, Oklahoma's Orange Bowl rival, rounded out the top 10.

Will Get Trophy

Louisiana State received a total of 331 points, only 19 shy of a perfect score of 350 in the final voting. The Tigers will be awarded a permanent trophy by United Press International.

Runnerup Iowa, the Big Ten champion, received 275 points and Army 255. Auburn received 224, Oklahoma 174, Wisconsin 170, Ohio State 117, the Air Force Academy 75, Texas Christian 74 and Syracuse 64.

Only eight other teams received votes in the final balloting. Purdue was 11th with 54 points. It was followed by Mississippi, 41; Clemson, 24; Notre Dame, 22; Florida, 9; California, 8; Northwestern 6, and Southern Methodist, 2.

ELKINS, W. Va. (UPI)—Flashy Paul Wilcox grabbed 20 rebounds and scored 27 points Monday night to spark Davis & Elkins to a 95-60 West Virginia Conference basketball victory over Potomac State.

The Senators took the lead from the start and were ahead 42-38 at the half.

Don Fowler and John Warren scored 17 and 12 points for D&E, while Dan McFadden and Frank Neal each had 14 points for the Catamounts.

Wolfpack Triumphs

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—North Carolina State unveiled its 1958-59 basketball squad Monday with a decisive 70-54 intersectional victory over Penn State.

Allegany County's Deer Kill To Exceed 230 On Opening Day

Six Stations Report; Kenneth Hartsock Bags 183-Pounder

Allegany county's unofficial deer kill for the opening day of the six-day season yesterday was 230, according to reports from six out of seven checking stations in Allegany and Washington counties.

No report was available from the Westernport Police Station and the total should exceed 230 when that is received.

The record opening day's kill was reported in 1957 when the total hit an all-time high of 298. In 1956 a total of 245 whitetails were slain on the first day of the season.

At the LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police, a total of 104 animals were checked and 88 of this number were brought down in Allegany county. Graydon Dunlap reported that 88 Allegany County kills were checked at Shipway's Inn while 34 were reported checked at Lewis' Store, Oldtown.

Hoffman's Inn, Sideling Hill, reported that 37 of the 58 deer checked there were killed in Allegany county. Six of the 50 brought to the Hancock station were shot in Allegany county. A total of 113 were checked at Ankeney's Store, Clear Spring, and 11 were bagged in Allegany.

Credit for bagging the largest deer on opening day went to Kenneth Hartsock of 915 Maryland Avenue. He bagged a 10 point, 183 pound buck on Pine Hill. At least a half dozen women hunters were successful on the first day.

Allegany county kills reported Monday were as follows:

Station	No.
Lewis' Store, Oldtown	34
State Police, LaVale	88
Shipway's Inn, Green Ridge	54
Hoffman's Inn, Sideling Hill	37
Hancock	6
Clear Spring	11
Total	230

Lambert Trophy Is Won By Army

NEW YORK (UPI) — Army, which climaxed its first undefeated football season since 1949 by whipping Navy last Saturday, Monday was named winner of the 23rd annual Lambert trophy.

The 10-man selection committee of coaches, sports writers and broadcasters gave Army (8-0-1) a rating of 9.9 out of a possible 10 points. Army's triumph in the balloting was clear-cut but not unanimous. The Cadets received all the first-place votes except one, which was cast for Syracuse. Syracuse (8-1) finished second in the final balloting with 9.0 points.

Navy (6-3) was third with 7.2 points, Penn State (6-3-1) fourth with 6.95 and Pittsburgh (5-4-1) fifth with 6.55. Rutgers (8-1) was sixth with 4.3 points. Holy Cross (6-2) was seventh with 4.2, Dartmouth (7-2) was eighth with 3.3, Boston College (6-3) was ninth with 2.3 and Princeton (6-3) was tenth with 0.7.

Army last won the Lambert Trophy in 1953. The Cadets also captured it in 1944, 1945, 1946, 1948 and 1949.

Better Health Chart For U.S. Economy

A more accurate formula for charting economic currents may be coming into official use now that the dust raised by the recession is settling.

Attention currently is centered upon a method of computation used by the Committee for Economic Development, a private group whose studies have some acceptance. It is admitted that the U. S. Bureau of the Census formula that was employed through the recent economic downswing gave a distorted picture.

The committee's computations show that unemployment never was as bad as the official figures of the bureau had it, though the degree of difference was not great. The committee also recorded the unemployment peak four months earlier than the federal agency did and found that the decline since was greater. It found that the improvement in 1958 had matched the 1949-50 recovery rate and had been faster than that of 1954-55.

Both organizations found that unemployment reached a peak in April at 7.5 per cent. A period of decline followed. But the committee did not chart the later and higher peak which the Census Bureau placed at 7.6 per cent in August. By October the committee calculated that the rate had fallen to 6.4 per cent; the bureau showed a level of 7.1 per cent.

These variations can be traced to differences in applying seasonal adjustments to compensate for the misleading bulge caused by spring and summer increases in employment on farms and in the construction field—and similar distortions in the fall when students go back to high school and college.

It is important that federal agencies, in their efforts to make the official studies of the economy as accurate as possible, are open to suggestion. Changes should be made when their value has been demonstrated.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Republican Party

The problem which faces the Republican Party is not unity but what to unite about. In a word the party has to stand for something specific, understandable and sufficiently noble to move men and women to sacrifice their time and energy in what appears to them a great cause. If politics only means getting jobs, one party is as good as another, depending upon the locality.

The last election does not help one reach any conclusions about the Republican Party. Those who were defeated belonged to all points of view. Charles Potter of Michigan, an opportunist with modernist tendencies, was defeated as was John W. Bricker, a conservative with idealistic overtones. George W. Malone, a conservative, was defeated and Edward J. Thye, a liberal, was also defeated.

On the other hand, Barry Goldwater, the most consistent and philosophical conservative in the Senate was re-elected, as was William Langer, who tends to be socialistic.

There is no telling from any of this what the Republican voter believes or wants. There is no telling whether there actually is a Republican Party in terms of ideas. This weakness of the party neither President Eisenhower nor Vice President Nixon has met in a convincing manner as the votes in the last election proved. On the other hand, William Knowland in California, John W. Bricker of Ohio and Barry Goldwater of Arizona stood on practically the same platform. Knowland and Bricker were defeated; Goldwater was elected. While it is impossible to estimate the votes of the American people on the basis of ideas alone, it is possible to say that no such compulsive issue was raised as Cheap Money versus the Gold Standard, High versus Low Tariffs, or Prohibition to stir the people to excitement. Even in New York State, where the Republicans won an outstanding victory, the campaign was personal, like a bathing beauty contest, and had nothing to do with the principles before the American people.

The last theoretician of the Republican Party was Senator Robert A. Taft and the last attempt of the Republicans to discover what they meant was the Mackinac Conference (1943). Unfortunately, too little came of this and the party continued to split into factions which became smaller and smaller. The last great rallying post was over Senator Joe McCarthy. The McCarthyites were large in numbers and most of them have not voted Republican since he was practically read out of the party. The Senator who did most to defeat McCarthy was Arthur V. Watkins of Utah who was himself defeated in the last election.

These straws of sentiment and thought do not prove a point. In fact, nothing was established in the last election which can be used to indicate what the Republican Party will stand for in 1960. The Republicans, for instance, have to decide whether they will be the Conservative Party of the United States or whether they should attempt to run a race with the radical branch of the Democratic Party or try to coalesce with what is left of the Southern Conservative Democrats.

It is now well-established as the minority party, which can elect a President on personality but which has only gained control of Congress twice since the election of 1932. The 80th Congress will long be remembered as an effective body, but President Truman advertised it as the "do-nothing Congress," which was neither true nor sensible. However, since the 80th Congress, the Democrats have prevailed. They have prevailed during most of the Eisenhower regime.

Eisenhower's attempt to introduce something called Modern Republicanism has ended in a fiasco everywhere except in New York where it may be represented by Nelson Rockefeller, whose precise political orientation requires considerable clarification. Modern Republicanism has no particular meaning or character; it cannot be defined in understandable terms; it cannot be differentiated from the kind of Democratic Party that Senator Lyndon Johnson represents. Therefore, Republicans generally do not understand it and do not vote for it.

It is not likely that the Republicans will have, in 1960, such a personality as President Eisenhower to be their candidate. They will have to mean something in that year. They will need a philosophy of action. They will need a purpose. They will need a rallying cry. Without them, they will have no appeal to those who do not choose to vote for the Democrats.

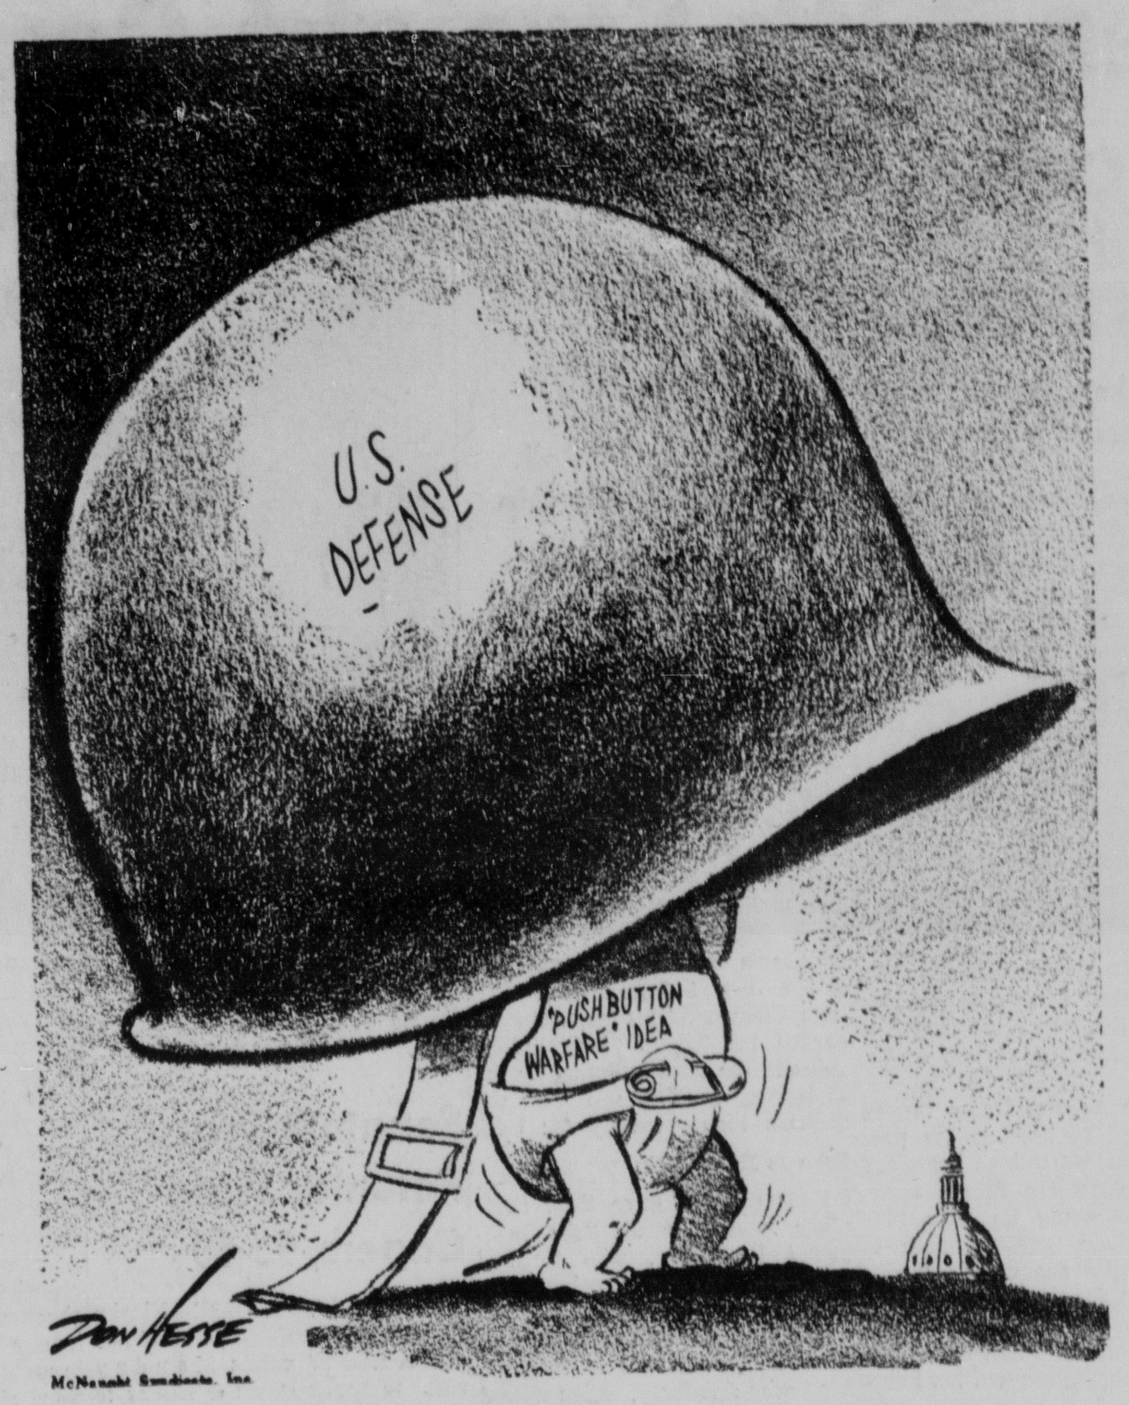
Let's Not Rush Things



Senator Gore's Sister Involved In Senate Post Office Shortage

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Sen. Albert Gore, the Tennessee Democrat, is red-faced over the fact that his sister is under investigation in the Senate Post Office for a $60 shortage. A postal inspector has been called in to probe the deficiency.

Mrs. Grace Keyes, the Senator's sister, told the inspector that she had placed $60 on the desk of Oscar Lollis, chief clerk, in payment for stamps, but Lollis says he can't remember her doing it, though he doesn't question her word. At any rate the money has vanished.

Despite the small amount, any tampering with postal funds is a federal offense, and the culprit can be sent to jail. While no one really thinks the Senator's sister was responsible, people are wondering why she has a job in the Senate Post Office in the first place. She is not a particularly efficient worker. Besides, her senatorial brother has one of the prize Black Angus herds in the nation and is not poverty stricken.

Man Behind The Trib

"Brownie" Reid, editor of the newspaper long owned by his family, is bowing out of the New York Herald Tribune this week. He has been offered three different jobs by the Eisenhower administration and will take one of them.

The man who found the salvaging angel for the "Trib," Tex McCrary, is also bowing out. McCrary, who got plenty of brickbats during the Sherman Adams-Goldfine battle, did a terrific job behind the scenes of finding two standby angels for the financially faltering Trib. One was a Democrat. Finally, McCrary's old wartime friend, Ambassador John Hay Whitney, moved in and put up the cash to carry one of the most historic Republican papers in the East.

If it hadn't been for McCrary the paper might have folded or gone Democratic. Paradoxically, some Republicans are now panning him.

Nixon's Disengagement

Vice President Nixon has been going through what the diplomats call "disengagement." Political observers, who are more blunt, call it "disenchantment," while some of the politicians, who are even blunter, call it "disfranchisement."

No matter what you call it, Nixon is moving away from Eisenhower. It's not a one-way operation, however. Ike is also moving away from Dick, and some of the boys at the White House are quite bitter toward the Vice President. They aren't saying much, but here is the evidence, some minor, some important:

Minor Evidence — When the President left for Augusta, he took on his plane George Champion, president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, controlled by the Rockefeller family, with David Rockefeller as head of its finance committee. Champion was Ike's golfing companion in Augusta.

Major Evidence—There is no indication that Nixon called at the White House to say goodbye or for instructions for his important trip to London just before Ike left for Augusta. The White House, when queried, refused to confirm or deny this. Nixon was leaving for London where Eisenhower had lived during much of the war, where he delivered his famous Guild Hall speech. Nixon was also visiting a monarch, Queen Elizabeth, whom Ike knows well. Yet there was no last minute call before the two men departed, one for Augusta, one for London.

Major Evidence—Nixon did not attend the last meeting of the Cabinet and the National Security Council before he flew to London. Instead his office issued a statement that the Committee on Government Contracts was meeting and Nixon, who is head of this committee, would attend.

The Committee on Government Contracts is not a pressing or highly important operation. On the other hand, Nixon has made much of the fact that he attends regular Cabinet and security council meetings and presides over them in the President's absence. Furthermore, with the Berlin crisis increasing in gravity, Nixon needed to be posted to discuss the crisis with the Brtish when he arrived in London.

Major Evidence—Holding an off-the-record conference with British newsmen before leaving for London, Nixon dropped word that he was operating semi-independently of the State Department. His speeches, he said, would reflect his own views, though on important matters such as Berlin they would reflect the Administration's views.

Asked whether his speeches were being cleared with the State Department, he replied:

"No, I never have my speeches cleared by the State Department. Of course I take the best advice available, but I don't consult anyone regarding my speeches. They are my own. My position is unique."

The above evidence, wrapped together with Nixon's long-distance phone conversations in October forcing Dulles and Eisenhower to reverse their stand against criticizing Democrats on Foreign Policy, spells more and more "disengagement."

The disengagement is based chiefly on the fact Nixon cannot afford to be tied to an Administration which has taken the worst beating in an off-year election that anyone can remember. Nixon is a cool and calculating politician. He knows that although the President tried to stem this tide, he was only able to fill about half the halls on his speaking trips to San Francisco and Los Angeles. Nixon also knows that the only President in 25 years who was kept sitting in a hotel suite in New York City during an election campaign is the present incumbent. Roosevelt and Truman were kept busy touring all over Manhattan, waving to cheering crowds. Ike was kept in his hotel suite because the Rockefeller handlers were afraid of too much identification with Ike.

Nixon too is afraid of too much identification. Hence the policy of disengagement. As far as Ike is concerned, those around the White House say that it's mutual. The Stassen speech on the White House steps plus Ike's failure to phone Nixon at Colorado Springs from Denver appear to substantiate this.

A Plea For Morality In International Politics

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Morality is back in the news — the morality of nations and the importance of maintaining moral principles in the conduct of the foreign policy of the United States. Secretary of State Dulles gave morality a headline the other day when he spoke at Cleveland before the National Council of Churches of Christ at a meeting described as a "world order study conference."

Mr. Dulles is himself a prominent Christian layman whose basic fidelity to moral principles in world affairs has at times brought down on his head the criticism of those intellectuals of today who rationalize expediency as practical. By this is meant, of course, that the end justifies the means.

Mr. Dulles rather wistfully lamented the decline of morals in international society. He said:

"Today when despotism again rides high, our society is closely observed. Many find us lacking.

"In terms of faith, we seem unable to articulate a basic philosophy for our times which carries deep conviction and strong appeal.

"In terms of works, we seem to be treating freedom as an opportunity for moral license and our productive power often seems to be dedicated to frivolities rather than fulfilling vital human needs.

"In some respects, we seem to be as materialistic as the Communists, but without their supporting philosophy and efficiency.

"Surely, when we concern ourselves with 'change,' we must not ignore the need to change ourselves."

The word "we," as used here by Secretary Dulles, includes the many political leaders in Western countries and particularly those spokesmen of modernism who want peace at any price and therefore do not wish to articulate or accept any moral philosophy in international relations. They are willing to make any concession to the Communists — if it will only eliminate the annoying intrusions of armament expense into their otherwise profitable and pleasurable existence. The Communists are betting on this abandonment of moral principle.

Even the very meeting which Mr. Dulles addressed found some of the Protestant clergymen ready to take unto their bosoms the murderers in Red China and ready to forget the sins and crimes committed by the Communists in Korea.

How can there be morality in the world if aggressors are to be rewarded — as Vice President Nixon asked a London audience this week — and how can there be security if the aggressor knows that there will be no resistance to his acts as he continues to reach out into smaller countries and one by one conquers them by subversion?

There is no need to accuse Mr. Dulles or the President of surrounding their policies with an atmosphere of high morality or self-righteousness. These two dedicated men would in all humbleness be the first to concede their mistakes as they have tried to steer the ship of state through the waters made rough and often impassable by Communist schemes and plots.

But the President and the Secretary of State have tried to hold aloft the banner of decency and morality in the relations of states. The American republic has not sought a square foot of any other country's territory nor robbed any nation of its sovereignty. Mr. Dulles rightly deplores the philosophy of those who believe in "power politics" and in the counsel of those exponents of a foreign policy shifty in character that would yield to expediency. He said:

"Our collective security efforts would surely collapse if our free world associates felt they were tied to policies which shifted under the dictates of passing considerations as to what was expedient from the standpoint of the United States. They do not always like it when we adhere to principle. But they would be even more unhappy if we had no principles. . . .

"Nothing could be more dangerous than to operate on the theory that if hostile and evil forces do not readily change, it is always we who must change to accommodate them. Communism is stubborn for the wrong; let us be steadfast for the right.

"A capacity to change is indispensable. Equally indispensable is the capacity to hold fast that which is good. So it is that while we seek to adapt our policies to the inevitability of change, we resist aspects of change which counter the enduring principles of moral law."

Those passages are in themselves enduring. For they strike at the root of the attitudes of surrender that are so often obscured behind high-sounding words advocating "disengagement" or "adjustment." Such are the counsels that have given the Kremlin much encouragement in recent months in their drive to oust from the Department of State the man who has the courage to say:

"Our faith is that each individual has his origin and destiny in God and thus has a spiritual nature and personal dignity. Therefore we must oppose the treatment of the individual as merely an animated bit of matter to be used to promote the organization of the world in accordance with materialistic principles."

Morality among states is not any more difficult to understand than it is among individuals. Simple honesty and trustworthiness and fair treatment are still the basic principles which America seeks to establish in the relations of governments. This is the Dulles-Eisenhower policy. It is difficult to understand only where there is unwillingness to accept its stern morality.

Common And Uncommon Causes Of Headaches

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Clues on the cause of headache may be obtained by noting the severity, frequency, duration, and location of the pain. It is obvious, for example, that a person who has suffered from the same type of headache over a period of 20 years does not have a brain tumor. These lesions progress in severity and are fatal unless removed within a short time. A more serious origin is suspected whenever the individual complains of head pain that is unlike anything he had before.

Sinus headaches are more noticeable upon rising in the morning and may be aggravated by stooping. Pain varies in intensity but tends to disappear as the morning wears on. It subsides suddenly when the passageway opens and the drainage occurs.

There is no rhyme or reason in many of the headaches attributed to eyestrain or errors in refraction. Discomfort from this source is located behind and above the eyes and is precipitated or aggravated by use of the eyes. It is likely to develop in the latter part of the afternoon and diminishes after resting.

Tension headaches are the penalty many persons pay for being under too much stress and strain. They appear early in the evening and are most noticeable in the back of the neck. Pain often extends down into the shoulder or upward into the top of the head and the forehead.

The victim of migraine usually is an intense, ambitious person who gets upset when he does not reach his objective. Pain is of vascular (blood vessel) origin in contrast to tension headache, which affects muscles. Migraine runs in families and distress is confined to one side of the head. It is throbbing in nature and often is preceded by flashes of light or numbness and tingling in an extremity.

High blood pressure, arteriosclerosis, and Bright's disease may be associated with generalized headache or distress confined to the back of the head. It is more common at night or on awakening in the morning. Allergic headaches generally are brought on by eating certain foods or exposure to allergens.

TESTING FOR VIRUS

H. W. writes: How is a person tested for a virus in the body?

REPLY

The services of a laboratory equipped for these special studies are required. Sputum or nasal secretions are examined when a respiratory infection exists, whereas the spinal fluid is studied if meningitis or encephalitis is suspected. Other tests depend upon the location of the diseased organs.

HELP FOR THE NEUROTIC

F. R. writes: Is there a way to cure psychoneurosis without going to a psychiatrist?

REPLY

This depends upon the severity of the condition and how long it has existed. Most cases can be managed without the expert guidance of a psychiatrist, through common sense medicine. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on psychoneurosis.

TYPES AND STRAINS

R. W. writes: How many types of flu are there?

REPLY

Three: A, B, and C, so-named in the order in which they were discovered. Each type has different strains. Asian flu, for example, is a strain of type A.

FRUIT PEELS

C. T. writes: Do orange and lemon peelings have any food value?

REPLY

Very little. They contain citrin, a mixture of hesperidin and eriodictyol.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Two advertising tycoons, dining in an expensive restaurant that befitted their expense accounts, fell into a violent argument. One beckoned a waiter to ask, "Could you lend us a dime to settle a bet?"

The waiter produced the dime, the coin was flipped, the argument settled—and eventually the check was produced. One item thereon startled the tycoons — even though they were only signing the agency's name. It read, "Loan of a dime: 25c."

Cedric Adams tells of two dauntless fishermen who were trolling for muskellunge on a lake in northern Minnesota. The muskies were vicious that day, and snapping at everything—but they absolutely refused to be hooked.

"I say we quit," said one fisherman finally. "Okay by me," agreed the other. "I don't mind them having Sunday dinner off my bait, but what gets me is when they shove their heads up, lean back on their flippers, and use my line for dental floss!"

Labor Monopoly

By Leslie Gould

NEW YORK — In barring the merger of Bethlehem Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube companies, U.S. Judge Edward Weinfeld said he did so because he saw a "reasonable probability" that it would "tend to create a monopoly."

There is a monopoly in the steel industry. In motor cars. In the air lines. In trucking. In fact, in almost every line. But not the kind of monopoly the judge is talking about.

This is the labor monopoly. There is no probability about this one.

This monopoly can and will shut down a part or a whole industry.

The favorite tactic is to pick off one company at a time in an industry, and thus force a more liberal settlement than might be obtained if the strike were general.

This settlement then sets the pattern for the industry, and in the case of the big unions, it will set the pattern for other industries. Walter Reuther cannot sit by while his union political rival—David MacDonald—of the steel workers gets a better deal, and vice versa.

Company managements, particularly where they have little or no stake other than their pensions in the company, will go along with unsound, inflationary wage contracts.

The public is the one that pays the bill. The wage increases are passed along to the public in higher prices.

Where the public is also a shareowner in the particular industry, it gets a double pinch. The shareowner's profits are reduced and the prices he pays for his consumer goods goes up.

The biggest threat—long term—to the economy is inflation. The major factor in this inflation is the wage-price spiral, over which the Federal Reserve has no control.

The higher wages and increased fringe benefits are running ahead of productivity. The resulting higher costs can only come out of profits—returns to the shareowners—the risk takers—or from higher prices.

In addition to the squeeze on the pocketbook, the public in the period of struggle is inconvenienced. The best example of the public be damned is the current wave of strikes against the air lines.

One major air line was out of business more than five weeks. Two other leading carriers were shut down for the Thanksgiving holiday—one of the peak travel periods. The strikes are as much against the public as against the companies.

In the anti-trust law cases, such as Bethlehem-Youngstown, one of the points of the court is that such deals "tend" to lessen competition. That this will result in higher prices to the consumer. The public.

When a labor monopoly does the same thing, that is a different story. Nothing is done.

Rocky Nelson To Get Sixth Chance In Majors With Pirates

Maple Leafs' Infielder Hit 43 Home Runs

11 Players Drafted, AA Pays $75,000 To Expand To 10 Clubs

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Big league baseball clubs shelled out $275,000 Monday for 11 minor league players after a major realignment project had been completed by the American Assn. and Texas Leagues.

The draft meeting, official start of a week-long series of conferences among baseball executives, drew a surprise starter when Senator-elect Kenneth Keating (R-NY) addressed the gathering briefly.

Introduced by Commissioner Ford Frick as a "friend of baseball", Keating said he hoped some legislation could be passed at the next session to help the clubs, players and the public.

"There is a great need for legislation to prevent harmful decisions of the courts which might spell the end of our team sports," Keating said.

He also said he hoped New York would have a second club soon.

It had been expected that the price tag of $25,000 on each draftee would cut down on the selections but the total of 11 equalled the 1957 crop. As might be expected, trader Frank Lane, the Cleveland Indians' general manager, was active with two picks. The Chicago White Sox also took two. Nine of the 16 teams drafted players, the other seven passing their turns.

Buccos Get Nelson

Several of the draftees were somewhat shopworn from previous handling. Glenn (Rocky) Nelson, a perennial minor league batting hero, but a flop in the big time, got another chance from Pittsburgh. It was his second time around with the Pirates. Rocky, who led the International League in hitting, .326, home runs, 43, total bases, 340, and runs batted in, 120, was selected from Toronto. The 34-year-old first baseman has been up before with St. Louis, Cleveland, Brooklyn, Chicago and Pittsburgh.

Other familiar names among the draftees were outfielder Jim Pisoni, picked by Milwaukee from the Yankees' Richmond farm after a .313 season; pitcher Art Ceccarelli, grabbed by the Chicago Cubs from Phoenix after a 10-6 year at Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League; and Johnny O'Brien, one of the Pittsburgh "bonus twins" who was taken as first choice by the Philadelphia Phillies from Rochester of the International League.

Two men who started the day on big league rosters wound up back in the minors and then returned to the majors all within a matter of two or three minutes.

When Milwaukee took Pisoni it put them over the 40-man limit so they shifted first baseman-outfielder Earl Hersh to their Wichita roster. Although the Wichita franchise has been shifted to Louisville in the American Assn., Wichita still was their official farm in the draft.

Detroit then grabbed Hersh, a .237 hitter at Wichita. That, in turn, put the Tigers over the limit so they shipped colorful Lou Skizas to their Charleston, W. Va., outlet.

A. A. Has Ten Clubs

The White Sox promptly nabbed Skizas, an outfielder-third baseman.

Wayne Terwilliger, veteran second baseman who has played with the Dodgers, Cubs, Giants and Senators, was a kansas city draft after his fine year at Charleston where he was voted the most valuable player in the American Assn. He hit .269.

Among the "new boys" drafted were righthanded pitcher Claude Raymond (3-6 at Wichita) by the White Sox; lefthanded pitcher Richard Luebke (11-7 at San Antonio) by the St. Louis Cardinals and shortstop Ray Webser (.244 at Sacramento and outfielder Dale Bennetch (.282 at Williamsport), both by Lane for Cleveland.

Chisox Grab Skizas

The realignment project found the American Assn. going to 10 clubs with the addition of Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth from the Texas League in return for a total of $75,000 and other considerations. This move has been kicking around for several weeks and finally went through when with a compromise on the price.

As part of the deal, the Texas League is to be assur ' major league working agreements for all of its clubs. The circuit now numbers only five cities but it is expected that three will be added from among Wichita, Albuquerque, N.M., Amarillo, Tex., and El Paso, Tex.

In the meantime, the 16 player representatives of the major league clubs met in another hotel with their lawyer to consider the strategy to be used in their request for 25 per cent of the regular season radio-television money. They are to meet with the owners tomorrow.

Trade conversations remained in the familiar "smoky hotel room" conference stage.

West Virginia Racing Solons To Meet Today

Four Tracks Will Get Dates For 1959

PARKERSBURG (AP) — The State Racing Commission will meet here Tuesday to set racing dates for 1959 at West Virginia's tracks.

There will be racing at an additional track next year, making four altogether in operation in the state.

The new track, five-eighths of a mile in length, is a second at Charles Town. Now under construction, it will be run by the Charles Town Racing Assn.

The other track at Charles Town, the first to have been built in the state, is under different management. It is under lease to operators of the Pimlico Race Track at Baltimore.

The other tracks are Wheeling Downs, shortest at a half-mile, and Waterford Park, the longest at a mile.

Racing days this year will total 288. There were 20 fewer in 1957.

Included is the approaching winter meet at the older Charles Town track, to begin Dec. 18. The plan is to end the meet Feb. 7, but part of it running over into 1959 has not yet been approved by the commission. This is because the dates for next year could not be set until applications were received.

Safe Landing Scores In Tropical Feature

MIAMI, Fla. Dec. 1 (AP) — Safe Landing outfinished Gray Phantom, the 3 and 5 favorite of the 7,413 bettors, by a head after a close stretch duel in the Propeller Purse today at Tropical Park.

The Carolyn K. Stable stretch-runner paid $11.20 after sprinting six furlongs in 1:10. Gray Phantom, owned by the Wheatley Stable, was a length and three quarters ahead of Curley Ann Stable's Grand Fiesta.

Major Watson, 9-1 Shot, Wins

Albia, Favorite, Is 2nd At Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Dec. 1 (AP) — Major Watson, strictly a home grown Maryland product, warmed up the blood of some of the shivering bettors at Pimlico today by winning the featured $3,500 Glyndon Purse.

Major Watson, a 3-year-old gelding, bred, owned and trained by Watson Elliott of Bowie, paid a heart warming $20.20, $9.20, $5.80. He beat the favorite, Albia, by 2½ lengths in the mile and sixteenth race.

Albia returned $4.40 and $3.20 while the third place King Cotton paid $4.20.

Major Watson ran the distance in a brisk 1:47 4/5 on a track which was exceptionally fast and frozen three inches underneath. The top dirt was pulverided by machines which had gone over it continuously since the end of racing Saturday afternoon until this morning.

The temperature was a few degrees above freezing this afternoon, but it didn't deter 8,347 spectators.

Many of them disregarded the cold after collecting $90.40 for $2 on the daily double. Jockey Rocco Sisto rode the first winner, Big Beach, at the odds of $12.60 and Apprentice Larry Reynolds brought in the second, Alter Ego, at $21.20.

A species of ant, Polyergus, raids the colonies of other ants and enslaves their larvae. The young are raised by older slaves and taught to feed and care for their masters. This social system has gone on so long that the masters are now entirely dependent on the slaves for their food.

West Virginia U. Scores 37th Straight Conference Win

Mountaineers Trim Furman Quint, 76-67

Jerry West Scores 29 Points In First Game Of Campaign

GREENVILLE, S. C. (UPI)—All - American candidate Jerry West scored 29 points Monday night to lead defending national champion West Virginia to a come - from - behind 76-67 victory over Furman.

The Mountaineers' victory—the 37th in a row in the Southern Conference—came at the foul line. West Virginia dunked 22 - of - 32 charity tosses in its season opener while Furman dropped in only 13-of-23.

West Virginia moved ahead 24-12 in the early minutes but Furman rallied to take the lead at 29-28. The Paladins led 38-36 at the half.

With West and guard Bucky Bolyard, who scored 18 points, leading the way, the Mountaineers tied the score at 51-51 and then at 60 and 62 before finally taking the lead for keeps at 67-65 with 3:50 remaining.

Strong floor play by the Paladins enabled them to move out in front four times but they saw those leads diminish to a tight Mountaineer defense that kept them outside and dependent on long shots.

Dick Wright, all - conference guard last season, and Byron Pinson each scored 20 points for Furman in its debut at the new Greenville Memorial Auditorium.

West Virginia will tangle with another Southern Conference foe, VMI, Tuesday night in Bluefield.

Zernitz Wins Over LaStarza

New England Heavy Victor At St. Nick

NEW YORK (UPI)—Unheralded Larry Zernitz swarmed over Roland LaStarza Monday night and spoiled the former heavyweight challenger's comeback attempt by winning a split 10-round decision at St. Nicholas Arena.

LaStarza of New York was a pitiful imitation of the once capable performer who twice fought Rocky Marciano, once for the world title. Roland hadn't fought in 13 months and he looked it.

Zernitz of Springfield, Mass., weighing 199¾ pounds to La Starza's 196½, tore after the ex-challenger in every round and gave him practically no punching room.

On a rounds basis referee Teddy Martin favored Zernitz, 8-2, and judge Artie Aidala agreed, 6-3-1. But judge Paul Botwinik surprisingly favored LaStarza, 5-4-1. The United Press International had Zernitz in front, 7-2-1.

LaStarza, 31, was favored at 9 to 5, but Zernitz, 25, registered his sixth straight victory, all this year.

The non-televised bout was supposed to be the start of Roland's third attempt at a comeback since he was knocked out by Marciano in the 11th round of their title fight, Sept. 24, 1953. Roland hadn't fought since Oct. 8, 1957 when he won a 10-round decision over Al Anderson but then had to become inactive because of operations on both elbows for chips and spurs.

A crowd of 2,102 paid $4,534.

202 Deer Are Killed In Washington County

Washington County reported 202 kills yesterday on the opening day of the six-day deer season in Maryland.

This was just 89 short of the 289 killed in the entire 6-day season last year.

Frederick County reported 125 legal kills and Dorchester County 80, four times the number slain on the first day of the 1957 season. Worcester had 43, Somerset 29 and Talbot 8.

In another PVC opener tonight, Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks will play the West Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney. Coach Tom O'Connor's Hawks won 15 and lost 9 last season and scored two wins over the Romney floormen, 81-61 and 64-57. 48 College Grid Players Are Drafted

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Iowa quarterback Randy Duncan, selected by the Green Bay Packers, was the No. 1 choice in the annual National Football League draft Monday.

Duncan, 21, pinpoint passer and field brain of the Rose Bowl bound Big Ten champion, was one of 10 players chosen by the pros from the perennially powerful Western Conference.

48 Players Selected

Of the 48 players selected in four rounds of drafting, nine hailed from the wide open Southwest Conference, seven from the Southeastern Conference, five from the Big Eight and only four from the Eastern section of the country.

The Los Angeles Rams reaped the biggest harvest as the pros opened the 1958 college grab bag and dipped in for future stars. The Rams came up with nine players, their regular quota of four plus five secured in trades with other league teams in the past year. Detroit bagged seven and Cleveland and San Francisco five each during the four-hour session.

Duncan is a six-foot 180-pounder. Green Bay hopes he will solve its passing quarterback problem. The downtrodden Packers, 1-8-1 in the NFL this season, had first pick under the draft rules which calls for selections from last to first as of the standings the day prior to the draft meeting.

Duncan Led Big Ten

Duncan led the Big Ten in total offense in 1958, with 1,706 yards in nine games. He completed 101 of 172 passes for 1,346 yards, 11 touchdowns and an excellent 58.7 pass completion percentage. A former Des Moines high school star, Duncan has been the passing scourge of Big Ten opponents the past three years.

After Green Bay pried the lid off the draft, the Rams, wielding the choice acquired from the Philadelphia Eagles in a deal which landed quarterback Norman Van Brocklin in Philadelphia, picked Dick Bass, the nation's collegiate total offense leader.

The Rams took Bass even though the 190-pound native of Vallejo, Calif., has another year of eligibility at the College of the Pacific. Bass was one of a number of players selected who have another year in college. These choices, so-called "red shirts," are eligible for draft since their original class will have graduated by June.

Lions Get Pietrosante

The Chicago Cardinals taking Mississippi State's quarterback; Bill Stacy; Washington grabbed Don Allard, Boston College passer; San Francisco took Dave Baker, a fine defensive halfback of Oklahoma; Detroit latched on to Notre Dame's smashing fullback Nick Pietrosante.

The Chicago Bears named Don Clark, Ohio State halfback; San Francisco exercised a Pittsburgh choice and took Don James, 245-pound Ohio State center; Los Angeles collared Paul Dickson, Baylor tackle; New York picked Lee Grosscup, leading passer in the nation in 1957 at Utah; Cleveland selected Rich Kreitling, pass - catching Illinois end; and Baltimore iced Jackie Burkett, Auburn's junior center.

Coaches Vote Tigers 1958 Grid Champs

LSU Tops UPI Poll, Iowa Is Runner-Up

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Louisiana State Tigers, who used a 33-man "first team" to compile major college football's only perfect record this fall, Monday were voted 1958 national champions by United Press International's Board of Coaches.

Coach Paul Dietzel's Tigers, picked to finish ninth in their own 12-team Southeastern Conference, instead defeated their 10 opponents to win the league title and a Jan. 1 Sugar Bowl date with Clemson. This performance earned the Tigers 29 first-place votes in the final balloting by the 35 leading coaches who rate the nation's teams weekly for UPI.

Iowa Is Runner Up

Four coaches gave their first-place votes to Iowa's Rose Bowl-bound Hawkeyes, who finished second in the final ratings. Army, which finished third, received one first-place vote. The other first-place vote went to the Air Force Academy, which wound up eighth.

Auburn finished fourth, Oklahoma fifth, Wisconsin sixth and Ohio State, the 1957 champion, seventh. The Air Force Academy, bracketed with Louisiana State as the surprise teams of the campaign, was eighth. Its Cotton Bowl opponent, Texas Christian, was ninth. Syracuse, Oklahoma's Orange Bowl rival, rounded out the top 10.

Will Get Trophy

Louisiana State received a total of 331 points, only 19 shy of a perfect score of 350 in the final voting. The Tigers will be awarded a permanent trophy by United Press International.

Runnerup Iowa, the Big Ten champion, received 275 points and Army 255. Auburn received 224, Oklahoma 174, Wisconsin 170, Ohio State 117, the Air Force Academy 75, Texas Christian 74 and Syracuse 64.

Only eight other teams received votes in the final balloting. Purdue was 11th with 54 points. It was followed by Mississippi, 41; Clemson, 24; Notre Dame, 22; Florida, 9; California, 8; Northwestern 6, and Southern Methodist, 2.

Allegany County's Deer Kill To Exceed 230 On Opening Day

Six Stations Report; Kenneth Hartsock Bags 183-Pounder

Allegany county's unofficial deer kill for the opening day of the six-day season yesterday was 230, according to reports from six out of seven checking stations in Allegany and Washington counties.

No report was available from the Westernport Police Station and the total should exceed 230 when that is received.

The record opening day's kill was reported in 1957 when the total hit an all-time high of 298. In 1956 a total of 245 whitetails were slain on the first day of the season.

At the LaVale barracks of the Maryland State Police, a total of 104 animals were checked and 88 of this number were brought down in Allegany county. Graydon Dunlap reported that 88 Allegany County kills were checked at Shipway's Inn while 34 were reported checked at Lewis' Store, Oldtown.

Hoffman's Inn, Sideling Hill, reported that 37 of the 58 deer checked there were killed in Allegany county. Six of the 50 brought to the Hancock station were shot in Allegany county. A total of 113 were checked at Ankeney's Store, Clear Spring, and 11 were bagged in Allegany.

Credit for bagging the largest deer on opening day went to Kenneth Hartsock of 915 Maryland Avenue. He bagged a 10 point, 183 pound buck on Pine Hill. At least a half dozen women hunters were successful on the first day.

Allegany county kills reported Monday were as follows:

Station	No.
Lewis' Store, Oldtown	34
State Police, LaVale	88
Shipway's Inn, Green Ridge	54
Hoffman's Inn, Sideling Hill	37
Hancock	6
Clear Spring	11
Total	230

Lambert Trophy Is Won By Army

NEW YORK (UPI) — Army, which climaxed its first undefeated football season since 1949 by whipping Navy last Saturday, Monday was named winner of the 23rd annual Lambert trophy.

The 10-man selection committee of coaches, sports writers and broadcasters gave Army (8-0-1) a rating of 9.9 out of a possible 10 points. Army's triumph in the balloting was clear-cut but not unanimous. The Cadets received all the first-place votes except one, which was cast for Syracuse. Syracuse (8-1) finished second in the final balloting with 9.0 points.

Navy (6-3) was third with 7.2 points, Penn State (6-3-1) fourth with 6.95 and Pittsburgh (5-4-1) fifth with 6.55. Rutgers (8-1) was sixth with 4.3 points, Holy Cross (6-2) was seventh with 4.2, Dartmouth (7-2) was eighth with 3.3, Boston College (6-3) was ninth with 2.3 and Princeton (6-3) was tenth with 0.7.

Army last won the Lambert Trophy in 1953. The Cadets also captured it in 1944, 1945, 1946, 1948 and 1949.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—I like Maurice Chevalier, Jean Negulesco, Armand Deutsch — and everybody else in the project to bring "The Mid-wife of Pont-Clery" to the movies—but I don't like that title! Since it's sure to be changed before it hits movie marquees, I guess I don't have to put on too much of a campaign to get a new name on Flora Sandstrom's book.

The interesting thing is that Maurice will play a singing priest in a small French village whose amusing songs and wit save the day for the "mid-wife." Seems the village wives who are her clients are jealous and would drive her out of town before the happy padre revives their sense of humor.

Negulesco just finished directing Maurice in "Count Your Blessings" for MGM—but the new venture will be an independent produced by Jean and Armand Deutsch.

"Revival" which sounds as if it might have something to do with Aimee Semple McPherson, although not close enough to warrant any trouble from Aimee's family, will be made in England for Columbia. David Susskind, the producer, and Peter Glenville, the director, plan on getting one of our biggest and most glamorous stars to play the evangelist.

Susan Hayward, whose "I Want to Live" is the talk of everyone who has seen the Walter Wanger picture, is being paged. Glenville has also talked to Ingrid Bergman, so if Columbia is lucky enough to get either of these actresses, we can say right out loud they'll be very fortunate. The fact that "Revival" is to be made in England interests Miss Bergman, who will marry her Swedish suitor, Lars Schmidt, in Europe before the first of the year.

The dream Sammy Davis Jr., has always had to play a dramatic role without any singing or dancing will come true when he co-stars with John Wayne in "The Alamo." This won't be shot until next summer and then it will, of course, be filmed in Texas.

In this Sammy will have the dramatic role of a slave owned By Jim Bowie, who is freed by Bowie just before the Alamo falls, and he refuses to go. He stays behind to meet his death with the rest of the fort's defenders and becomes a hero instead. Well, Sammy can do anything, although I do like to hear him sing.

Just before Tyrone Power left for Europe he made a two-minute film begging all to contribute to the American Heart Fund, of which Eddie Cantor and I are co-chairmen. I have a letter from Eddie enclosing a telgram from Hal Arden, of the Heart Committee, suggesting that we hold up the trailer until February when the Heart Fund campaign starts.

Eddie concurs with Arden's suggestion and so do I. The Heart Fund has had much pressure asking for clips of this film, but it is Eddie's belief and mine that this should not be publicized at this time. It is our intention to get some star to present it in February.

"Charles tells me it's a heart-warming sight," said the proud Mrs. Boyer, "to see people waiting in line to buy tickets for 'The Marriage-Go-Round' with Claudette Colbert and himself. They are sold out weeks ahead."

Edie Goetz, who saw the opening of the play in San Francisco and then again in New York, says some few changes have been made which improve it, although she thought the play very amusing from the beginning.

Pay and the Boyers' son and heir, Michael, will spend three weeks with Charles at Christmas time. "He has agreed to stay with the play until June," Pat said, "and then we are going to spend three months in Europe." She said she could fly to see Charles over week ends, but he insists she travel by train.

Lew Ayres has an amusing reason for turning down the role of the psychiatrist and accepting the part of the homicidal paranoiac in "Silent Night" for the "Pursuit" series on TV.

"I've played so many 'Dr. Kildare' movies, and before MacDonald Carey so many 'Dr. Christian' TV chapters, that I've had being a medic,' he laughed, "give me that crazy man role!"

After the TV producers agreed to the switch, Lew said, "I suppose I'll be typed as a nut."

Dams on the Colorado River and an aqueduct across California's desert lands enable Los Angeles and San Diego to grow far beyond their limited water resources.

Playhouse 90's Ninetieth

With "Return of Ansell Gibbs" the other night, Playhouse 90 reached its ninetieth first night, an anniversary of some importance in this difficult industry. Saluting it, Rod Serling writes: "It's sort of like saying happy birthday to a bucket of steam. The subject has a name but no face or family. But I've got a feeling for Playhouse 90 generally reserved for old Army buddies and photo albums from boyhood."

And well he might, because Serling wrote "Requiem For a Heavyweight" which was the first Playhouse 90 play, an original that won a hatful of awards. Today, two-and-a-bit-years old, Playhouse 90 is the most distinguished, the most consistent, the most ambitious show on television, virtually the only live dramatic show and—many folks say—almost the only thing worth looking forward to. (By that I mean sharply to differentiate it from most other television which people watch for lack of anything else to do. Playhouse 90 is watched as a conscious and positive act, not an absence of alternatives.)

It's rather a shame that Playhouse 90's ninetieth should have been "Return of Ansell Gibbs"—representing a sharp dip in quality from the level the series has been hitting all year. This was a windy and murky exploration of personalities and philosophies in the upper echelon of politics. Its big scene pitted a windbag, flag-waving Senator against an icy intellectual (Melvyn Douglas) on a sort of Mike Wallace television interview show. Theoretically, Mr. Douglas "destroyed" himself politically on that show, though it didn't strike me that way at all. Both dramatically and philosophically, I found this wooden and unconvincing, though there were some fine performances by Melvyn Douglas and Diana Lynn.

If we're throwing our hats in the air for Playhouse 90, a more suitable object would be the production a week earlier of a dramatization of William Faulkner's "Old Man," a tremendous achievement for live television. If anyone were to ask me who was the greatest TV dramatist, I'm afraid I'd say Faulkner, whose stories and novellas (which this was) lend themselves to television with shattering force.

"Old Man," dramatized by Horton Foote, is the story of a Mississippi River flood in which a convict rescues a pregnant woman from a tree and fights his way back to captivity, only to be socked with an extra ten years' servitude, an almost unbearable bit of Faulknerian irony. There was a stunning performance by Sterling Hayden, who is almost as big a surprise as Piper Laurie was a year or so ago, and Geraldine Page. But the real hero was director John Frankenheimer who did astounding things with his cameras with the swirling waters of the flood, crowd scenes on a levee, bunkhouse scenes, and—probably most difficult of all—dramatic duologues between Miss Page and Mr. Hayden in a tiny rowboat.

At the very beginning, I had great trouble understanding the talk, partly because that Deep South accent throws me, partly because there was too much noise. But when that cleared up I was held transfixed by the sure-footed characterization and humanity and sheer imaginative scope of the tale. It's a great adventure story, and the last thing in the world I'd imagine a producer would attempt on live television. But then that's why Playhouse 90 is such a distinguished series and why Fred Coe is so eminent a producer. If Playhouse 90 ever loses its venturesome nature, all television will be the worse.

As Mr. Serling says: "The baby is still growing. This big creature with no real personal attributes that I happen to have great fondness for, still matures and gropes and pushes its way up and forward, and shifts around and searches and experiments and sometimes proves something with a ringing clarity and sometimes falls on its pratt in the middle of an unknown. And for all these reasons it has a vitality like the opening night of a Broadway show. It has the excitement of a world premiere of a movie. It has that indefinable quality that comes with theater and that can build a tradition overnight by turning a play or a performance or even a moment into a monument."

Earth's Crust Looks Same On Bottom Side As Top

By RALPH DIGHTON

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — This is a topsy-turvy world and science is beginning to prove it.

If you could strip the outer crust off the earth, you'd find that it looks about the same on the bottom side as it does on the top side.

Where there are mountains on the face of the globe, directly beneath are corresponding thickenings of the earth's crust. Where the earth's surface is flat, the crust is thin.

Allowing for minor variations caused by erosion, you could turn the earth's skin inside out and upside down and not find any appreciable difference.

This was disclosed Sunday in the annual report of Dr. L. A. DuBridge, president of the California Institute of Technology.

"Caltech and Columbia University geophysicists," the report said, "have produced the first generalized map of the underside of the North American continent in the U.S. sector. The bottom of the continental plate appears to have projections and depressions which in a general fashion are mirror images of the larger topographic features of the land surface."

The "underside" map was produced jointly by Dr. Frank Press of Caltech and Dr. Maurice Ewing of Columbia after measuring shock waves from the Samoa earthquake of April 14, 1957.

"The speed of these waves," Dr. Press explained in an interview, "was recorded at numerous stations across the United States. The differences in speed gave us an indication of the varying thickness of the earth's crust. When we placed a sketch of a cross section of the United States above a sketch of the underside of the crust, we found they coincided closely."

11 Players Drafted, AA Pays $75,000 To Expand To 10 Clubs

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Big league baseball clubs shelled out $275,000 Monday for 11 minor league players after a major realignment project had been completed by the American Assn. and Texas Leagues.

The draft meeting, official start of a week-long series of conferences among baseball executives, drew a surprise starter when Senator-elect Kenneth Keating (R-NY) addressed the gathering briefly.

Introduced by Commissioner Ford Frick as a "friend of baseball", Keating said he hoped some legislation could be passed at the next session to help the clubs, players and the public.

"There is a great need for legislation to prevent harmful decisions of the courts which might spell the end of our team sports," Keating said.

He also said he hoped New York would have a second club soon.

It had been expected that the price tag of $25,000 on each draftee would cut down on the selections but the total of 11 equalled the 1957 crop. As might be expected, trader Frank Lane, the Cleveland Indians' general manager, was active with two picks. The Chicago White Sox also took two. Nine of the 16 teams drafted players, the other seven passing their turns.

Buccos Get Nelson

Several of the draftees were somewhat shopworn from previous handling. Glenn (Rocky) Nelson, a perennial minor league batting hero, but a flop in the big time, got another chance from Pittsburgh. It was his second time around with the Pirates. Rocky, who led the International League in hitting, .326, home runs, 43, total bases, 340, and runs batted in, 120, was selected from Toronto. The 34-year-old first baseman has been up before with St. Louis, Cleveland, Brooklyn, Chicago and Pittsburgh.

Other familiar names among the draftees were outfielder Jim Pisoni, picked by Milwaukee from the Yankees' Richmond farm after a .313 season; pitcher Art Ceccarelli, grabbed by the Chicago Cubs from Phoenix after a 10-6 year at Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League; and Johnny O'Brien, one of the Pittsburgh "bonus twins" who was taken as first choice by the Philadelphia Phillies from Rochester of the International League.

Two men who started the day on big league rosters wound up back in the minors and then returned to the majors all within a matter of two or three minutes.

When Milwaukee took Pisoni it put them over the 40-man limit so they shifted first baseman-outfielder Earl Hersh to their Wichita roster. Although the Wichita franchise has been shifted to Louisville in the American Assn., Wichita still was their official farm in the draft.

Detroit then grabbed Hersh, a .237 hitter at Wichita. That, in turn, put the Tigers over the limit so they shipped colorful Lou Skizas to their Charleston, W. Va., outlet.

A. A. Has Ten Clubs

The White Sox promptly nabbed Skizas, an outfielder-third baseman.

Wayne Terwilliger, veteran second baseman who has played with the Dodgers, Cubs, Giants and Senators, was a kansas city draft after his fine year at Charleston where he was voted the most valuable player in the American Assn. He hit .269.

Among the "new boys" drafted were righthanded pitcher Claude Raymond (3-6 at Wichita) by the White Sox; lefthanded pitcher Richard Luebke (11-7 at San Antonio) by the St. Louis Cardinals and shortstop Ray Webser (.244 at Sacramento and outfielder Dale Bennetch (.282 at Williamsport), both by Lane for Cleveland.

Chisox Grab Skizas

The realignment project found the American Assn. going to 10 clubs with the addition of Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth from the Texas League in return for a total of $75,000 and other considerations. This move has been kicking around for several weeks and finally went through when with a compromise on the price.

As part of the deal, the Texas League is to be assur ' major league working agreements for all of its clubs. The circuit now numbers only five cities but it is expected that three will be added from among Wichita, Albuquerque, N.M., Amarillo, Tex., and El Paso, Tex.

In the meantime, the 16 player representatives of the major league clubs met in another hotel with their lawyer to consider the strategy to be used in their request for 25 per cent of the regular season radio-television money. They are to meet with the owners tomorrow.

Trade conversations remained in the familiar "smoky hotel room" conference stage.

West Virginia Racing Solons To Meet Today

Four Tracks Will Get Dates For 1959

PARKERSBURG (AP) — The State Racing Commission will meet here Tuesday to set racing dates for 1959 at West Virginia's tracks.

There will be racing at an additional track next year, making four altogether in operation in the state.

The new track, five-eighths of a mile in length, is a second at Charles Town. Now under construction, it will be run by the Charles Town Racing Assn.

The other track at Charles Town, the first to have been built in the state, is under different management. It is under lease to operators of the Pimlico Race Track at Baltimore.

The other tracks are Wheeling Downs, shortest at a half-mile, and Waterford Park, the longest at a mile.

Racing days this year will total 288. There were 20 fewer in 1957.

Included is the approaching winter meet at the older Charles Town track, to begin Dec. 18. The plan is to end the meet Feb. 7, but part of it running over into 1959 has not yet been approved by the commission. This is because the dates for next year could not be set until applications were received.

Safe Landing Scores In Tropical Feature

MIAMI, Fla. Dec. 1 (AP) — Safe Landing outfinished Gray Phantom, the 3 and 5 favorite of the 7,413 bettors, by a head after a close stretch duel in the Propeller Purse today at Tropical Park.

The Carolyn K. Stable stretch-runner paid $11.20 after sprinting six furlongs in 1:10. Gray Phantom, owned by the Wheatley Stable, was a length and three quarters ahead of Curley Ann Stable's Grand Fiesta.

Major Watson, 9-1 Shot, Wins

Albia, Favorite, Is 2nd At Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Dec. 1 (AP) — Major Watson, strictly a home grown Maryland product, warmed up the blood of some of the shivering bettors at Pimlico today by winning the featured $3,500 Glyndon Purse.

Major Watson, a 3-year-old gelding, bred, owned and trained by Watson Elliott of Bowie, paid a heart warming $20.20, $9.20, $5.80. He beat the favorite, Albia, by 2½ lengths in the mile and sixteenth race.

Albia returned $4.40 and $3.20 while the third place King Cotton paid $4.20.

Major Watson ran the distance in a brisk 1:47 4/5 on a track which was exceptionally fast and frozen three inches underneath. The top dirt was pulverided by machines which had gone over it continuously since the end of racing Saturday afternoon until this morning.

The temperature was a few degrees above freezing this afternoon, but it didn't deter 8,347 spectators.

Many of them disregarded the cold after collecting $90.40 for $2 on the daily double. Jockey Rocco Sisto rode the first winner, Big Beach, at the odds of $12.60 and Apprentice Larry Reynolds brought in the second, Alter Ego, at $21.20.

A species of ant, Polyergus, raids the colonies of other ants and enslaves their larvae. The young are raised by older slaves and taught to feed and care for their masters. This social system has gone on so long that the masters are now entirely dependent on the slaves for their food.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—I like Maurice Chevalier, Jean Negulesco, Armand Deutsch — and everybody else in the project to bring "The Mid-wife of Pont-Clery" to the movies—but I don't like that title! Since it's sure to be changed before it hits movie marquees, I guess I don't have to put on too much of a campaign to get a new name on Flora Sandstrom's book.

The interesting thing is that Maurice will play a singing priest in a small French village whose amusing songs and wit save the day for the "mid-wife." Seems the village wives who are her clients are jealous and would drive her out of town before the happy padre revives their sense of humor.

Negulesco just finished directing Maurice in "Count Your Blessings" for MGM—but the new venture will be an independent produced by Jean and Armand Deutsch.

"Revival" which sounds as if it might have something to do with Aimee Semple McPherson, although not close enough to warrant any trouble from Aimee's family, will be made in England for Columbia. David Susskind, the producer, and Peter Glenville, the director, plan on getting one of our biggest and most glamorous stars to play the evangelist.

Susan Hayward, whose "I Want to Live" is the talk of everyone who has seen the Walter Wanger picture, is being paged. Glenville has also talked to Ingrid Bergman, so if Columbia is lucky enough to get either of these actresses, we can say right out loud they'll be very fortunate. The fact that "Revival" is to be made in England interests Miss Bergman, who will marry her Swedish suitor, Lars Schmidt, in Europe before the first of the year.

The dream Sammy Davis Jr., has always had to play a dramatic role without any singing or dancing will come true when he co-stars with John Wayne in "The Alamo." This won't be shot until next summer and then it will, of course, be filmed in Texas.

In this Sammy will have the dramatic role of a slave owned By Jim Bowie, who is freed by Bowie just before the Alamo falls, and he refuses to go. He stays behind to meet his death with the rest of the fort's defenders and becomes a hero instead. Well, Sammy can do anything, although I do like to hear him sing.

Just before Tyrone Power left for Europe he made a two-minute film begging all to contribute to the American Heart Fund, of which Eddie Cantor and I are co-chairmen. I have a letter from Eddie enclosing a telgram from Hal Arden, of the Heart Committee, suggesting that we hold up the trailer until February when the Heart Fund campaign starts.

Eddie concurs with Arden's suggestion and so do I. The Heart Fund has had much pressure asking for clips of this film, but it is Eddie's belief and mine that this should not be publicized at this time. It is our intention to get some star to present it in February.

"Charles tells me it's a heart-warming sight," said the proud Mrs. Boyer, "to see people waiting in line to buy tickets for 'The Marriage-Go-Round' with Claudette Colbert and himself. They are sold out weeks ahead."

Edie Goetz, who saw the opening of the play in San Francisco and then again in New York, says some few changes have been made which improve it, although she thought the play very amusing from the beginning.

Pay and the Boyers' son and heir, Michael, will spend three weeks with Charles at Christmas time. "He has agreed to stay with the play until June," Pat said, "and then we are going to spend three months in Europe." She said she could fly to see Charles over week ends, but he insists she travel by train.

Lew Ayres has an amusing reason for turning down the role of the psychiatrist and accepting the part of the homicidal paranoiac in "Silent Night" for the "Pursuit" series on TV.

"I've played so many 'Dr. Kildare' movies, and before MacDonald Carey so many 'Dr. Christian' TV chapters, that I've had being a medic,' he laughed, "give me that crazy man role!"

After the TV producers agreed to the switch, Lew said, "I suppose I'll be typed as a nut."

Dams on the Colorado River and an aqueduct across California's desert lands enable Los Angeles and San Diego to grow far beyond their limited water resources.

Playhouse 90's Ninetieth

With "Return of Ansell Gibbs" the other night, Playhouse 90 reached its ninetieth first night, an anniversary of some importance in this difficult industry. Saluting it, Rod Serling writes: "It's sort of like saying happy birthday to a bucket of steam. The subject has a name but no face or family. But I've got a feeling for Playhouse 90 generally reserved for old Army buddies and photo albums from boyhood."

And well he might, because Serling wrote "Requiem For a Heavyweight" which was the first Playhouse 90 play, an original that won a hatful of awards. Today, two-and-a-bit-years old, Playhouse 90 is the most distinguished, the most consistent, the most ambitious show on television, virtually the only live dramatic show and—many folks say—almost the only thing worth looking forward to. (By that I mean sharply to differentiate it from most other television which people watch for lack of anything else to do. Playhouse 90 is watched as a conscious and positive act, not an absence of alternatives.)

It's rather a shame that Playhouse 90's ninetieth should have been "Return of Ansell Gibbs"—representing a sharp dip in quality from the level the series has been hitting all year. This was a windy and murky exploration of personalities and philosophies in the upper echelon of politics. Its big scene pitted a windbag, flag-waving Senator against an icy intellectual (Melvyn Douglas) on a sort of Mike Wallace television interview show. Theoretically, Mr. Douglas "destroyed" himself politically on that show, though it didn't strike me that way at all. Both dramatically and philosophically, I found this wooden and unconvincing, though there were some fine performances by Melvyn Douglas and Diana Lynn.

If we're throwing our hats in the air for Playhouse 90, a more suitable object would be the production a week earlier of a dramatization of William Faulkner's "Old Man," a tremendous achievement for live television. If anyone were to ask me who was the greatest TV dramatist, I'm afraid I'd say Faulkner, whose stories and novellas (which this was) lend themselves to television with shattering force.

"Old Man," dramatized by Horton Foote, is the story of a Mississippi River flood in which a convict rescues a pregnant woman from a tree and fights his way back to captivity, only to be socked with an extra ten years' servitude, an almost unbearable bit of Faulknerian irony. There was a stunning performance by Sterling Hayden, who is almost as big a surprise as Piper Laurie was a year or so ago, and Geraldine Page. But the real hero was director John Frankenheimer who did astounding things with his cameras with the swirling waters of the flood, crowd scenes on a levee, bunkhouse scenes, and—probably most difficult of all—dramatic duologues between Miss Page and Mr. Hayden in a tiny rowboat.

At the very beginning, I had great trouble understanding the talk, partly because that Deep South accent throws me, partly because there was too much noise. But when that cleared up I was held transfixed by the sure-footed characterization and humanity and sheer imaginative scope of the tale. It's a great adventure story, and the last thing in the world I'd imagine a producer would attempt on live television. But then that's why Playhouse 90 is such a distinguished series and why Fred Coe is so eminent a producer. If Playhouse 90 ever loses its venturesome nature, all television will be the worse.

As Mr. Serling says: "The baby is still growing. This big creature with no real personal attributes that I happen to have great fondness for, still matures and gropes and pushes its way up and forward, and shifts around and searches and experiments and sometimes proves something with a ringing clarity and sometimes falls on its pratt in the middle of an unknown. And for all these reasons it has a vitality like the opening night of a Broadway show. It has the excitement of a world premiere of a movie. It has that indefinable quality that comes with theater and that can build a tradition overnight by turning a play or a performance or even a moment into a monument."

Earth's Crust Looks Same On Bottom Side As Top

By RALPH DIGHTON

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — This is a topsy-turvy world and science is beginning to prove it.

If you could strip the outer crust off the earth, you'd find that it looks about the same on the bottom side as it does on the top side.

Where there are mountains on the face of the globe, directly beneath are corresponding thickenings of the earth's crust. Where the earth's surface is flat, the crust is thin.

Allowing for minor variations caused by erosion, you could turn the earth's skin inside out and upside down and not find any appreciable difference.

This was disclosed Sunday in the annual report of Dr. L. A. DuBridge, president of the California Institute of Technology.

"Caltech and Columbia University geophysicists," the report said, "have produced the first generalized map of the underside of the North American continent in the U.S. sector. The bottom of the continental plate appears to have projections and depressions which in a general fashion are mirror images of the larger topographic features of the land surface."

The "underside" map was produced jointly by Dr. Frank Press of Caltech and Dr. Maurice Ewing of Columbia after measuring shock waves from the Samoa earthquake of April 14, 1957.

"The speed of these waves," Dr. Press explained in an interview, "was recorded at numerous stations across the United States. The differences in speed gave us an indication of the varying thickness of the earth's crust. When we placed a sketch of a cross section of the United States above a sketch of the underside of the crust, we found they coincided closely."

Irrigation canals have transformed the Coachella and Imperial Valleys, once a hostile wildrness, into an agricultural empire.

Lack Of Trust Cuts Through Geneva Talks

By TOM OCHILTREE

GENEVA (AP)—Diplomats and military experts of East and West go about their business in two Geneva arms control conferences like men afraid of being plunged suddenly through a hidden trap door.

They test the ground carefully in front of them before taking a step. Sometimes they stand still until the other side has made a tiny move.

This complete lack of trust cuts through both conferences. It explains in large part the divergent Eastern and Western approaches to the problem of nuclear test suspension. In the technical talks on prevention of surprise attack it brings clashes of purpose.

For a month, Delegate Semyon Tsarapkin, a genial craggy-faced man, has insisted the United States and Britain join Russia in promising an immediate and permanent suspension of atomic and hydrogen bomb tests.

He suggested the agreement could be signed at the end of the three-power conference along with a protocol covering the organization of an international control system.

But, the American and British asked, what about Russia helping work out the details of an international control system? What assurance has the West that the Russians ever will accept a foolproof inspection organization? Would foreign observers ever be allowed on Russian soil with freedom to travel and check whether secret explosions have taken place?

The two Western powers would fall into a trap if they promised to end tests and then found they were unable to bring the Russians to agreement on controls.

Broad-shouldered U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth and British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore have introduced a list of 13 basic requirements on controls. They want Tsarapkin to express himself on these points and on ways of bringing other countries, such as Communist China, into the setup.

But the Russians profess to see a trap. Tsarapkin asked what assurance has the Soviet Union that the West will not use this control system approach to go on and on into mountains of details without ever getting down to ending tests?

The experts from the United States, Britain France, Italy and Canada came to Geneva to study weapons and alert systems.

The Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Albania claim this approach is so abstract it is meaningless. The Soviet bloc brought in a sweeping list of disarmament proposals aimed at weakening the defensive strength of the NATO Alliance and shutting down U.S. overseas bases.

After three weeks of talks the Communist countries still refuse to take part in technical studies. The Western nations ignore the Communist disarmament proposals on the grounds that these are political in nature and outside the scope of the conference.

Despite the lack of progress in both conferences, the West is willing to go on talking almost indefinitely in Geneva to give negotiation every chance of producing some results.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

You can be a real "Sleeping Beauty," and awaken lovely each morning.

Sleep And Awake In Beauty

Why not retire pretty . . . sleep pretty . . . and wake up fresh and glowing?

Before retiring, eradicate make-up with a cleanser; remove with tissues. Follow with a thorough "fingertip" washing of mild soap and warm water; rinse thoroughly and pat dry.

Apply the thinnest layer of a night-care lotion if your skin is oily, or a lubricant if your skin is dry. Sparingly applied, your skin will get all the night-complexion dress it needs with nary a visible trace after just a few moments. What a pretty contrast you are to the members of the thick-coat-of-grease school!

Lipstick comes next. Yes, you wear it all night long and it looks as smooth in the morning as when you apply it. Furthermore, when it's a pure, lanolin-based lipstick it's an important part of your beauty care because it keeps the skin of your lips from becoming dry and wrinkled.

Apply two coats; blot between each. Then you'll find your lipstick on your lips, not on your pillow when you awaken.

To enhance your night-blooming beauty, dress your hair in your favorite style. Brush it thoroughly; comb and coax it into place until it is as well-groomed as you'd want it for an important occasion. Then insert pins in the strategic waves to hold them firmly in place for the night. Squeeze your hair with the palms of your hands, moving contrariwise from the center of your forehead to the middle of the back of your head. This works like magic, making the thousands of short hairs blend with the longer ones to lock your hair style perfectly in place for the night. Cap your lovely head with a ribbon, a contour net or veiling. You'll go to sleep and awaken looking your loveliest.

TOMORROW: You Can't Have Grace Without Balance.

Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♠.

North and South reached the only slam contract today that had a chance for success, and then declarer had to play with great care to overcome both the adverse trump break and the "killing lead."

The bidding was sound. When South raised North's response, the latter sensed a slam and showed the ace of diamonds to probe further. South now rebid his hearts and North took charge of the situation via Blackwood consigning the hand to six hearts when he learned his side was off an ace.

West opened the four of spades on which East played the ace and continued with the queen at trick two, forcing dummy to ruff. The king of hearts revealed the bad news in trumps, and made it look for all the world as tho East had a sure trick. However, declarer hit upon an ingenious method of bringing home the contract.

He cashed dummy's ace and king of diamonds and discarded first the king of clubs and then the ace! This rather spectacular play was vital to success, for it provided declarer with two entries to dummy. Declarer ruffed a diamond in the closed hand and led a club to the jack. He ruffed another diamond and led a club to dummy's queen. Observe this maneuver would not have been possible had South retained the ace and king of clubs. Declarer then led a club and ruffed in his hand for the third time. South was now left with two trumps, the ace and 10, and a little spade. The spade was ruffed with dummy's queen of trumps and on the return from dummy East was trapped.

Deer Hunter Shot In Ankle Near Elkins

ELKINS, W. Va. (UPI)—John W. Worrell, 43, Princeton, was hospitalized here Monday with a gunshot wound in the ankle received in a deer hunting accident.

A spokesman for the West Virginia Conservation Commission said Worrell was shot by Bill Gordon, Columbus, Ohio, while hunting in the Sinks area near the Randolph County line.

He became the first reported casualty of the 1958 deer season in West Virginia. Some 100,000 hunters were expected to converge on woodland areas in the first three days of the six-day season which got under way Monday.

Hunting pressure was reported heaviest in the northeastern counties of Hardy, Grant, Mineral, Lewis, Pocahontas and Tucker. The weather was clear and cold with a little snow in the mountains.

The Conservation Commission also said Monday that waterfowl hunting on the Ohio River was legal during deer season with the exception of geese in Mason County.

Aluminum Auto Tags Proposed

W.Va. To Adopt Lighter Plates

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Department of Motor Vehicles plans to do away with steel license plates in favor of a lighter, weather-resistant aluminum tag, it was disclosed Monday.

State Purchasing Director Randall L. Baumgardner said he has been asked by Motor Vehicles Commissioner Hubert A. Kelly to advertise for bids on 90,000 pounds of aluminum to be delivered to Moundsville Penitentiary where the new red-on-white plates will be manufactured.

Bids will be received by the purchasing department Dec. 15, Baumgardner said. The aluminum would be enough for 800,000 tags.

Kelly's plan calls for a aluminum tag for 1959-60 and only a date tab for the following year, using the same number plate at least two years, Baumgardner said.

The initial cost of the aluminum plate would be higher than the steel but Kelly believes the new plate will be cheaper in the long run because of its lightness.

Last year, Motor Vehicles paid $11,213 for 150,000 pounds of steel for an average of four cents a plate. Baumgardner estimates aluminum would raise the price to about five cents a tag.

It cost the state up to 12 cents postage to mail an eight ounce steel plate while a four ounce aluminum plate will reduce that to about six cents, Baumgardner said. The small tab would cost even less to mail.

Randolph Praises Women For Part In US Politics

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's women came in for some praise Monday from Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W. Va.) for their efforts in taking a greater part in the political affairs of the United States.

Randolph, in an address before the Women's National Democratic Club, noted that the women had to take the lead themselves "in the face of rather determined resistance from men."

"The very success of women in achieving equality in our social life and eminence in public affairs has brought its own problems," Randolph noted.

Eligible women voters outnumber men by almost five million and "every candidate for public office is sensitive to the power of what is referred to as the 'woman's vote,'" almost as though it were the bloc vote," he explained.

However, Randolph maintained that the women's vote is not a bloc vote. "Women do not have special interests peculiar to their sex. Like men, they are people and the Democratic Party treats them like people, not political pawns."

Stock Market Racks Up Third Straight Advance

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market added another billion dollars to its recovery in its third consecutive advance.

The rise was smaller than those of either Thursday or Friday and it came on reduced turnover—3,300,000 shares aainst 4,120,000.

Individual issues, however, showed gains running well over 2 points in many instances—particularly in the television—electronics group, tobaccos and steels.

Several business news items helped support the market, including the outlook for higher steel output, good demand for 1959 autos, higher building figures and the successful firing of an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

Some specialties responded to individual news announcements. Chain Belt ran up over 4 on a 50 per cent stock dividend; Texas Instruments gained nearly 3 on a forecast for sharply higher sales and earnings.

Gains in the televisions ranged to 5 points in Zenith; a point to 2 in Admiral, RCA, Motorola. Among electronics, Tung-Sol, Minneapolis Honeywell and Texas Instruments added a point to nearly 3 points.

Du Pont paced a higher chemical group most o fthe session and held a point of its rise. Union Carbide and Nopco were up around 2. Eastman Kodak, however, fell nearly 2 points. Among pharmaceuticals, Stauffer rose 1¾, American Home Products 2⅝, McKesson & Robbins 1½ while Merck lost close to a point.

Steel gains ranged close to 4 points in Youngstown, 3 in Inland. Bath Iron Works picked up nearly 2 points and Newport News over a point in the shipbuilders. Richfield highlighted oils with a 3 point gain. American Telephone rose 2, General Foods 2, Combustion Engineering 2⅛, North American Aviation 1⅞, General Dynamics 1¾.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Generally firm prices marked grain futures at the close Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ⅛ to off ¼ cent; corn (old) unchanged to up ⅝ cent; (new) up ⅝ to off ¼ cent; oats unchanged to up ⅜ cent; rye up ⅝ to 1⅛ cents; soybeans up ⅛ to ⅝ cent.

Observers considered the session's main feature to be its sluggish trade and general inactivity.

December wheat edged forward, helped by early Commission House buying. Sales of March wheat picked up slightly when December began its advance. Trade, however, was slow.

Oats shadowed wheat and corn in their moderate price advances.

Processors bought soybeans and absorbed offerings of elevator houses.

Grains at outside markets were steady to firm. The range:

Lack Of Trust Cuts Through Geneva Talks

By TOM OCHILTREE

GENEVA (AP)—Diplomats and military experts of East and West go about their business in two Geneva arms control conferences like men afraid of being plunged suddenly through a hidden trap door.

They test the ground carefully in front of them before taking a step. Sometimes they stand still until the other side has made a tiny move.

This complete lack of trust cuts through both conferences. It explains in large part the divergent Eastern and Western approaches to the problem of nuclear test suspension. In the technical talks on prevention of surprise attack it brings clashes of purpose.

For a month, Delegate Semyon Tsarapkin, a genial craggy-faced man, has insisted the United States and Britain join Russia in promising an immediate and permanent suspension of atomic and hydrogen bomb tests.

He suggested the agreement could be signed at the end of the three-power conference along with a protocol covering the organization of an international control system.

But, the American and British asked, what about Russia helping work out the details of an international control system? What assurance has the West that the Russians ever will accept a foolproof inspection organization? Would foreign observers ever be allowed on Russian soil with freedom to travel and check whether secret explosions have taken place?

The two Western powers would fall into a trap if they promised to end tests and then found they were unable to bring the Russians to agreement on controls.

Broad-shouldered U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth and British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore have introduced a list of 13 basic requirements on controls. They want Tsarapkin to express himself on these points and on ways of bringing other countries, such as Communist China, into the setup.

But the Russians profess to see a trap. Tsarapkin asked what assurance has the Soviet Union that the West will not use this control system approach to go on and on into mountains of details without ever getting down to ending tests?

In the 10-nation talks on surprise attack problems the Western side suspects the Eastern side is trying to turn the proceedings into a propaganda circus.

The experts from the United States, Britain France, Italy and Canada came to Geneva to study weapons and alert systems.

The Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Albania claim this approach is so abstract it is meaningless. The Soviet bloc brought in a sweeping list of disarmament proposals aimed at weakening the defensive strength of the NATO Alliance and shutting down U.S. overseas bases.

After three weeks of talks the Communist countries still refuse to take part in technical studies. The Western nations ignore the Communist disarmament proposals on the grounds that these are political in nature and outside the scope of the conference.

Despite the lack of progress in both conferences, the West is willing to go on talking almost indefinitely in Geneva to give negotiation every chance of producing some results.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

You can be a real "Sleeping Beauty," and awaken lovely each morning.

Sleep And Awake In Beauty

Why not retire pretty ... sleep pretty ... and wake up fresh and glowing?

Before retiring, eradicate make-up with a cleanser; remove with tissues. Follow with a thorough "fingertip" washing of mild soap and warm water; rinse thoroughly and pat dry.

Apply the thinnest layer of a night-care lotion if your skin is oily, or a lubricant if your skin is dry. Sparingly applied, your skin will get all the night-complexion dress it needs with nary a visible trace after just a few moments. What a pretty contrast you are to the members of the thick-coat-of-grease school!

Lipstick comes next. Yes, you wear it all night long and it looks as smooth in the morning as when you apply it. Furthermore, when it's a pure, lanolin-based lipstick it's an important part of your beauty care because it keeps the skin of your lips from becoming dry and wrinkled.

Apply two coats; blot between each. Then you'll find your lipstick on your lips, not on your pillow when you awaken.

To enhance your night-blooming beauty, dress your hair in your favorite style. Brush it thoroughly; comb and coax it into place until it is as well-groomed as you'd want it for an important occasion. Then insert pins in the strategic waves to hold them firmly in place for the night. Squeeze your hair with the palms of your hands, moving contrariwise from the center of your forehead to the middle of the back of your head. This works like magic, making the thousands of short hairs blend with the longer ones to lock your hair style perfectly in place for the night. Cap your lovely head with a ribbon, a contour net or veiling. You'll go to sleep and awaken looking your loveliest.

Opening lead: Four of ♠.

The bidding was sound. When South raised North's response, the latter sensed a slam and showed the ace of diamonds to probe further. South now rebid his hearts and North took charge of the situation via Blackwood consigning the hand to six hearts when he learned his side was off an ace.

West opened the four of spades on which East played the ace and continued with the queen at trick two, forcing dummy to ruff. The king of hearts revealed the bad news in trumps, and made it look for all the world as tho East had a sure trick. However, declarer hit upon an ingenious method of bringing home the contract.

He cashed dummy's ace and king of diamonds and discarded first the king of clubs and then the ace! This rather spectacular play was vital to success, for it provided declarer with two entries to dummy. Declarer ruffed a diamond in the closed hand and led a club to the jack. He ruffed another diamond and led a club to dummy's queen. Observe this maneuver would not have been possible had South retained the ace and king of clubs. Declarer then led a club and ruffed in his hand for the third time. South was now left with two trumps, the ace and 10, and a little spade. The spade was ruffed with dummy's queen of trumps and on the return from dummy East was trapped.

Deer Hunter Shot In Ankle Near Elkins

ELKINS, W. Va. (UPI)—John W. Worrell, 43, Princeton, was hospitalized here Monday with a gunshot wound in the ankle received in a deer hunting accident.

A spokesman for the West Virginia Conservation Commission said Worrell was shot by Bill Gordon, Columbus, Ohio, while hunting in the Sinks area near the Randolph County line.

He became the first reported casualty of the 1958 deer season in West Virginia. Some 100,000 hunters were expected to converge on woodland areas in the first three days of the six-day season which got under way Monday.

Hunting pressure was reported heaviest in the northeastern counties of Hardy, Grant, Mineral, Lewis, Pocahontas and Tucker. The weather was clear and cold with a little snow in the mountains.

The Conservation Commission also said Monday that waterfowl hunting on the Ohio River was legal during deer season with the exception of geese in Mason County.

Aluminum Auto Tags Proposed

W.Va. To Adopt Lighter Plates

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Department of Motor Vehicles plans to do away with steel license plates in favor of a lighter, weather-resistant aluminum tag, it was disclosed Monday.

State Purchasing Director Randall L. Baumgardner said he has been asked by Motor Vehicles Commissioner Hubert A. Kelly to advertise for bids on 90,000 pounds of aluminum to be delivered to Moundsville Penitentiary where the new red-on-white plates will be manufactured.

Bids will be received by the purchasing department Dec. 15, Baumgardner said. The aluminum would be enough for 800,000 tags.

Kelly's plan calls for a aluminum tag for 1959-60 and only a date tab for the following year, using the same number plate at least two years, Baumgardner said.

The initial cost of the aluminum plate would be higher than the steel but Kelly believes the new plate will be cheaper in the long run because of its lightness.

Last year, Motor Vehicles paid $11,213 for 150,000 pounds of steel for an average of four cents a plate. Baumgardner estimates aluminum would raise the price to about five cents a tag.

It cost the state up to 12 cents postage to mail an eight ounce steel plate while a four ounce aluminum plate will reduce that to about six cents, Baumgardner said. The small tab would cost even less to mail.

Randolph Praises Women For Part In US Politics

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's women came in for some praise Monday from Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W. Va.) for their efforts in taking a greater part in the political affairs of the United States.

Randolph, in an address before the Women's National Democratic Club, noted that the women had to take the lead themselves "in the face of rather determined resistance from men."

"The very success of women in achieving equality in our social life and eminence in public affairs has brought its own problems," Randolph noted.

Eligible women voters outnumber men by almost five million and "every candidate for public office is sensitive to the power of what is referred to as the 'woman's vote,' almost as though it were the bloc vote," he explained.

However, Randolph maintained that the women's vote is not a bloc vote. "Women do not have special interests peculiar to their sex. Like men, they are people and the Democratic Party treats them like people, not political pawns."

Paper Firm, Union Meeting Set Thursday

Negotiations Reopening Asked

The bogdown of negotiations for a new contract between the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and Local 676, UPP, CIO-AFL of Luke was discussed at a public meeting held last night in the Union Hall at Westernport.

Among the items discussed were job seniority, leave of absence, and insurance for employes. Wilbur Johnson, president of the local, presided, and introduced Harry Scott, regional director of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers Union.

Efforts were made to clarify interpretations of the present contract of the Covington and Luke mills.

Meeting Set

Mr. Scott said a meeting of the paper company and the union has been scheduled for Thursday at 10 a. m. in Washington.

The company's final offer of November 15 included wage increases ranging from four to 13 cents per hour, improved hospitalization and better vacations, allowing three weeks after 10 years of service.

Gilbert S. McCutcheon of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, who attended the final negotiating session last month, also plans to be on hand in Washington Thursday.

Reopening of negotiations was requested by Scott. Westvaco officials said it would be a one day meeting.

"Final Offer"

D.C.Valentine, company spokesman, said "although the company has had no reason to ask for a meeting, we will be glad to participate in Thursday's discussion for the purpose of getting understanding and acceptance of our final offer. We have gone as far as we can, however, in making concessions."

The contract between the union and company expired Nov. 17. Workers have agreed to continue on the job under provisions of the old contract.

Affected are employes at Westvaco plants here, in Luke, Md., and Williamsburg, Pa.

The main points at issue between the company and union are working conditions. The Mechanicville, N. Y. plant is newly represented by the union and also is negotiating a contract.

Deer Season Brings Drop In Blood Donation

Only 92 Pints Given Monday

Cumberland donated only 92 pints of blood to the Red Cross bloodmobile unit here yesterday, when only 63 of 175 scheduled volunteers kept their appointments. Red Cross officials said efforts made to contact a number of those scheduled showed that many of them went deer hunting as yesterday was the first day of the open season.

In addition to the 63 persons who kept their appointments there were 36 volunteer walkins, nine of whom gave blood for the first time. Physicians on duty were Dr. L. Louis Mould, Dr. A. J. Mirkin and Dr. Benedict Skitarelic. They rejected seven volunteers due to colds or other disabilities.

The next visit in January is scheduled for the Celanese Corp. plant at Amcelle, with the next public visit at the Eagles Building, scheduled for early in February.

Among the donors yesterday were three Two-Gallon Club members and six new Gallon Club members.

The new Two Gallon Club members are Richard L. Ball, 803 Brookfield Avenue; Gerald G. Pase, RFD No. 5; and John D. Hensell, RFD No. 4.

Sunshine Ends Area Cold Spell

Bright sunshine brought in rapidly rising temperatures yesterday as the Tri-State area broke from the grip of the severe cold spell of the past weekend.

The thermometer rose to a high of 47 degree at Constitution Park's weather station in Cumberland. The mercury rose rapidly after noon from 27 to 47 in about three hours. Low for the day was yesterday morning's reading of 11 degrees, one degree warmer than Sunday.

At 8 o'clock last night the temperature registered 40 degrees above zero.

Oakland, which froze with two degrees below zero on Sunday in the wake of an early morning snowstorm, yesterday saw the mercury shoot to a high of 36 degrees. The low in the Garrett County community was two degrees above zero.

The temperature started rising at Oakland shortly after midnight. From an eight degree reading at 6 a. m. the thermometer rose to 32 degrees at 8 a. m. It finally rose to 36 shortly after noon.

Hump Cut Job To Begin Wednesday

Leveling of the hump on the approach to the Baltimore Street Bridge will begin Wednesday at 7 p. m., Mayor J. Edwin Keech was advised yesterday.

Crews, he said he was told, will work around-the-clock and expect to finish work on the approach Thursday night.

Police Chief Emmett R. Flynn said the Police Department will have men on duty at strategic points to keep traffic moving.

Motorists were urged to cooperate so the work can be accomplished with the minimum disruption to traffic.

The work will include the removal of the temporary tracks which carried rail traffic over Wills Creek while the new railway bridge was built, cutting the hump down to the old easy grade and blacktopping of the approach.

Three Killed On Turnpike Near Bedford

All Belonged To Same Family

A Massachusetts serviceman, his wife and their 19-month-old daughter were killed yesterday about 6 p. m. in a spectacular three-vehicle accident on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about three miles west of Bedford, Pa.

State Police at Everett identified the victims as Air Force Sgt. Elmer E. Mitchell, 35, of 1187 Massachusetts Avenue, Arlington, Mass.; his wife, Mrs. Louise Mitchell, 36, and Mary Ann Mitchell, 19 months.

Ralph Mickel, deputy county coroner of Schellsburg, said the three died instantly in the crash. They were thrown from their station wagon into the path of a passing automobile which struck the three of them, he said. The station wagon then hit the rear of a tractor-trailer truck.

Injured in the crash was Philomena Ferrari, the 49-year-old sister of Mrs. Mitchell. Unhurt, although he was taken to the Bedford County Memorial Hospital, was Anthony Mitchell, the five-month old son of the dead couple. Mrs. Ferrari was treated at the hospital for minor injuries and released.

Investigating officers said the accident occurred on turnpike milepost 142 in Napier Township as the Mitchells were traveling west toward Ohio. The station wagon began to weave back and forth across the highway, witnesses told police, before it struck a guard rail throwing the victims into the path of an east-bound car.

Police said they have not determined if Sgt. Mitchell was being transferred to another base or the cause of accident.

Flight Pattern Change Urged At Airport Here

A right hand flight pattern for the approach to the No. 1 runway at the Cumberland Municipal Airport at Wiley Ford has been requested by William Holbrook, chief pilot of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here.

The matter was discussed last night during a meeting of the Airport Commission which was held at the City Hall. The request was referred to Dr. W. Royce Hodges, a member of the commission, who was asked to contact a number of other pilots to learn of their feeling toward the plan.

A letter was received from Warren G. Mullenax, airport manager, who asked that a new building replace one which was damaged by fire sometime ago.

No action was taken on replacing the maintenance building and as yet no bids have been received. City Engineer Charles Nuzum is handling the matter.

The commission has renewed its contract with Allegheny Airlines and the new pact will run from December 4, 1958 to December 3, 1961.

Attending the meeting last night were Arthur Weber, chairman; G. Wyatt Breneman, secretary; Dr. Hodges, Thomas Richards, Donald Shires and Mayor J. Edwin Keech. Absent were Donald Smith and Robert M. Hainsfurther.

Youth Conference Opens For Over 200 Here Friday

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, over 200 Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y delegates from YMCA's in Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey will attend the annual YMCA Youth Conference in Cumberland.

It has been over 15 years since the Cumberland YMCA has acted as host association for this outstanding Youth Conference which annually moves to different locations in the three states. During the past years, Bethesda, Dundalk, Wilmington, Chevy Chase, Annapolis and other cities have extended the invitation that brings the high school youths together to discuss youth problems and their solutions.

Most of the plans for the conference are complete. Arrangements have been made to hold the conference at Fort Hill High School. Meals have been arranged; conference discussion leaders have been lined up; transportation is being worked out for the young people; a social program has been arranged and the final meeting on Sunday afternoon has been planned at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

The big drawback now is housing. With only three days left before the delegates arrive, only a few over 100 have been placed in homes in Cumberland and vicinity.

B. U. Smith, general secretary of the local YMCA, who arranged housing for four years at Annapolis when delegations from all YMCA's in Maryland participated, expressed great concern over the number of persons who had not responded to the request to act as hosts for the young people over the three day period.

"Adults will be housed at the "Y" and in nearby hotels," Smith stated, "but if the young people had to pay for hotels in addition to the normal conference fee, we would only have a very small group." In over 600 letters sent out from the YMCA requesting assistance, only 50 have answered in the affirmative, he said.

"Many persons have not yet answered," Mr. Smith continued, "and our only hope of succeeding in this project is to have many of those persons who have not returned cards to do so immediately or to call the "Y". There may be persons who have just returned the cards without much thought with a negative answer who would be able to host two or three delegates if they understood the seriousness of the situation," Mr. Smith said.

In spite of the long distance from Cumberland for most of the delegations, the 200 figure is about average and the full compliment will be on hand for registration on Friday at 4 p.m.

Registrations already have been received as follows:

Wilmington, Del., 47; Central Branch, Washington, D.C., 2; Fairfax County — Falls Church, Va., 3; Anne Arundel County, 26; Druid Hill, Baltimore, 2; Dundalk Branch, Baltimore, 29; North Baltimore, 12; Elkton, 4; Frederick, 23; Hagerstown, 22; North Street Branch, Hagerstown, 4; Millville, N. J., 40; and Allegany County, 10.

Any person able to help in the housing of one or more of the delegates is requested to call the Central YMCA as soon as possible, Mr. Smith said. The phone number is PA 4-5445.

25 Cent Boost In Hunting Fee Proposed

Funds To Be Used To Buy Up Lands

A plan to boost hunting license fees and use the extra money to buy hunting lands was presented to Allegany County legislators last night.

Proposed by the Western Maryland Wildlife Federation, the proposal calls for adding 25 cents to all hunting licenses.

The money, Herbert Knepp, federation president, would be used as a special fund to be added to the Game Commission budget to buy public hunting land only.

He told Senator Charles M. See and the Allegany County Delegation the money could not be earmarked for this area but that the bulk of the hunting land purchases would be in Western Maryland because of the availability of land.

The federation also proposed that one day be added to the present deer season and that the extra day be on the first Saturday before the first full hunting week of December.

The extra day, Mr. Knepp said, would give working people a chance for two weekends of deer hunting.

The Federation, he said, has come out in full support of the present ban on Sunday hunting. There have been efforts, Mr. Knepp said, to allow hunting on Sundays.

The Federation also told the Allegany County Delegation it wishes the Water Pollution Control Commission to be a separate department and not combined with any other state agency.

UHF-TV Group To Launch Fund Drive Thursday

The Peoples Community Television Association (UHF) will hold a meeting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at City Hall to launch its drive to secure funds for equipment.

For the past several weeks officials of the association have been conducting an investigation and consulting attorneys, television engineers and qualified experts in the UHF-TV field about the possibility of introducing the system in the Cumberland area.

The contemplated system would consist of highly technical equipment installed at Dan's Rock. This equipment would receive VHF signals and transform them into UHF signals and then beam UHF-TV signals over a wide area.

Officials of the association report this system has proved successful in other communities and could be compared to a local multi-channel TV station.

It is the aim of the association to have one channel broadcasting in the Cumberland area within 60 days and to provide other channels as soon as sufficient funds are available.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech has been invited by the association to attend the meeting Thursday and present a receipt to the first contributor to the fund drive.

The association is a non-profit organization and if it raises sufficient funds it will provide free TV in the area. Frostburg already has the system in operation.

Conservation Research Lab Urged For Area

County Legislators Will Back Proposal

Allegany County legislators last night approved a proposal to establish a branch of the State Department of Research and Education in Western Maryland.

State Senator Charles M. See pointed out the unit might have to be small in the beginning and suggested backers of the plan "better try to crawl before walking fast."

Crawling will be necessary for the start, it was pointed out, as no funds are budgeted and support would have to be provided in the supplemental budget.

The desirability of establishing the branch facility in this area was stressed by Don A. Emerson, instructor in conservation and natural resources at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Trained scientists are needed, he said, to find the answers to conservation problems in Maryland.

Minke Backs Plan

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, said he was "elated" over the possibility of securing a research laboratory for this area, pointing out the nearest wildlife laboratory facilities are 160 miles away.

The job of the commission, according to its director, Dr. L. Eugene Cronin, is to conduct research on the natural resources of Maryland.

He said the plan is "not my proposal" and that he was not asking for it, but explained a branch unit could make a good contribution.

Dr. Cronin discussed various projects of the department, including studies at Deep Creek Lake and added the department believes it has its finger on the problem that makes fishing poor in the lake.

Among the projects in which the department is interested, Dr. Cronin said, are rough grouse, improvement of winter fishing, the best varieties of trees and the migration of woodcock.

To Be Research Unit

Dr. Cronin agreed it would be a good thing for this end of the state if the branch plan were approached reasonably.

The brand would serve as a work research and conservation education center.

Delegate William Walsh pointed out the area would have to come

Barnard Lists $1,150 Expenses

Robert E. Barnard Jr., who served as campaign treasurer for William Walsh, successful Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates, has filed a report with Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, which shows that his contributions and expenditures balanced out at $1,150.30.

Mr. Barnard's list of contributors included 14 names, starting with his own firm of Barnes-Barnard-Geare, which gave $250.30. Seven $100 contributors were listed, including M. D. Reinhart Agency, John J. McMullen, A. H. Wilson, Edward F. Mullan Jr., Hugh A. McMullen, Milton Gerson and Jack McMullen.

There were $50 contributions from W. L. Wilson Jr. and P. J. Arendes and $25 each from John Buchanon, COPE, Rosella K. VanderLught and C. Z. Heskett.

Expenditures were topped by $498.30 to the Tri-State Advertising Company for billboards. Others included $303.50 to the Cumberland Messenger for newspaper advertisements, $126 to WKYR for radio advertisements, $104 to Cumberland Valley Broadcasting Company for radio advertisements, $94.50 to the Times and Alleganian Company for newspaper advertisements and $24 to the Allegany Citizen for newspaper advertisements.

King And Queen Of Smiles To Be Picked In Maryland

A meeting to deal with man's age-old problem of dental disease will be staged by the Council on Dental Health of the State Dental Association at a dinner meeting Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at the Park Plaza Hotel in Baltimore.

Dr. Filbert L. Moore, chairman of the Council, said representatives of all components of the State Association are expected to attend.

Dr. Moore pointed out that tooth decay is still the most widespread disease in this country, affecting perhaps 97 per cent of Americans sometime during their lives.

Several dentists, he added, will work out plans for the 1959 celebration of Children's Dental Health Week, February 8-14.

One of the features, he said, will be selection of the King and Queen of Smiles, in cooperation with the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian associations.

Cooperation of teachers in the city and state, as well as health and education leaders, is being sought in order to make this one of the most outstanding observances, for Dr. Moore said 1959 is the 100th anniversary of the American Dental Association.

Pointing out that more and more research is being done on the causes of tooth decay and other dental diseases, Dr. Moore said the dental profession is eagerly watching research projects which are being conducted in nearly every dental school in the country, as well as in other institutions.

Emphasis is on prevention, however, he said, and that is why —regardless of the research results — dentists are taking such great interest in Children's Dental Health Week.

Dr. Eugene L. Pessagno, Baltimore, is president of the Maryland State Dental Association. Serving with Dr. Moore on the Dental Health Council are Drs. F. J. Bryce, Silver Spring; V. S. Leocha, Annapolis; D. J. Sanders, Baltimore, and L. P. Greenberg, Baltimore.

Stock Market Racks Up Third Straight Advance

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market added another billion dollars to its recovery in its third consecutive advance.

The rise was smaller than those of either Thursday or Friday and it came on reduced turnover—3,300,000 shares aainst 4,120,000.

Individual issues, however, showed gains running well over 2 points in many instances—particularly in the television—electronics group, tobaccos and steels.

Several business news items helped support the market, including the outlook for higher steel output, good demand for 1959 autos, higher building figures and the successful firing of an Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

Some specialties responded to individual news announcements. Chain Belt ran up over 4 on a 50 per cent stock dividend; Texas Instruments gained nearly 3 on a forecast for sharply higher sales and earnings.

Gains in the televisions ranged to 5 points in Zenith; a point to 2 in Admiral, RCA, Motorola. Among electronics, Tung-Sol, Minneapolis Honeywell and Texas Instruments added a point to nearly 3 points.

Du Pont paced a higher chemical group most o fthe session and held a point of its rise. Union Carbide and Nopco were [illegible] around 2. Eastman Kodak, however, fell nearly 2 points. Among pharmaceuticals, Stauffer rose 1¾, American Home Products 2⅝, McKesson & Robbins 1½ while Merck lost close to a point.

Steel gains ranged close to 4 points in Youngstown, 3 in Inland. Bath Iron Works picked up nearly 2 points and Newport News over a point in the shipbuilders. Richfield highlighted oils with a 3 point gain. American Telephone rose 2, General Foods 2, Combustion Engineering 2⅛, North American Aviation 1⅞, General Dynamics 1¾.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Generally firm prices marked grain futures at the close Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ⅛ to off ¼ cent; corn (old) unchanged to up ⅜ cent; (new) up ⅝ to off ¼ cent; oats unchanged to up ⅜ cent; rye up ⅝ to 1⅛ cents; soybeans up ⅛ to ⅝ cent.

Observers considered the session's main feature to be its sluggish trade and general inactivity.

December wheat edged forward, helped by early Commission House buying. Sales of March wheat picked up slightly when December began its advance. Trade, however, was slow.

Small receipts at terminal markets inspired buying activity in corn. Continued holding on the part of farmers and moderate tenders on December contracts helped the buying movement. Some March corn was bought by commercial houses, and May be processors.

Oats shadowed wheat and corn in their moderate price advances.

Processors bought soybeans and absorbed offerings of elevator houses.

Paper Firm, Union Meeting Set Thursday

Negotiations Reopening Asked

The bogdown of negotiations for a new contract between the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and Local 676, UPP, CIO-AFL of Luke was discussed at a public meeting held last night in the Union Hall at Westernport.

Among the items discussed were job seniority, leave of absence, and insurance for employes. Wilbur Johnson, president of the local, presided, and introduced Harry Scott, regional director of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers Union.

Efforts were made to clarify interpretations of the present contract of the Covington and Luke mills.

Meeting Set

Mr. Scott said a meeting of the paper company and the union has been scheduled for Thursday at 10 a. m. in Washington.

The company's final offer of November 15 included wage increases ranging from four to 13 cents per hour, improved hospitalization and better vacations, allowing three weeks after 10 years of service.

Gilbert S. McCutcheon of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, who attended the final negotiating session last month, also plans to be on hand in Washington Thursday.

Reopening of negotiations was requested by Scott. Westvaco officials said it would be a one day meeting.

"Final Offer"

D.C.Valentine, company spokesman, said "although the company has had no reason to ask for a meeting, we will be glad to participate in Thursday's discussion for the purpose of getting understanding and acceptance of our final offer. We have gone as far as we can, however, in making concessions."

The contract between the union and company expired Nov. 17. Workers have agreed to continue on the job under provisions of the old contract.

Affected are employes at Westvaco plants here, in Luke, Md., and Williamsburg, Pa.

The main points at issue between the company and union are working conditions. The Mechanicville, N. Y. plant is newly represented by the union and also is negotiating a contract.

Deer Season Brings Drop In Blood Donation

Only 92 Pints Given Monday

Cumberland donated only 92 pints of blood to the Red Cross bloodmobile unit here yesterday, when only 63 of 175 scheduled volunteers kept their appointments. Red Cross officials said efforts made to contact a number of those scheduled showed that many of them went deer hunting as yesterday was the first day of the open season.

In addition to the 63 persons who kept their appointments there were 36 volunteer walkins, nine of whom gave blood for the first time. Physicians on duty were Dr. L. Louis Mould, Dr. A. J. Mirkin and Dr. Benedict Skitarelic. They rejected seven volunteers due to colds or other disabilities.

The next visit in January is scheduled for the Celanese Corp. plant at Amcelle, with the next public visit at the Eagles Building, scheduled for early in February.

Among the donors yesterday were three Two-Gallon Club members and six new Gallon Club members.

Sunshine Ends Area Cold Spell

Bright sunshine brought in rapidly rising temperatures yesterday as the Tri-State area broke from the grip of the severe cold spell of the past weekend.

The thermometer rose to a high of 47 degree at Constitution Park's weather station in Cumberland. The mercury rose rapidly after noon from 27 to 47 in about three hours. Low for the day was yesterday morning's reading of 11 degrees, one degree warmer than Sunday.

At 8 o'clock last night the temperature registered 40 degrees above zero.

Oakland, which froze with two degrees below zero on Sunday in the wake of an early morning snowstorm, yesterday saw the mercury shoot to a high of 36 degrees. The low in the Garrett County community was two degrees above zero.

The temperature started rising at Oakland shortly after midnight. From an eight degree reading at 6 a. m. the thermometer rose to 32 degrees at 8 a. m. It finally rose to 36 shortly after noon.

The barometer was rising slowly at Oakland although winds were still blowing heavily last night.

Highways in Western Maryland were reported clear and dry last night.

Forecast for today is cloudy and not so cold.

Hump Cut Job To Begin Wednesday

Leveling of the hump on the approach to the Baltimore Street Bridge will begin Wednesday at 7 p. m., Mayor J. Edwin Keech was advised yesterday.

Crews, he said he was told, will work around-the-clock and expect to finish work on the approach Thursday night.

Police Chief Emmett R. Flynn said the Police Department will have men on duty at strategic points to keep traffic moving.

Motorists were urged to cooperate so the work can be accomplished with the minimum disruption to traffic.

The work will include the removal of the temporary tracks which carried rail traffic over Wills Creek while the new railway bridge was built, cutting the hump down to the old easy grade and blacktopping of the approach.

Three Killed On Turnpike Near Bedford

All Belonged To Same Family

A Massachusetts serviceman, his wife and their 19-month-old daughter were killed yesterday about 6 p. m. in a spectacular three-vehicle accident on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about three miles west of Bedford, Pa.

State Police at Everett identified the victims as Air Force Sgt. Elmer E. Mitchell, 35, of 1187 Massachusetts Avenue, Arlington, Mass.; his wife, Mrs. Louise Mitchell, 36, and Mary Ann Mitchell, 19 months.

Ralph Mickel, deputy county coroner of Schellsburg, said the three died instantly in the crash. They were thrown from their station wagon into the path of a passing automobile which struck the three of them, he said. The station wagon then hit the rear of a tractor-trailer truck.

Injured in the crash was Philomena Ferrari, the 49-year-old sister of Mrs. Mitchell. Unhurt, although he was taken to the Bedford County Memorial Hospital, was Anthony Mitchell, the five-month old son of the dead couple. Mrs. Ferrari was treated at the hospital for minor injuries and released.

Investigating officers said the accident occurred on turnpike milepost 142 in Napier Township as the Mitchells were traveling west toward Ohio. The station wagon began to weave back and forth across the highway, witnesses told police, before it struck a guard rail throwing the victims into the path of an east-bound car.

Police said they have not determined if Sgt. Mitchell was being transferred to another base or the cause of accident.

Flight Pattern Change Urged At Airport Here

A right hand flight pattern for the approach to the No. 1 runway at the Cumberland Municipal Airport at Wiley Ford has been requested by William Holbrook, chief pilot of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here.

The matter was discussed last night during a meeting of the Airport Commission which was held at the City Hall. The request was referred to Dr. W. Royce Hodges, a member of the commission, who was asked to contact a number of other pilots to learn of their feeling toward the plan.

A letter was received from Warren G. Mullenax, airport manager, who asked that a new building replace one which was damaged by fire sometime ago.

No action was taken on replacing the maintenance building and as yet no bids have been received. City Engineer Charles Nuzum is handling the matter.

The commission has renewed its contract with Allegheny Airlines and the new pact will run from December 4, 1958 to December 3, 1961.

Attending the meeting last night were Arthur Weber, chairman; G. Wyatt Breneman, secretary; Dr. Hodges, Thomas Richards, Donald Shires and Mayor J. Edwin Keech. Absent were Donald Smith and Robert M. Hainsfurther.

Masons Hold Convocation Here

The 55th convocation of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry was held here last night at the Masonic Temple. The reunion featured a dinner and the conferring the 31st and 32nd degrees on classes of candidates. Dr. Edgar Cordell Powers, center, 33rd degree sovereign grand inspector-general of Maryland and grand chaplain of the Supreme Council, Baltimore, attended the reunion and greeted the class. Arthur B. Gibson, left, master of the Consistory, and Dr. William T. Fridinger, knight commander of the Court of Honor, presided at the degree ceremonies.

Youth Conference Opens For Over 200 Here Friday

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, over 200 Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y delegates from YMCA's in Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey will attend the annual YMCA Youth Conference in Cumberland.

It has been over 15 years since the Cumberland YMCA has acted as host association for this outstanding Youth Conference which annually moves to different locations in the three states. During the past years, Bethesda, Dundalk, Wilmington, Chevy Chase, Annapolis and other cities have extended the invitation that brings the high school youths together to discuss youth problems and their solutions.

Most of the plans for the conference are complete. Arrangements have been made to hold the conference at Fort Hill High School. Meals have been arranged; conference discussion leaders have been lined up; transportation is being worked out for the young people; a social program has been arranged and the final meeting on Sunday afternoon has been planned at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

The big drawback now is housing. With only three days left before the delegates arrive, only a few over 100 have been placed in homes in Cumberland and vicinity.

B. U. Smith, general secretary of the local YMCA, who arranged housing for four years at Annapolis when delegations from all YMCA's in Maryland participated, expressed great concern over the number of persons who had not responded to the request to act as hosts for the young people over the three day period.

"Adults will be housed at the "Y" and in nearby hotels," Smith stated, "but if the young people had to pay for hotels in addition to the normal conference fee, we would only have a very small group." In over 600 letters sent out from the YMCA requesting assistance, only 50 have answered in the affirmative, he said.

"Many persons have not yet answered," Mr. Smith continued, "and our only hope of succeeding in this project is to have many of those persons who have not returned cards to do so immediately or to call the "Y". There may be persons who have just returned the cards without much thought with a negative answer who would be able to host two or three delegates if they understood the seriousness of the situation," Mr. Smith said.

In spite of the long distance from Cumberland for most of the delegations, the 200 figure is about average and the full compliment will be on hand for registration on Friday at 4 p.m.

Registrations already have been received as follows:

Wilmington, Del., 47; Central Branch, Washington, D.C., 2; Fairfax County — Falls Church, Va., 3; Anne Arundel County, 26; Druid Hill, Baltimore, 2; Dundalk Branch, Baltimore, 29; North Baltimore, 12; Elkton, 4; Frederick, 23; Hagerstown, 22; North Street Branch, Hagerstown, 4; Millville, N. J., 40; and Allegany County, 10.

Any person able to help in the housing of one or more of the delegates is requested to call the Central YMCA as soon as possible, Mr. Smith said. The phone number is PA 4-5445.

25 Cent Boost In Hunting Fee Proposed

Funds To Be Used To Buy Up Lands

A plan to boost hunting license fees and use the extra money to buy hunting lands was presented to Allegany County legislators last night.

Proposed by the Western Maryland Wildlife Federation, the proposal calls for adding 25 cents to all hunting licenses.

The money, Herbert Knepp, federation president, would be used as a special fund to be added to the Game Commission budget to buy public hunting land only.

He told Senator Charles M. See and the Allegany County Delegation the money could not be earmarked for this area but that the bulk of the hunting land purchases would be in Western Maryland because of the availability of land.

The federation also proposed that one day be added to the present deer season and that the extra day be on the first Saturday before the first full hunting week of December.

The extra day, Mr. Knepp said, would give working people a chance for two weekends of deer hunting.

The Federation, he said, has come out in full support of the present ban on Sunday hunting. There have been efforts, Mr. Knepp said, to allow hunting on Sundays.

The Federation also told the Allegany County Delegation it wishes the Water Pollution Control Commission to be a separate department and not combined with any other state agency.

UHF-TV Group To Launch Fund Drive Thursday

The Peoples Community Television Association (UHF) will hold a meeting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at City Hall to launch its drive to secure funds for equipment.

For the past several weeks officials of the association have been conducting an investigation and consulting attorneys, television engineers and qualified experts in the UHF-TV field about the possibility of introducing the system in the Cumberland area.

The contemplated system would consist of highly technical equipment installed at Dan's Rock. This equipment would receive VHF signals and transform them into UHF signals and then beam UHF-TV signals over a wide area.

Officials of the association report this system has proved successful in other communities and could be compared to a local multi-channel TV station.

It is the aim of the association to have one channel broadcasting in the Cumberland area within 60 days and to provide other channels as soon as sufficient funds are available.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech has been invited by the association to attend the meeting Thursday and present a receipt to the first contributor to the fund drive.

The association is a non-profit organization and if it raises sufficient funds it will provide free TV in the area. Frostburg already has the system in operation.

Conservation Research Lab Urged For Area

County Legislators Will Back Proposal

Allegany County legislators last night approved a proposal to establish a branch of the State Department of Research and Education in Western Maryland.

State Senator Charles M. See pointed out the unit might have to be small in the beginning and suggested backers of the plan "better try to crawl before walking fast."

Crawling will be necessary for the start, it was pointed out, as no funds are budgeted and support would have to be provided in the supplemental budget.

The desirability of establishing the branch facility in this area was stressed by Don A. Emerson, instructor in conservation and natural resources at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Trained scientists are needed, he said, to find the answers to conservation problems in Maryland.

Minke Backs Plan

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, said he was "elated" over the possibility of securing a research laboratory for this area, pointing out the nearest wildlife laboratory facilities are 160 miles away.

The job of the commission, according to its director, Dr. L. Eugene Cronin, is to conduct research on the natural resources of Maryland.

He said the plan is "not my proposal" and that he was not asking for it, but explained a branch unit could make a good contribution.

Dr. Cronin discussed various projects of the department, including studies at Deep Creek Lake and added the department believes it has its finger on the problem that makes fishing poor in the lake.

Among the projects in which the department is interested, Dr. Cronin said, are rough grouse, improvement of winter fishing, the best varieties of trees and the migration of woodcock.

To Be Research Unit

Dr. Cronin agreed it would be a good thing for this end of the state if the branch plan were approached reasonably.

The brand would serve as a work research and conservation education center.

Senator See suggested attempts be made to see if a small building is available to make a start on a small scale.

Barnard Lists $1,150 Expenses

Robert E. Barnard Jr., who served as campaign treasurer for William Walsh, successful Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates, has filed a report with Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, which shows that his contributions and expenditures balanced out at $1,150.30.

Mr. Barnard's list of contributors included 14 names, starting with his own firm of Barnes-Barnard-Geare, which gave $250.30. Seven $100 contributors were listed, including M. D. Reinhart Agency, John J. McMullen, A. H. Wilson, Edward F. Mullan Jr., Hugh A. McMullen, Milton Gerson and Jack McMullen.

There were $50 contributions from W. L. Wilson Jr. and P. J. Arendes and $25 each from John Buchanon, COPE, Rosella K. VanderLught and C. Z. Heskett.

Expenditures were topped by $498.30 to the Tri-State Advertising Company for billboards. Others included $303.50 to the Cumberland Messenger for newspaper advertisements, $126 to WKYR for radio advertisements, $104 to Cumberland Valley Broadcasting Company for radio advertisements, $94.50 to the Times and Alleganian Company for newspaper advertisements and $24 to the Allegany Citizen for newspaper advertisements.

King And Queen Of Smiles To Be Picked In Maryland

A meeting to deal with man's age-old problem of dental disease will be staged by the Council on Dental Health of the State Dental Association at a dinner meeting Thursday at 6:30 p. m. at the Park Plaza Hotel in Baltimore.

Dr. Filbert L. Moore, chairman of the Council, said representatives of all components of the State Association are expected to attend.

Dr. Moore pointed out that tooth decay is still the most widespread disease in this country, affecting perhaps 97 per cent of Americans sometime during their lives.

Several dentists, he added, will work out plans for the 1959 celebration of Children's Dental Health Week, February 8-14.

One of the features, he said, will be selection of the King and Queen of Smiles, in cooperation with the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian associations.

Cooperation of teachers in the city and state, as well as health and education leaders, is being sought in order to make this one of the most outstanding observances, for Dr. Moore said 1959 is the 100th anniversary of the American Dental Association.

Pointing out that more and more research is being done on the causes of tooth decay and other dental diseases, Dr. Moore said the dental profession is eagerly watching research projects which are being conducted in nearly every dental school in the country, as well as in other institutions.

Emphasis is on prevention, however, he said, and that is why—regardless of the research results—dentists are taking such great interest in Children's Dental Health Week.

Dr. Eugene L. Pessagno, Baltimore, is president of the Maryland State Dental Association. Serving with Dr. Moore on the Dental Health Council are Drs. F. J. Bryce, Silver Spring; V. S. Leocha, Annapolis; D. J. Sanders, Baltimore, and L. P. Greenberg, Baltimore.
